NEWSPAPER DIVISION
STATE LIBRARY OF MASSACHUSETTS

Complete News Markets Sports

THE WEATHER
Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; rising temperature.
High tide 1:13 a. m.; 1:48 p. m.
Sun rises 5:21; sets 6:14.
Light all vehicles at 6:44 p. m.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN
A HOME PAPER FOR PEOPLE WHO THINK

VOL. 24—No. 14 New England Newspaper Pub. Co. BOSTON, TUESDAY, APRIL 5, 1927 2 CENTS WITHIN BOSTON 3 CENTS 50 MILES OF ELSEWHERE

THE Peach

SACCO AND VANZETTI LOSE

Police Meet Gang Leaders, Demand Truce

SAW WOMAN PASTOR HUG CABANA

'MOTHER BURNED ME!'

INQUIRY BY CHILDREN'S SOCIETY

Little Roberta Pratt charges that her foster mother, Mrs. Everett S. Pratt of Des Moines, Ia., burned her with a curling iron at a New York hotel. Mrs. Pratt faces legal action. The charge is based on stories told by the child to the children's society. Now comes Mr. and Mrs. David Thompson of Des Moines, who claim the girl is legally theirs, and they have taken steps to get her.

—International Newsreel Photo

SURPRISE WITNESS IN DIVORCE CASE TELLS OF SCENE IN HAMMOCK

By JAMES J. SMITH
(Staff Correspondent of the Boston Evening American)

Portland, Me., April 5.—A surprise witness, who electrified the crowded Superior Court room by declaring she saw Guy Cabana and Anna Gilpatrick Place hugging and kissing in a hammock, wound up today the divorce trial brought by Mrs. Mabel Cabana of South Portland.

Admitting under cross-examination that, although married, she was not living with her husband, Mrs. Anna Carey Bock of Portland declared that she had walked into the office of the Place Riding Academy and had stumbled upon Miss Place, "singing evangelist," in the arms of Mrs. Cabana's husband.

"I saw them hugging and kissing," she repeated several times from the witness stand and then, while the spectators guffawed, asserted that the reputation she had testified to as possessed by Cabana in the view of the riding academy pupils was that of a "bum rider."

Cabana's love sessions with Miss Place, according to the allegations of Mrs. Cabana, constituted cruel treatment and a sufficient ground for divorce.

Judge Chapman took the case under advisement when Joseph E. F. Conoly, counsel for Cabana, sank into his seat after a rapid-fire cross-examination of Mrs. Bock, professional musician and also an attractive brunette.

The appearance of Mrs. Bock on

Please Turn to Page 2, Column 1.

ACCUSES EVANGELIST

Mrs. Cabana, in her divorce suit against Guy Cabana, being heard in Portland, Me., charges Miss Anna Gilpatrick Place, woman evangelist, stole the love of her husband.

NEW TRIAL REFUSED SACCO, VANZETTI

Nicolo Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, Communists whose names are known throughout the world, today lost their last fight in Massachusetts against the electric chair.

The Massachusetts Supreme Court, in a decision handed down this afternoon, denies the men a new trial and the last hope of the condemned men here is gone. They have left only a doubtful appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court on constitutional grounds.

Sacco and Vanzetti were accused of the murder of Frederick A. Parmenter, a South Braintree paymaster, and his guard, Allesandro Berandelli, in 1920.

Immediately following the filing of the decision State troopers were rushed to the courthouse in Pemberton square for guard duty.

The opinion which may send Sacco and Vanzetti to their death was written by Judge William B. Wait and was concurred in by the full bench of the Supreme Court.

The decision upholds Judge Webster Thayer, the trial judge, who was criticized throughout the country by radicals, for his denial of a new trial for the convicted men.

Please Turn to Page 2, Column 6.

VERY LATEST NEWS

SENATE FAVORS EXTENDING "L" CONTROL

The Senate today, after a long debate, went on record as favoring extension of public control of the Boston Elevated road for another 15 years. After the vote was taken, five Senators gave notice that they will offer amendments to th ebill tomorrow directed mainly toward a further slicing of dividends.

HOUSE PASSES 2-CENT "GAS" TAX BILL

The House this afternoon, 125 to 94, passed to be engrossed a bill providing for a 2-cent tax on gasoline.

RACE RESULTS AT BOWIE

1—Titter 18.40, Sleepy Time 16, Outstep 2.80
2—Math 10.50, Nealon Kay 15.30, Giant 3.60
3—Frosty Boy 7.50, Ensile 4.80, Jacques 2.90
4—Dancing Fool 5.90, Grand Bey 2.40, King Carter 3.40

Today

Quite Prosperous, Thanks We Don't NEED a War Chicago's Busy Day Uncouth Bolsheviki

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1927, by Star Company.)

SOME SEEM to be prosperous.

In 1924, seventy-five citizens told Uncle Sam they had incomes of $1,000,000 a year or more. This year 207 announced $1,000,000 or more yearly. Eighty-two per cent. of the people pay no income tax. And fewer than one in a hundred pay ninety-five per cent. of the total tax. They probably feel badly about it, but many that pay no tax would change places.

AMERICANS at Shanghai ask Uncle Sam to join Britain in an effort to coerce China. One hundred and fifteen million Americans would rather pay their fare home to the United States, which would be cheaper, more friendly.

We could not conquer China without killing thousands of non-combatants, including many women and children. This nation would not like that job. If China does not need us we do

Please Turn to Page 13, Column 1.

POLICE WARN 2 GANG CHIEFS WAR MUST STOP

Superintendent of Police Michael H. Crowley today took drastic action to stop the gang warfare in Boston.

Steve Gustin, leader of the "Gustin Gang" of South Boston, and Louis Leonardi, leader of the North End gang, were summoned before the superintendent and told that drastic action would be taken if the warfare between the two gangs is carried any farther.

Cool and collected and admitting nothing, the two leading figures of Boston's underworld heard the police ultimatum in silence.

With Superintendent Crowley at the interview was Captain William Livingston, head of the flying squadron of police who have been engaged in curbing gang activities.

"We'll pour out some medicine

Please Turn to Page 4, Column 3.

BILL TO GIVE JUDGES MORE PAY APPROVED

Salary increases of $3,000 to the judges of the Supreme, Superior and Land Courts were today approved by the House Committee on Ways and Means.

A bill authorizing the annual increases was reported in the House.

The Supreme Court judges now get $13,000 a year, with the exception of the Chief Justice, whose salary is $12,500. The Chief Justice of the Superior Court now receives $10,500. The other justices of the Superior and the Land Courts get $10,000.

It is recommended that the increases take effect September 1.

Representative Renton Whilden of Newton dissented from the report

GUN PLAY AND BOMBINGS AS CHICAGO CASTS VOTE

Chicago, April 5 (A.P.).—A burst of election violence and a flood of ballots today marked Chicago's interest mayoralty contest with prospects for a record vote of upwards of 1,000,000.

Bombing of two Democratic political clubs on the north side early today, long before the polls opened, and the killing of vincent "Schemer" Druced, beer gang leader of the north side late yesterday, apparently reached the peak of turbulence in pre-election hours.

Four hours after the polls had opened a polling place in the Twenty-eighth Ward, a negro district on West Lake street, was fired upon.

Three men speeding past the Thirty-second Precinct voting place in a roadster emptied their revolvers.

Please Turn to Page 4, Column 2.

U. S. Treasury Balance

Washington, April 5.—Today's balances, $421,716,312.

Bank Statement

Boston balance	$33,000,000
Boston clearance	87,000,000
New York balance	123,000,000
New York clearance	1,200,000,000

RICHARD W. SEARS
Announces That He Has Joined the Staff of PATHE NEWS
As Cameraman for New England, with Headquarters at 39 Church Street, Boston.

BULLS SHOOT STOCKS TO NEW HIGH RECORDS

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—A wild outburst of bullish enthusiasm in today's stock market sent nearly three score issues to the highest prices since 1925, or longer, and elevated the general railroad average to the highest level in nearly 20 years.

Easy money rates and favorable trade news provided the background for the advance. U. S. Steel, Erie common and Union Pacific all reached new high ground.

The closing was firm, Squeezing of the short interests in several popular industrials occurred in the last hour. Houston Oil advanced four points before the list began to ease off on profit taking.

Most of the popular shares fell off a point or so from the high figures, but renewed buying of low priced railroads was in progress again in the final dealings. Total sales approximated 2,600,000 shares.

Markets at a Glance
IN NEW YORK

STOCKS—Erie, New Haven and other low-priced rails heavily bought.
BONDS—Domestic rails firm are upside leaders.
FOREIGN EXCHANGES—Sterling steady, franc unchanged, lire up
IN BOSTON
STOCKS—Point or better gains numerous.
BONDS—Demand is good.
COPPER—Red metal quotations are steady.

Dr. True's Elixir
is Mother Nature's own assistant.
Made of finest quality herbs, it is
The True Family Laxative
Successfully used for 76 years

The MINUTE MAN
Cleveland and Chicago
Solid comfort and scenic beauty via the Mohawk Trail by Rail. New 12pc observation-lounge car. Minute Man Dollar Dinner. Lv. North Station 3 P. M. Ar. Chicago 6 P. M. No extra fare.
BOSTON and MAINE RAILROAD

U.S., BRITAIN AND JAPAN STERNLY WARN CHINESE

Washington, April 5 (I.N.S.)—Identic notes are being drafted in Peking today by the American, British and Japanese ministers, sternly protesting the Nanking killings, warning the Cantonese against any repetition, and containing a demand for indemnity.

These notes will be transmitted to the Cantonese at Hankow and Shanghai tomorrow.

There will be no threat of sanctions or reprisals in the notes, according to information obtained here, American opposition to such threats having been sufficiently strong to overcome British insistence upon a drastic stand.

The American government is prepared to evacuate all Americans from North China, as well as from the Yangtse Valley and interior points, it was stated at the White House today following the Cabinet meeting.

The govern ent plans to make a concentration point at Tientsin. This would provide two havens of refuge, Tientsin in the north and Shanghai

Please Turn to Page 4, Column 4.

North
South
East or West

HOMES all over Boston and its suburbs are advertised every day in the rental columns of this newspaper — systematically listed for your quick selection.

American-Advertiser Classified Ads
on the next-to-the-last pages

Watch Tomorrow's AMERICAN
for the Announcement of the winner of the first week's competition in the Boston American
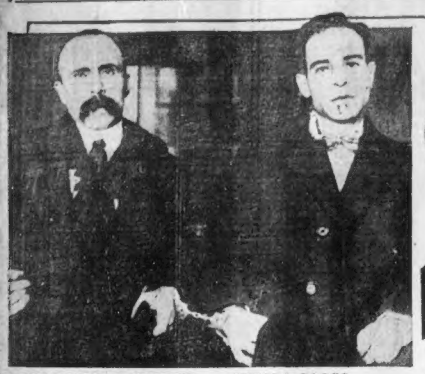
PRIZE REVIEW OF CURRENT ADVERTISING

Supreme Court Decision ~ Blasts Hopes of ~ Sacco and Vanzetti



BARTOLOMEO VANZETTI NICOLA SACCO
Doomed to death chair by Supreme Court denial of new trial on charges of slaying paymaster in South Braintree holdup more than five years ago.

PRESIDES AT TRIAL
Judge Webster Thayer of Superior Court whose denial of new trial is upheld.

MRS. SACCO AND BABY
Wife and child of one of the convicted slayers in famous case that caused world-wide disturbances in protest.

WAS PROSECUTOR
Former Asst. Dist. Atty. Katzman who prosecuted Sacco and Vanzetti in Dedham court.

LOYAL ADVOCATE
Mrs. Glendower Evans who has led fight to save Sacco and Vanzetti from chair.

WITNESS TESTIFIES WOMAN PASTOR KISSED AND HUGGED CABANA IN HAMMOCK

Continued from First Page.

the witness stand was an evident complete surprise to all excepting the plaintiff's side. She was questioned in direct, as follows:

Q—Are you acquainted with Miss Anna Place? A—Yes.

Q—Are you acquainted with Mr. Guy Cabana? A—He rode with Miss Place.

Q—Did you ever see Miss Place and Mr. Cabana in a compromising position? A—Yes, I saw them hugging and kissing.

Q—Where? A—In a small room off the stable of the riding academy.

Q—Was there a hammock there? A—Yes, they were sitting in the hammock hugging and kissing.

Judge Connolly leaped to his feet and aggressively hurled questions at Mrs. Bock.

Q—Are you married? A—Yes.

Q—Live with your husband? A—No.

Q—You are a musician, aren't you? A—Yes.

Q—You kept your horse at the Place Stables? A—Yes, in 1926 and 1927.

Q—Why did you come here today? A—I wanted to testify because I have heard a lot of lies here. I didn't want to testify. I gave my word that I wouldn't.

Q—Whom did you give your word to? A—To my mother.

Q—Did you come here with Mrs. Purinton (wife of the plaintiff attorney)? A—I didn't know she was Mrs. Purinton until I went out to get a drink of water.

Q—Well, you were in the court-room and in the corridors? A—Yes.

PICTURE IN PAPER.

Q—You saw the pictures of the parties involved in the newspapers? A—Yes.

Q—Was it publicity you sought when your pictures were published? A—I didn't, unless I was giving a concert and it would be free advertising.

Q—Do you know Mrs. Cabana? A—I have seen her. I knew she was an object of pity among all the girls at the riding academy.

Q—When was she an object of pity? A—Oh, all the girls knew that her husband and Miss Place were hugging and kissing.

Q—You say you heard a lot of lies here that you came to straighten out—what were they? A—Oh, I don't remember the exact words, but I know they were lies.

Q—Well, this opinion was formed by yourself, wasn't it? A—No, I think anybody following the testimony would think that Miss Place was the injured party. Nobody would think that a preacher would associate with a married man.

IN THE HAMMOCK.

Q—Now, you say you saw Miss Place and Mr. Cabana in a hammock at the riding academy? A—Yes, I saw them hugging and kissing.

Q—What time of day was that? A—Well, I usually rode in the morning.

Miss Place, recalled to the stand, denied that Cabana had ever been at the riding academy in the morning. His morning hours, she testified, were taken up with his work in the railroad offices.

Earlier in the day, Frederick W. Hinckley, former Senator and noted Portland lawyer, testified to a tearful scene in his office when Cabana, weeping, pleaded with his wife for forgiveness.

During the tearful session, Cabana told Atty. Hinckley that he (Cabana) had been warned by agents of "a certain organization" to keep away from the evangelist or he would get into serious trouble.

Atty. Hinckley understood later that the organization referred to was the Ku Klux Klan, he said.

The ex-senator was cross-examined by Judge Joseph E. F. Connolly, counsel for Cabana.

Q—When he cried did he appear sincere? A—Oh yes. I think it was sincere.

Q—Would you say his affection for Miss Place was of a brotherly nature? A—Oh, I think it was more than brotherly.

Q—Did you enter into the phase of improper relations in your discussion with him? A—No, we did not discuss that. I did not think it proper under the condition.

Mrs. Cabana forgave and said she would take Cabana back, witness said.

Cabana, who resumed the stand today for further testimony, admitted the session in the office, but declared that the love he spoke was "Christian love, just ordinary love," and not the love of a sweetheart.

He was cross-examined by Frank H. Purinton, counsel for Mrs Cabana.

Q—Did you admit to Mr. Hinckley that you loved Miss Place? A—No, I admitted I had loved her.

Q—Now, you told Mr. Hinckley you loved Miss Place; was that as a sweetheart? A—No, just ordinary love—Christian love.

A letter written by Cabana to his wife while he was working in Quincy, Mass., was introduced. One passage in it read:

"I have done wrong, but the Lord has seen me suffer. Come down here and let us start all over again."

Mrs. Cabana followed on the stand. She was examined in direct by Atty. Purinton.

Q—What was the purpose of Mr. Cabana's home coming from Massachusetts; what did he talk to you about? A—He wanted me to drop this suit against Miss Place.

Q—What did he say? A—"I wish you would drop this thing, Mabel. Our pictures will be in the paper and all the notoriety would not be pleasant. The roof would be taken from over Miss Place's head."

20 ESCAPE IN "L" CRASH; MOTORMAN SAVED BY LEAP

Twenty passengers narrowly escaped serious injury when a Newton-Brighton-Watertown street car crashed into a heavy truck in Oak square, Brighton, today.

Court Finds No Error Requiring New Trial

The decision handed down by the Supreme Court follows in part:

"There is no error of law or abuse of discretion in the denial of the motion, which, in substance, is a finding that the evidence submitted was not 'weighty and of such nature as to tis credibility, potency and pertinency to the fundamental issues in the case to be worthy of careful consideration,' or 'so grave material and relevance as to afford a probability that it would be a real factor with the jury in reaching a decision' and that a new trial is not necessary to prevent a failure of justice."

Judge Wait also in the decision held that "The Judge, in acting upon the motion for a new trial, has the right to rely upon his own knowledge of what took place at the trial before it. No agreement of counsel upon the truth of occurrences at the trial is binding upon him, if not in accord with his knowledge.

"His conscientious exercise of his duty cannot be restrained by agreements of counsel not assented to by him. A refusal to be so bound is not of itself abuse of discretion nor proof of prejudice. His signature to a bill of exceptions in which the agreement is set out in order that a full and true account of what has taken place may be presented for a review, is not an assent.

"The contention that there was error or abuse of discretion in the case by the judge of his own knowledge of the case in addition to the evidence and agreements placed before him by counsel, cannot be sustained."

In connection with the "confession" of Celestino Madeiros, the opinion says:

"The confession of Madeiros by itself would not be admissible upon a trial of the defendants."

"The Judge who presided at the trial," read the decision, "has determined that no reliance can be placed upon the alleged confession. That its truth is not substantiated by with affidavits; that the allegations of conspiracy to convict, of improper suppression of evidence and of improper use of unreliable witnesses, are not made out."

JUDGE THAYER'S HOME GUARDED

Worcester, April 5—Judge Webster Thayer's home at No. 180 Institute road was under heavy police guard today as a result of the adverse Sacco-Vanzetti decision.

First news of the decision spelling death for Sacco and Vanzetti was received by Judge Thayer, the Superior Court justice who presided at the trial, from a Boston Evening American reporter.

"I am sorry, but I have no statement to make on any of my judicial cases," the judge said, but he appeared gratified that the Supreme Court had upheld his rulings in the long-drawn-out case.

When the Worcester police were appraised of the decision, several agned policemen were rushed to guard Judge Thayer's home and it was arranged that there should be a guard of three men 24 hours a day.

SACCO AND VANZETTI LOSE LONG FIGHT; LAST HOPE IS U. S. SUPREME COURT

Continued from First Page.

Sacco is confined in the Norfolk county jail at Dedham while Vanzetti is a prisoner at the Charlestown jail, where he is serving a sentence of from 12 to 15 years on another charge of robbery.

News of the Supreme court decision was broken to the two men a few minutes after the decision was released. The seven year fight the men have waged for their lives, have so dulled them to the menace of the chair, however, that they received the news stoically.

Court officials at the chambers of the Supreme Court on the second floor of the Pemberton square courthouse were told, a few minutes in advance, that the opinion was to be made public.

Immediately all the available officers were marshalled about the chambers, while a telephone call to the State House brought a squad of State troopers. These officers were ordered to carefully guard the Justices of the Supreme Court, not only in the court house itself, but as they made their way to their homes.

RADICALS ARE ROUSED.

Radicals throughout the entire world, times without number, have threatened dire reprisals if Sacco and Vanzetti were sent to the chair. The case of the two men has become a fetish in radical ranks and the two slayers are held up as martyrs in the cause of Communism.

Radicals everywhere claim that the men were convicted, not because they shot down the South Braintree paymaster and his guard, but because they openly espoused the doctrines of Lenine and Trotsky.

The confession of Celestino Madeiros, New Bedford slayer, who is awaiting execution for the murder of a Wrentham bank cashier, was dismissed with a single sentence, in Judge Wait's decision.

Madeiros, while awaiting sentence of death for the Wrentham crime, made a confession in which he declared that he and a group of associates were guilty of the South Braintree murders and that Sacco and Vanzetti were innocent. The decision handed down today holds that this confession could not be admitted as evidence in any trial of Sacco and Vanzetti.

NOW FACE SENTENCE.

While today's decision places Sacco and Vanzetti within the shadow of the chair, the men have never been actually sentenced to death. Exceptions and appeals, filed by their attorneys, served in the past seven years to prevent the actual pronouncement of sentence.

Now the men will be taken into Norfolk Superior Court, where Judge Thayer will pronounce sentence, after which the date of execution will be set by Governor Fuller.

While today's decision apparently marks the end of the road for the two slayers, the men and women of wealth who have stood back of them in their fight for life are expected to continue the battle if legal loopholes can be found.

Mrs. Glendower Evans, wealthy Boston philanthropist who has spent a small fortune in defense of the men, declared, when told of the decision, that the fight would go on to save the men.

WILL CARRY ON FIGHT.

She declared that money would be made available for the finest legal talent and that no stone would be left unturned, even though the case of the slayers appeared hopeless.

Others who have been interested in the men and have furnished funds for their legal fight of the past seven years, expressed the same sentiment as Mrs. Evans.

PAYMASTER SLAIN IN 1920.

The murder for which Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were convicted occurred on April 15, 1920, when Paymaster Frederick A. Parmenter of the Slater & Morrill Shoe Company and his guard, Alessandro Berardelli, were killed during a $15,000 payroll robbery at the factory in South Braintree.

Within a month five suspects were arrested, but all except Sacco and Vanzetti were released. Witnesses identified Sacco as the man who did the shooting. Others testified that Vanzetti was seen in the automobile which whisked the holdup men from the scene.

There was much contradictory evidence at the trial in Superior Court at Dedham nearly fifteen months after the shooting. Eyewitnesses testified for the defence as well as for the government. The defence asserted that any consciousness of guilt shown by the defendants when arrested was due to the fact they were radicals and were afraid of being deported.

REDS BECOME VIOLENT.

The period between the murder and the conviction was one in which Federal agents were busy hunting supposed "Reds" plotting against the United States government, and U. S. Department of Justice sleuths took part in investigating the careers of Sacco and Vanzetti.

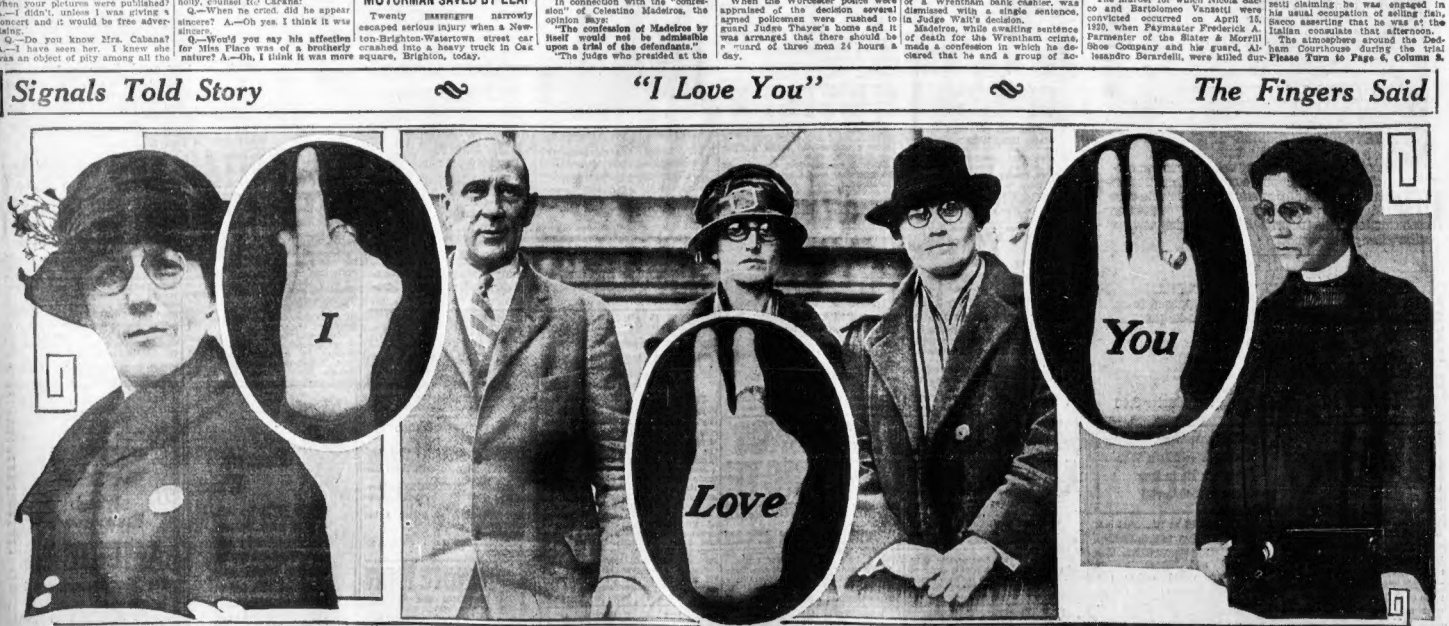
It was because of this feature of the case that radical labor organizations here and abroad eventually took an excitable interest, even bombing American consulates abroad and the American ambassador's house in Paris to try to enforce their demands for the release of the two men.

At the trial both defendants admitted being radicals and admitted fleeing to Mexico with others in 1917 to avoid military duty. They offered alibis to prove they were not at the scene of the crime, Vanzetti claiming he was engaged in his usual occupation of selling fish, Sacco asserting that he was at the Italian consulate that afternoon.

The atmosphere around the Dedham Courthouse during the trial

Please Turn to Page 6, Column 3.

Signals Told Story ~ "I Love You" ~ The Fingers Said



NAMED AS "OTHER WOMAN"
Miss Anna Gilpatrick Place, South Portland "singing evangelist," denies improper relations with Guy Cabana, who is being sued by his wife, Mabel Cabana. Alimony and custody of the children are asked by Mrs. Cabana.

FRANK H. PURINTON
Counsel for Mrs. Cabana submitted the "singing evangelist" to a searching cross examination anent her relations with Cabana.

MRS. MABEL CABANA
South Portland wife and mother charges that the "singing evangelist" stole the love of her husband, Guy E. Cabana.

MRS. LEONORA GASPAR
Friend of Mrs. Cabana with whom the "singing evangelist" testified she had had trouble while pastor at Milo, Me.

IN PULPIT ATTIRE
Miss Anna Gilpatrick Place, "singing evangelist," admitted on the stand to having used the 1-2-3 love code while preaching. Use of the code was denied by Guy Cabana, her codefendant in wife suit.

'LOVE SLAYERS' FACE 'QUICK JUSTICE' IN SNYDER CASE

"CARUSO, JR.," IS A PUZZLE TO POLICE 9 HOURS

KIN TO SEEK 2 MILLIONS ARTIST LEFT TO HER MAID

WHO CAN'T MAKE COFFEE?

Here's Winifred Stoner Hyman of New York, twice-wed 'child wonder,' proving she can make coffee enough for any man. Her "ma" said she couldn't, and thereby lost good husbands. "It's to laugh," says Winifred. "I can brew real coffee and I do."

International Newsreel Photo

FIGHT AGAINST DEATH CHAIR OPENS APRIL 18

New York, April 5 (I.N.S.).—"Speedy justice" is the watchword of District Attorney Richard S. Newcombe of Queens county, who on April 18 will launch the State's fight to send Mrs. Ruth Snyder to the electric chair for murder.

The case had been set to start next Monday, but was postponed today because of objections raised against opening the trial during Holy Week.

Newcombe is the prosecutor who convicted Paul Hilton, the "radio burglar" and murderer, and had him in the death house at Sing Sing within twenty days after his indictment.

He also convicted New York City's famous "cake-eater bandits" and slayers now serving life sentences. He is credited with having swept gunmen and gangsters from Queens county and has a brilliant record of lesser achievements as a prosecutor.

BACKS SPEEDY JUSTICE.

They call him "Quick Justice" Newcombe.

But will he be able to "give Mrs. Snyder the chair?"

The law of averages is against the rugged, gray-haired district attorney on this question and in favor of the tall blonde housewife who, with her suitor, Henry Judd Gray, stands accused of the murder of her husband, Albert Snyder.

Of the scores of women tried for murder in New York State only three of them have been executed. They were:

Mrs. Rosalanna Druse, hanged in 1834, for the murder of her husband.

Mrs. Martha Place, the first woman electrocuted, for the death of her stepdaughter in 1898.

Mrs. James D. Farmer, executed in 1910. She was accused with her

Please Turn to Page 4, Column 1.

For nine hours Joseph Barnett, 3, of School street, Dorchester, was missing, and his parents hunted frantically for him. Most of the time he was perched on a desk in Police Station 19 warbling the words you may read coming out of his mouth. But he wouldn't tell his name and police were baffled for they couldn't show him. But he's home now and not singing.

Boston Evening American Staff Photo

3 COUSINS TO BATTLE FOR ESTATE

"And to a good and faithful servant—$2,000,000.

That's the way the will of Elizabeth Wentworth Roberts, wealthiest woman in the historic town of Concord, might have read.

It didn't read exactly like that, but the result was the same, for Miss Grace B. Keyes, also of Concord, for 25 years the devoted maid and companion to the wealthy woman who committed suicide three weeks ago, receives the income of the vast Roberts estate, estimated at $2,000,000.

Three cousins, the only relatives of the testator, receive nothing by the terms of the will.

It is reported that some of these relatives will contest the will on the ground that the Roberts woman's suicide is sufficient ground to prove her of unsound mind.

Miss Keyes is the only person in the world who knows the reason for her employer's suicide, and the breast that kept all the Roberts secrets locked within itself for more than a quarter of a century will never open to disclose the mystery of the woman's death.

Miss Keyes, herself a member of a widely known family, was far more than a servant to Miss Roberts. The woman who had made a mums for herself as an artist took the Keyes woman into her employ when the latter was a young girl.

GET THRILL IN CHINA WAR

GLAD THEY'RE OUT SAFELY

Misses Anita Haim and Iris Cartwright, who got a taste of war in China that they did not like, and who had to circle the globe to get to Boston.

Boston Evening American Staff Photo

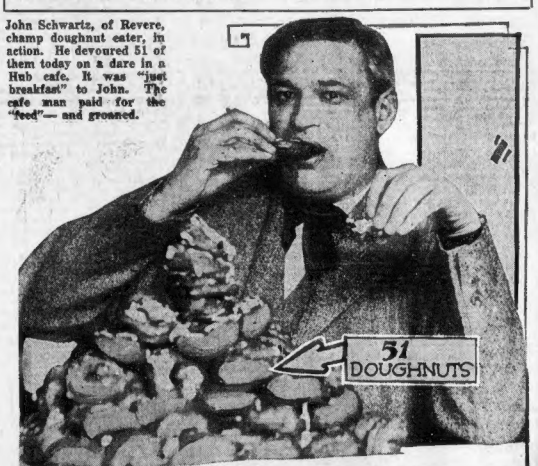
BOSTON AMERICAN

GENERAL NEWS SECTION

BOSTON, TUESDAY, APRIL 5, 1927

EATS 51 'SINKERS'! NOW FIND HOLES!

John Schwartz, of Revere, champ doughnut eater, in action. He devoured 51 of them today on a dare in a Hub cafe. It was "just breakfast" to John. The cafe man paid for the "feed"— and groaned.



JOHN LIKES HIS DOUGHNUTS; HE EATS JUST 51!

It is very pertinent news that John Schwartz of Florence avenue, Revere, didn't have doughnuts for lunch today.

He had them for breakfast, eating 51 in an Adams square lunchroom after the manager had challenged him to eat fifty.

The prize was that John didn't have to pay for the toothsome ring if he could down the half hundred without using a pile driver.

John, who is a jewelry worker, has always liked doughnuts—up to this morning, at least—and his business-like way of disposing of large piles drew the awe and respect of the lunch room patrons, and eventually the challenge.

Naturally and normally dry and standing in his pink-white skin, John bends the scales at 216 pounds, although he may be a bit heavier at this writing, considering the doughy cargo he is carrying.

Technically John, in the doughnut-eating line, is a true "dunker."

If you don't know what a "dunker" is—now it is a doughnut eater who before conveying the doughnut to the facial orifice dips or plunges the doughnut into his coffee, thus treating and making soft the subject to be absorbed.

"Dunking," however, is not to be confused with the more plebeian soaking as affected by persons who have had their back teeth out and feel 100 per cent. better—or in some cases, 1,000 per cent.—for it.

John used three cups of coffee for "dunking" and irrigating purposes.

Polar Bear for Zoo

John F. Benson, agent for the Hagenbeck Brothers Interstate Farm at Hudson, N. H., has been authorized to furnish to the Franklin Park Zoo one pair of female polar bears at a cost of $1,300.

Give 'em Chance

IT'S ONLY FAIR

Sir Thomas Lipton, famous yachtsman, arriving on Leviathan, says girls have to wear short skirts to show most of their 30 shillings stockings. (I.N.R.)

SOCIETY GIRLS GET TASTE OF WAR

Three Detroit society girls, who were caught in the midst of the civil war turmoil and horror in China, debarked in Boston today from the Dollar Line steamship President Monroe, glad to be home safely after their harrowing experiences in the Orient.

The girls, Ruth Kuhlman, Anita Haim and Iris Cartwright, were in Mukden when they were caught in the whirlpool of the revolution. For days they were forced to travel in a troop train with soldiers of the Northern army until they finally reached Pekin. The journey from Pekin to Shanghai was made in small river steamers, but the girls reached the foreign settlement in Shanghai unharmed except for the memories of their narrow escape.

"We were at Mukden," said Miss Kuhlman, "when we noticed things were developing in such a way that we deemed it wise to see the sights in any country but China.

TOO MUCH THRILL.

"Our first obstacle was met when we tried to get a train for Pekin. One train was available, filled with Chinese soldiers, and we chose it, rather than stay in Mukden.

"The trip was simply awful, though it was an experience we look back upon with a thrill, now that it is all over.

"Our dining room, immediately at the finish of the meal, was converted into a sleeping room for the dishevelled and wicked looking soldiers. They sprawled on tables, on the floor, or any vantage point, while we endured the thought of the next meal in that awful room.

"The trip lasted three days, and, while we suffered no indignities at the hands of the Chinese, the element of fear—and disgust—ever was with us.

"At Pekin we were confronted

Please Turn to Page 4, Column 1.

Ruth Kuhlman, Detroit society girl, who, with two other Detroit girls, arrived in Boston today on the Dollar Liner, President Munroe, after harrowing experiences in the Chinese war zone.

Bathhouse Damaged

Vandals secured entrance into the Somerville bathhouse on the Mystic River, off Mystic avenue, and did damage estimated at $600, it was discovered today.

ADMITS ARSON PLOT WITH 4

Lawrence, April 5.—Turning State's evidence in an effort to escape sentence, Rosario Limanni of Methuen today, in district court, bared the workings of an arson ring that destroyed his 20-room boarding house at Salisbury Beach on March 31.

Limanni and four men accused with him of conspiracy to burn with intent to defraud an insurance company were held under $1,500 bail each for the grand jury. The other defendants are Tony Lorenzo, Joseph Conti, Agatino Bruno and Anthony Terranova, all of Lawrence.

Limanni declared on the stand he agreed to pay $250 to have his property burned. He paid $20 of this, he said, but when the men, after returning the interior of the building with oil, demanded the remainder of the $250, Limanni went to the building and set fire to it himself, he said.

Limanni said he was in straightened financial circumstances and told of his condition to Terranova. The latter he said, told him he knew a man who would burn the Salisbury Beach property for $350. Limanni said he agreed to the arson plot and Bruno and Conti were introduced to him.

He was seen leaving the burning building and arrested.

Paving Harrison Avenue

Repaving of Harrison avenue from Lenox street to Dudley street started today.

What you dislike in another take care to correct in yourself.—Sprat.

Rank and riches are chains of gold, but still chains.—Buffini.

The Red Signal — On the Yacht — By Homer Banks

A QUESTIONABLE VENTURE—Rosalind left Helen's with inward trepidation. Manton's command to "pack her bag for a trip" frightened her. She stilled her misgivings with the thought that, as his confidential stenographer, he wanted her to transact business out of town. The idea sent a happy glow of color to her cheeks. Manton met her at the door clad in his dressing gown. He gave her a curious smile as he took her hand.

MANTON'S PROPOSAL—"You look stunning today, my dear," he said, leading her into his library. He hung over her benevolently. "I asked you here because I have some important correspondence to clean up. My yacht is waiting and we'll steam up to Newport where we can work undisturbed." Rosalind arose, thoroughly frightened. "Why, I can't do that, Mr. Manton, I—" He stopped her with a gesture. "There's nothing wrong in it. It's being done every day."

ROSALIND CONSENTS RELUCTANTLY—Rosalind covered her face with her hands. "You don't understand!" she cried. "I can't—why, I have never done anything like that before." "Everything will be quite proper," the millionaire replied. "My housekeeper is aboard. Two days on the water will bring the sparkle back to your eyes. Surely you can trust me," he added with a smile. Her mind torn with doubt, Rosalind allowed Manton to lead her to his car.

A NIGHT ON THE YACHT—Once aboard the Vesper Rosalind's fears were forgotten under the pressure of business. In the evening, while sitting on deck, Manton leaned closer. "You haven't forgotten my marriage offer, have you, dear?" he asked softly. Rosalind's heart fluttered as she thought of Roger. Manton continued. "Can't you give me your answer—tonight?" His hand slid nearer to hers. Rosalind shivered. "Dont, please," she pleaded.

Copyright, 1927, King Features Synd., Inc.

WILL ASK LIPTON TO VISIT HUB

Sir Thomas Lipton, grand old man of yacht sail tea fame, may come to Boston for a visit within the next few days.

Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, a bosom crony of Sir Thomas, is going to New York to extend a personal invitation to the noted Englishman, and the ex-mayor is prepared to even go to the extent of singing "Sweet Adeline" in pressing his invitation.

Last year when Sir Thomas made a flying visit to this country he was unable to accept Mr. Fitzgerald's invitation to the Hub, but at that time he announced that he would be glad to come here when time permitted.

Sir Thomas, hale and hearty, arrived in New York a day or two ago. He announced that, while he was on a vacation, yet he was devoting much of his time to conjuring up ways and means of winning the the America yacht cup in 1929.

"When a girl pays thirty shillings for a pair of silk stockings it is only natural that she should want to show 29 shillings and six-pence worth," beamed Lipton as ship news reporters tackled the knight of the tea business in New York.

The yachtsman was true to form and was all primed with his famous jokes when newspaper men cornered him.

Teacher to Become Bride

Miss Agnes Josephine Gorman, school teacher, will become the bride of Peter Nicholas Petrocelli, former assistant corporation counsel of Boston, at a nuptial high mass in St. Joseph's Church, Belmont, April 20.

DEMAND 'QUICK JUSTICE' FOR 'LOVE SLAYERS'

Continued from Page 3.

husband of killing a woman for her money.

But Newcombe believes he has a conclusive case against Mrs. Snyder, as well as Gray.

Mrs. Snyder is at work in her cell embroidering a pillow which she intends to send to her nine-year-old daughter, Lorraine, for Easter.

Justice Scudder, who will preside at the trial, today declared that "proper decorum" would be maintained during the case and that there would be "no hippodroming."

No photographers will be allowed in the courtroom, he promised, and the gentlemen of the lenses and tripods will not even be permitted to loiter on the same floor as the court chamber.

There will be no crowding in the courtroom and standees will be taboo.

WAR SCARE FOR SOCIETY GIRLS

Continued from Page 9.

with orders that no trains for Shanghai would be run for us. After being there for several days, we learned that a small boat could be obtained for a trip down the Hsiang Ho river to Hsiko. From there we boarded a steamship through the Straits of Pechili and the Yellow Sea to Shanghai, glad to see the last of China and their horrid war."

At Shanghai the travelers boarded the President Hayes for Manila, making a land trip there until the arrival of the President Polk to take them to the Suez Canal.

Following another land trip, and a tour of the River Nile, they caught the next Dollar boat, President Adams, at Alexandria, for the trip to Naples for a tour of Italy. Returning to Naples and the steamship President Monroe, the travelers embarked for home.

They left for their homes by train from the South Station.

Pays $125 Fine

Leominster, April 5.—William B. Holmes of East Boston was fined $125 in District Court on a charge of driving an automobile not insured nor registered.

BOMBS HURLED IN CHICAGO ELECTION

Continued from First Page.

shattering windows but injuring no one.

An election worker ran out and fired at the fleeing car and reported he believed he had wounded one of the occupants.

POLICE CURB VIOLENCE

Druecl was killed by a detective after he had been taken into custody. He quarreled with Detective Daniel Healy, who shot and killed him enroute to the Criminal Courts building. Drucol was armed when apprehended.

When hours passed after the opening of the polls with little of the expected violent outbursts anticipated as a result of the bitter campaign, in which racial and religious issues were used in addition to patriotic appeals, flag-waving and uproarious campaign noise-making, the police did not relax their watchfulness.

Officials declared the killing of Drucel had had a wholesome effect on hoodlums.

Joseph Bauer was wounded mysteriously on the North Side early today, but he refused to disclose whether he was a victim of election trouble.

Complaints of zealous election workers, usual in the election in several river wards where competition for votes is always bitter, were received by the election commissioners, but at noon they reported no serious interference.

RACE ISSUE WAS RAISED.

Aujutant-General Carlos Black of the Illinois National Guard remained in the city, although yesterday it was decided not to call out local units of the guard as Sheriff Charles Grayson had asked several days ago.

A report of the kidnaping of an election judge in the twenty-fourth ward on the West Side proved false.

In the negro wards on the South Side, the forty-second ward, just north of the river, with its contrast of gold coast mansions and river frontage rooming houses and saloons, in the twentieth ward, a West Side river ward, long the scene of election day turbulence, huge lines of voters were in evidence, but police reported they were orderly.

TWO PLACES ARE BOMBED.

In the bombing of the two Democratic headquarters the fronts of the buildings were blown out, but no one was injured. The bombers escaped.

The first building bombed was the headquarters of State Representative Lawrence O'Brien, active in Democratic politics in the 42nd ward.

O'Brien said he had received threats that he would be "knocked off" after he had had William Dumma, 30, arrested for pointing a revolver at him.

The second bombing was in the fortysecond ward also.

Marked by these outbreaks the city's most extraordinary mayoralty campaign — whose issues blurred the municipal boundaries and roared to foreign fields—today entered the voting stage, with 5,000 policemen, special machine gun squads and armed plain clothes men on guard at the polls.

One candidate was Mayor William E. Dever, Democrat, who came to Chicago from Massachusetts 40 years ago and rose from tannery worker to alderman, Superior Court judge and finally chief executive. His plea for re-election was based entirely on his municipal record.

Another candidate was William Hale Thompson, another Bay State native, once a cowboy, Mayor of Chicago from 1915 to 1923, and titular head of the Republican party in Chicago.

His slogan was "America First." He inveighed against the League of Nations, the draft, the prohibition law and told King George to "keep his snoot" out of Chicago's affairs.

Hero in China

International Newsreel Photo

HENRY O. WARREN

U. S. bluejacket heralded as American naval hero for directing fire from Socony Hill in recent U. S. warship shelling that saved many refugees in Nanking, China.

POLICE THREAT OF WAR GIVEN

Continued from First Page.

your gangs won't be able to swallow," Captain Livingston told each of the gang leaders.

"If your two mobs want to fight, we'll put more police on your trail than you can handle and lead will fly aplenty."

Guetin, whose real name is said to be Wallace, was arrested last night in front of the Arena, when he appeared to attend a prizefight in company with a prominent South Boston politician. He was arrested on the charge of being a suspicious person, but today he was released, following the ultimatum given him by Superintendent Crowley and Captain Livingston.

Warfare between the gangs is said to have had its inception in a Back Bay night club some weeks ago.

There was trouble between members of the gangs and then started a series of mysterious assaults, with gangsters as the victims. One man was found in front of the Arena, his skull split open.

Another was found with a broken jaw and his ear drum shattered, lying in Lansdowne street in the Back Bay.

Still another victim was found on the pavement in front of a Back Bay Club.

Then, according to police, the Gustin gang invaded the North End, and in a wild demonstration, fired more than seventy revolver shots. No one was injured but police regarded the affair as a gesture made by the South Boston gangsters to intimidate the North End men.

GETS SIX MONTHS FOR SHOOTING AT REVERE MAN

Convicted of assault with intent to kill, Ralph De Angelis of Randolph, was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction by Judge Foadick in Superior Court today. De Angelis was found guilty of firing two shots at Ernest Rizzo, a Revere restaurant keeper, in the Fall of 1925. Rizzo was later convicted and sentenced for attempting to bribe a police officer not to prosecute De Angelis.

They're Ambitious

Los Angeles, April 5.—Volunteer firemen at the Southgate Station are paid on the basis of the number of runs made. Four of them are under arrest charged with arson.

U. S., JAPS AND BRITAIN WARN CHINESE

Continued from First Page.

to the south, and would make it comparatively simple to protect American lives with the armed forces ready sent or now on the way to China.

The situation was viewed as alarming today when additional reports were received from Admiral Williams, commander of U. S. warships in Asiatic waters.

Evacuation of Changsha, in Western Honan Province, is being hastened because of labor and anti-foreign agitation, Admiral Williams reported, and the American consulate there will close Thursday, ten days earlier than previously planned.

The attack on Japanese sailors, at Hankow, resulting in the killing of three of them, shows indications of having been "deliberately planned and pre-arranged," Williams reported.

The steamer Whangpoo arrived at Shanghai with eleven Americans and other foreigners from Hankow, twenty-eight Jesuits from Wuhu, eight Jesuits from Anking and thirty priests from Hankow, as well as 331 Chinese refugees.

United States Consul Adams at Chunking reports that all Americans have left there.

All Americans at Ichang have taken refuge upon the United States ship Elcano.

The American mission at Chu show, province of Anhwei, has been occupied by Nationalist soldiers.

North China Army Halts Drive by the Cantonese

Shanghai, April 5 (A.P.).—The northward drive of the nationalists (Cantonese) along the railway to Tientsin and Peking is meeting strong resistance.

Northern forces captured Kwanten, 60 miles northwest of Nanking, Sunday, after heavy fighting, and 700 nationalist wounded have arrived at the latter city. The nationalists are rushing reinforcements to that sector.

Veteran Missionaries Refuse to Quit China

Shanghai, China, April 5 (A.P.).—The American and British evacuation of Szechwan province, in the upper Yangtze valley, is complete except for a handful of veteran missionaries at Chengtu and Yachowfu, who refuse to come out.

The American gunboat Monocacy, bearing the United States consul and vice consul from Chungking, and convoying the steamer Chinaa, has left down river for Ichang, the consul having learned that the remaining missionaries refuse to leave.

The American and British exodus from the north also continues steadily. One hundred and seventy-one Americans have left the Tsinanfu district in Shantung, and the majority of British firms are moving to Tsingtao on the coast.

All foreigners except Japanese have evacuated Taiyuanfu, the capital of Shansi. Scores of Americans have left Peking, the majority going to Dairen, in Japanese territory, across the Gulf of Pechihli.

The French, hitherto rather averse to withdrawal, now have ordered their nationals to evacuate Szechwan and other southern provinces.

Britain Orders 2 Batteries of Artillery to China

London, April 5 (I.N.S.).—The 52nd and 98th batteries of the Royal Field Artillery, stationed at Aldershot, were today ordered to China and will move as soon as transport facilities are available. A field ambulance section and a general hospital, including nurses, has also been placed under orders to proceed to Shanghai.

Mile after mile of new scenery anywhere, any place in a good used car. Choose yours from the Classified Ads today. Classification 150.

Her mother questions lollypops

"Bubbling over with energy, perfectly developed, this little one has been practically brought up on Bond Bread," writes her mother, Mrs. R. E. Greene of East Dedham. She says, "It's well baked and easily digested. And isn't good old-fashioned homey Bond Bread better than lollypops?"

Just 8 years ago, 6403 Boston housewives brought samples of their home-baked bread to Tremont Temple to show us the kind of bread they wanted for themselves and their children. Being frankly copied from the best of these 6403 loaves, Bond Bread quickly became Boston's most popular bread.

Why is it that after 8 years of unparalleled popularity, Bond Bread now enjoys an even greater demand than ever before in its history?

Because day after day for 8 long years, Bond Bread has been uniformly home-like. Its splendid flavor comes from its pure ingredients—ingredients every bit as pure and choice as you yourself would use. Its healthfulness comes largely from its thorough baking. This thorough baking is what makes it so firm and close-textured, as well as so flavorful.

Every day more and more housewives realize it pays to discriminate in bread. They have tried them all and have convinced themselves that a home-like, healthful bread, like Bond, is the greatest bargain a woman can buy.

Your Neighborhood Grocer Can Supply You Daily

Bond Bread

The HOME-LIKE Loaf

$5,000,000 ADVERTISING BY BRITAIN ANNUALLY

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—The American government should advertise its products in foreign markets, in the opinion of Sir Charles Higham, advertising expert, who arrived in this country to place more than $250,000 worth of advertising for American newspapers for the India Tea Association.

"The British government," he said, "is the world's largest advertiser. It has a $5,000,000 appropriation annually. It is the only government in the world that holds a trade exposition, the British Industries Fair. It also spends $125,000 a year to get buyers from every country to visit the fair.

MELLON PAYS RESPECTS TO PRESIDENT OF FRANCE

Paris, April 5 (A.P.)—Andrew W. Mellon, American Secretary of the Treasury, made an unofficial call at the Elysee Palace today to present his respects to President Doumergue. The Cabinet was in session and he left without being received by the President.

Coolidge Thinks Well of Cleveland; Not Yet Appreciated

Washington, April 5 (A.P.).—President Coolidge thinks highly of Grover Cleveland, whose he does not believe is yet fully "appreciated."

This came out at the White House today with a denial of the latest crop of resignation rumors which involved Secretary Kellogg, W. M. Butler of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee, and others and their probable successors.

A cartoonist's conception of the White House in 1932 as an "intelligence office" or employment bureau was cited as still appropriate. The cartoon was printed in Harper's Weekly and depicted President Cleveland faced by a delegation of office-seekers bearing a shield with the inscription, "E Pluribus Unum." Underneath was added, "Or, Many for One Place."

Mr. Coolidge thought Cleveland could well with the situation of his day.

Watch our Basement Store for Unusual Values

Jordan Marsh Company
Great Basement Store
The Famous Store Within a Store For the Sale of the Less Expensive Merchandise

Telephone Number — Hancock 9000

Helping You to Choose Your Easter Clothes

with thought of style and economy

Women's Fur-Trimmed Easter Coats 29.50

Lorsheen and Poiretsheen Fabrics

Crepe de chine lined coats, with gray or beige squirrel collars. Several smart models, in button, braid or self tucked trimmings. Sizes 36 to 46.

Women's NEW Easter Dresses 16.50

Georgette Crepes, Flat Crepes, Prints

Georgette over prints; embroidered and self trimmed flat crepes; georgette with laces. Tucked, tiered, bolero and pleated styles. Plenty of navy and black. Sizes 36 to 46.

Women's Easter Hats of Crocheted Visca

$4.95

These stylish hats are as light as a feather, soft, crushable, and can be packed in the smallest space. They're ideal for traveling. Big variety of chic, new styles.

Some of these hats are trimmed with gros-grain ribbon, while others are effectively trimmed with flowers. Wonderful variety of new colors for Spring. Styles for matrons and younger women.

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT

Rugs, lamps, towels, linens and a host of others for the home, all underpriced in our home furnishings section and sold under our famous automatic plan. If we fail to make the first price low enough we lose through automatic reductions 25% after 12 selling days; 50% after 18 selling days; 75% after 24 selling days; goods unsold after 30 selling days given away to charitable institutions.

In time for Spring home cleaning—— WEDNESDAY at 9 A. M:

odd lots curtains

Marquisette curtains, $1.39 pr.

fine quality marquisette curtains

ruffle or flat style 2¼ yards long $1.39 pr.

Made of finely combed yarn. Many hemstitched borders—in white or cream color. Checks, dots or novelty patterns. Some VOILE curtains in lot.

4-pc. cottage set, $1

4-pc. cottage curtain sets

plain or splash voile—tie backs to match, With dotted or colored ruffles—blue, rose, gold or white ruffles in lot. $1

From one of the largest makers in Ireland (Sadly) damaged Irish linen tablecloths

72x72 in. size $2.35 to $4.50
72x90 in. size $2.25 to $5.35

Hundreds of other bargain lots not advertised—no mail orders

2 DEATHS LAID TO MOTORMAN

Two warrants charging manslaughter were issued today in South Boston against Thomas Donahue of Walden street, Cambridge, motorman of the Cambridge tunnel train that killed two men Saturday at the Broadway station.

The case was continued until April 23 after four witnesses declared the view between the train and the spot where the men were killed was open for about 100 feet.

CONFESSES HE FIRED BARN TO "GET EVEN WITH DAD"

Chicopee, April 5 (A.P.).—Frank Cesarsa, arrested today, told police and firemen he set fire to the barn on his father's estate in revenge because his father failed to leave him anything in his will.

The barn and outbuildings burned were valued at $4,500. Cesarsa will be arraigned tomorrow charged with attempt to defraud an insurance company.

RADIO WAVES TO STAY 'AS IS'

Washington, April 5 (A.P.).—Radio wave length bands now used for broadcasting will be confined to their present limits, the Federal Radio Commission decided today.

A general order was issued to deal with the problem, one of the first investigated since the formation of the commission. Proposals had been made to reduce radio congestion by increasing the number of bands on which broadcasting is now allowed.

WALES' VISIT TO SPAIN RENEWS RUMOR OF MATCH

Madrid, April 5 (A.P.).—The Prince of Wales will visit Spain this month, it was announced here today. Traveling incognito, he is due to arrive here April 22 and remain about eight days.

Unconfirmed reports of an early visit of the Prince to Spain have been current for some time. They have given rise to discussions of a match between the Prince and Infanta Beatrice of Spain.

Distributed by
DOLE BROS. HOPS & MALT CO., Inc.
15-16 Commercial Wharf Phone Richmond 0063 Boston, Mass.

INQUIRY STARTS IN CHELSEA FIRE

HOW BLAZE WRECKED BEDROOM
Fire causing $10,000 damage, and which menaced the thickly settled dwelling district about Franklin avenue, Chelsea, was of mysterious origin. Above is one of the rooms at No. 143. Revere and Everett departments were called.

TAKEN OUT
Mrs. David Rosenthal, whose screams for help saved her from death.

Nichols Approves Contract

Mayor Nichols has approved a contract for edgestone for paving to S. & R. J. Lombard, Charlestown, for a total of $71,500. This is a saving of $16,000 over the award a year ago.

COAL DEALERS CALLED ON TO CUT PRICES

Chairman Charles H. Adams of the commission on the necessaries of life today called upon the retail anthracite dealers to pass along to consumers lower mine and Summer delivery savings.

"Last Spring no reduction was made, but this year mine prices were reduced from 65 cents to over $1 a ton about the middle of March," the commission points out.

The commission finds that the margin between wholesalers and retail prices now ranges from about $6.75 to more than $5 a ton. Taking into account the fact that the dealers have a fairly large amount of coal costing from 60 to 80 cents above the present wholesale price and the added cost of doing business, the commission believes the prevailing margin too wide.

Adams revealed that bids for 1,500 tons of anthracite received by one of the larger cities of the State had to be rejected because the price averaged $1.25 higher a ton than it was a year ago, despite this year's lower mine price.

"There is a possibility that this tonnage will be lost to the anthracite industry, as by using bituminous coal this city can save upwards to $10,000 annually," he warned.

FIN. COM. HOLDS UP STREET REPAIR WORK

The "interference" of the Boston Finance Commission has served to hold up the work of repairing Boston's bituminous streets, most of which are in extremely bad condition as a result of the heavy snowfall of the past Winter.

Mayor Nichols today refused to make any award of the contract, announcing his action was due to the policy the Finance Commission has adopted.

Michael F. Gaddis was low bidder and shortly after the bids were made public Mr. Gaddis was summoned to appear before the Fin. Com. The mayor today announced his refusal to sign a contract until he learns the ways and the wherefores of the Finance Commission's activities.

14 FREE PORTS DECREED BY ITALIAN GOVERNMENT

Rome, April 5 (A.P.).—The Cabinet today approved a decree empowering the government to declare free ports at Savona, Genoa, Leghorn, Naples, Brindisi, Bari, Ancona, Venice, Trieste, Fiume, Palermo, Messina, Catania and Cagliari, Sardinia.

The government is authorized to declare these cities to be free ports, in whole or in part, for thirty years, beginning January 1, 1928. Declaration of a free port would exempt it from all tariff regulations.

BOLD BURGLAR STEALS CAN; THEN LANDS IN THE SOUP

Whitingham, Vt., April 5 (A.P.).—A burglar met his match when he entered the apartment of Charles E. Putnam, adjoining Putnam's store at Whitingham Four Corners, early today. After a tussle in which Putnam beat the man over the head with a tin can the burglar was thrown out and collapsed on the couch, where he remained until arrested.

The burglar was masked. Putnam tore the mask off and recognized the man as Arthur Dalrymple of Shelburne Farms, Mass., a former resident of this town.

Putnam said he grabbed the tin can, which had been taken from the store, from Dalrymple's pocket and used it as a weapon before Dalrymple could touch him with a hunting knife which he flourished.

It was found that $20 in money and some merchandise had been stolen from the store. Dalrymple's knife bore the name of Ted Plumb of Springfield, Mass., who has a camp here.

Buy your PIANO DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURER

Starck Est. 1891. Manufacturers

PIANOS
GRAND PIANOS
PLAYER PIANOS
REPRODUCING GRANDS and PLAYERS

PLAYER PIANO

You owe it to yourself to see this beautiful instrument before purchase one. You will be surprised at the exceptional value. And remember, it is fully guaranteed.

$375

Terms $2 a Week

Full 88 note. Bright or dull finish cases. Exceptional tone. This instrument is brand new and fully guaranteed. Your music teacher invited to inspect instrument.

P. A. Starck Piano Co.
Manufacturers of Starck Player Pianos $900 to $1,500
156 Boylston St. Opp. Common STARCK BLDG. BOSTON

If You Cannot Call, Mail This Coupon
P. A. STARCK PIANO CO., 156 Boylston St., Boston.
Without obligation, please send me catalogue of your beautiful Pianos.
NAME .....
Street and No. ..... Town or City.

The impulse to shop at A & P

A&P ESTABLISHED 1859 "WHERE ECONOMY RULES"

seems to spring instantly to every woman's mind at food buying time. This is the result of their absolute certainty that they gain with every purchase — that A & P values are genuine values — and that only the most reliable foods find a place in A & P's fine stocks

A new low price! Large, crisp, tasty flakes!
Kellogg's CORN FLAKES 2 PKGS 15c

Whole milk cheese finely aged and cured!
Cheese WHITE or COLORED LB 29c

DEL MONTE. Delicious sun-dried fruit!
Raisins SEEDED or SEEDLESS PKG 10c

Choice, selected, cleaned rice!
Rice FANCY BLUE ROSE 4 LBS 25c

Selected halves in a smooth natural syrup!
Peaches IONA No. 2½ CAN 18c

For many dishes—with cheese, meat, or vegetables!
Macaroni SPAGHETTI or NOODLES 4 PKGS 29c

Selected quality, sealed with all its natural flavor!
Salmon PINK 2 CANS 25c

A flour for all "Quick Breads" and pastries!
JENNY WREN Flour 4 lbs. 1 1-3 oz. PKG. 37c

BROOM SALE
No. 6 Brooms . . 65c No. 7 Brooms . . 75c
Dixie Brooms . . 45c

HERSHEY'S COCOA ½ LB TIN 12c
FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST CAKE 3c
CAMPFIRE MARSHMALLOWS ½ OZ TIN 29c

P & G COMBINATION
2 cakes P & G Soap
2 cakes Ivory Soap
1 pkg Ivory Flakes
1 pkg Chipso
10 quart Pail
ALL FOR 79c

N.B.C. WINE BISCUITS LB 21c
I-car-de Luncheonnaise and I-car-de Mayonnaise BOTH 25c

Whole wheat crackers with a nut sweet flavor!
Toasterettes EDUCATOR LB 29c

The famous, firm, delicious loaf that stays fresh longest!
Grandmother's Bread LARGE LOAF 8c
Boston and Vicinity

The A & P News, published weekly, contains many recipes and helpful household hints. Ask the store manager for your copy

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO.

5 'GOLD COAST' MEN FINED AS RUM SELLERS

Six violators of the liquor law, five of them from the "Gold Coast" section of Somerville, near the Cambridge line, where Attorney General Reading and the State constabulary conducted their famous raid two years ago, were rounded up by Police Sergeant William K. Kenney of the Somerville police, and appeared today before Judge Francis J. Brine in Somerville district court. The five men were all found guilty of making illegal sales of liquor, being what the police termed "big pocket men," and they paid a fine of $100 each.

For making illegal sales on South street Pasquale Vincenzo of Porter street, Cambridge; Mario Albanese of Sixth street, Cambridge, and Antonio Marmora of Linwood street, Somerville, paid fines of $100 each.

For making sales on Ward street, John Distino of Alvin street, Medford, and George Antonio of Warren street, Cambridge, paid $100 each.

Romeo Castellucci of Nashua street, Somerville, charged with making an illegal sale of liquor, and keeping and exposing liquor for sale, pleaded not guilty to both charges, and his case went over until Thursday for trial.

Sails for Ice Fields

The Coast Guard Cutter Modoc will sail from the Navy Yard tonight for the ice fields to relieve the cutter Tampa, which was the first this year on the North Atlantic patrol, having sailed March 22.

Advertisement

WHEN STRENGTH FAILS LOOK TO CONSTIPATION

Get prompt, sure relief with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—guaranteed!

Constipation attacks young and old—stealing vitality, wrecking health, hastening the inroads of disease after disease. Headaches, bad breath, sallow skins, insomnia are but a few of its symptoms. Rid your body of this deadly enemy before too late.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Two tablespoonfuls eaten daily — in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend Kellogg's because it is 100% bran—100% effective.

Serve it often—with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey for a special treat. Comes ready to eat. Mix it with other cereals. Try the recipes on every package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Served and sold everywhere.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

SAVE WOMAN IN MYSTERY FIRE IN CHELSEA

Causing $10,000 damage and forcing the Chelsea fire authorities to summon help from Revere and Everett, a mysterious fire at No. 143 Franklin avenue, Chelsea, threatened the thickly settled dwelling district today. Fire Chief Hudson has ordered an investigation.

One woman, Mrs. David Rosenthal, was carried from her home when her screams for help were heard by Eugene Taylor, No. 1504 Washington street, South End, who was delivering coal next door. Mrs. Rosenthal is under a doctor's care, suffering from hysteria.

Mrs. Esther Dorfman, next door neighbor, heard Mrs. Rosenthal's cries for help and saw smoke coming from the Rosenthal home. She ran to a fire box and rang in an alarm. When Fire Chief Hudson arrived he sent in a second alarm.

The fire was quickly brought under control. Taylor had carried Mrs. Rosenthal to a neighbor's home after he found her in the lower hallway. She said she was in her kitchen when the fire started, but was unable to tell what caused it.

Chief Hudson ordered an investigation. The flames burned out the upper part of the dwelling, which is brick on the lower floor and wooden on the upper.

Attorney Henry Elehric and his family occupy the lower part of the house. Mrs. Elehric was at home and knew nothing about the fire until she heard the screams from above. By that time the fire had gained much headway.

Ayesha, a pedigreed German police dog owned by Mrs. Rosenthal, was leashed to a couch in one of the rooms. All during the fire he remained there and firemen discovered him after the excitement was over. He was none the worse for his experience, although firemen wondered that he was not suffocated.

TWO STRESS VALUE OF PRINCIPLES OF ROTARY

Springfield, April 5 (A.P.).—The value of the Rotary principle in all aspects, from local to international, was stressed by speakers to 500 Rotarians at the Spring conference of the 30th district which opened today. Allan D. Colvin of Hartford, Ct., district governor, and President James L. McConaughy of Wesleyan University warned against outgrowing the individual stage and overlooking the Rotary principle of universal service, adding the "human element is the organization's greatest heritage."

TEXTILE BOOM FILLING FALL RIVER TENEMENTS

Fall River, April 5 (A.P.).—This city with a population of 127,544 at the last census has total tenement vacancy of 1718 as compared with 2057 a year ago, according to a survey completed by the Real Estate Association.

Great improvement in the textile industry has drawn additional skilled workers to the city and accounts for the decrease, it is said. Figures include 447 tenements classed as poor and unusable. Large tenement blocks are no longer occupied and constitute a great amount of the vacant houses.

3 SCHOOL OFFICIALS HAVE SCARLET FEVER

Methuen, April 5 (A.P.).—School officials are included among victims of the slight epidemic of scarlet fever prevalent in local schools. Three of them, Principal Leighton S. Thompson of Searles High School, Miss Josephine Warburton, physical instructor, and Paul H. Leslie, continuation teacher, are restricted to their homes under treatment. Seven cases among students have been reported.

GLOBE MILL PICKETS JOIN WITH WORKERS

Woonsocket, R. I., April 5 (A.P.).—Pickets at the Globe Mill of the Manville-Jenckes Company, textile manufacturers, which re-opened yesterday after a shutdown resulting from a strike, today joined the workers who already had returned and advised others to resume work.

GILCHRIST'S

COATS Smart, New Inexpensive!

With the Fashion Points and Air of Imports!

The Price Tells Only The Value Story!

$25

KASHAMIR
Combined with twill or all kashamir in black or new colors.

TWILL
A tailored fabric — smart this season — Navy and tan predominates.

SATIN
Very fashionable, especially when combined with moire as in sketch on left.

Bows!
Appear on both shoulders and are the last word in fashion when they are of moire on satin!

Tucks!
Give that straight, slender line—and are distinctively a 1927 fashion note. Smaller sketch shows the smart sunburst tucking.

Furs!
Individuality can be shown in fur trimmings as never has there been more variety! Twin beaver and Summer squirrel leading.

Hundreds of styles—no matter what your size, your favorite color—you will find them in this special showing at $25

SECOND FLOOR

IT'S MRS. KIP BY ORDER OF THE COURT NOW

White Plains, N. Y., April 5 (I.N.S.).—Leonard Kip Rhinelander's efforts to annul his marriage to Alice Beatrice Jones, daughter of a colored hackman of New Rochelle, N. Y., were brought to a formal conclusion today with the filing of the final judgment in favor of Mrs. Rhinelander in the sensational suit.

The filing of the judgment constitutes the last procedure in the annulment action and opens the way for the filing of a separation suit contemplated by Mrs. Rhinelander.

The judgment, filed by Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Tompkins, awarded Mrs. Rhinelander's attorneys costs for the defense of an appeal taken by Rhinelander in the Court of Appeals at Albany. The Court of Appeals affirmed the decision of the lower court denying Rhinelander's petition for annulment on the grounds of fraud.

Armed Guards at Court and for Sacco Judges

Members of the State Patrol were rushed, armed, to the courthouse today immediately following the adverse Sacco-Vanzetti decision. They will guard members of the Supreme Court at their respective homes.

Court Officer Richard Murray of the Supreme Court asked for the State Patrol guard immediately after the verdict was handed down.

Extra court officers were stationed in the courthouse to guard against any possible overt acts as a result of the decision.

VANZETTI AND SACCO LOSE LONG FIGHT

Continued from Page 2.

was surcharged with excitement, armed men were on guard, and this was prejudicial to a fair verdict, according to the claims of defense counsel later on.

The fact that both Sacco and Vanzetti were armed when first arrested was emphasized by the prosecution. The defense gave explanations, Vanzetti denying that the gun he has was one taken from one of the murdered men, as the state claimed, and Sacco asserting that he had been shooting in the woods.

SYMPATHIZERS RALLY.

With the pronouncement of the word "Guilty" by the foreman of the jury, there began the most unusual fight ever waged to save two men from the electric chair. A Sacco-Vanzetti Defense Committee was organized, and hundreds of thousands of dollars raised, the sum being constantly added to.

The claim of sympathizers was that the pair were being "railroaded" to death because they were foreigners and radicals.

One sensation after another developed during this fight. Government witnesses made affidavits altering their testimony, but later they charged that these affidavits were obtained by defense sympathizers by show of force.

It was discovered that the foreman of the jury, now dead, took revolver cartridges of his own and showed them in the jury room. Radical demonstrations occurred at intervals in Europe and South America, Socialists in more than a dozen foreign countries appealing for the convicted men.

NEW TRIAL DENIED.

Sacco at one time went on a hunger strike, but was finally induced to eat. He was removed for a time to the Psychopathic Hospital, where he attempted suicide, it was said, and later to the Bridgewater State Hospital, but he was transferred back to Dedham as sane and normal.

The first motion for a new trial failed. The second, heard last January, was spectacular. It was claimed that Celestino Madeiros and a group of Providence thugs committed the robbery and Madeiros, who is under sentence of death for another payroll murder, is being spared until the Sacco-Vanzetti case is settled, at least in so far as it concerns him.

Judge Thayer denied this motion for a new trial. The case was then taken to the Supreme Court. A feature of the defense arguments was a set of affidavits from former Department of Justice agents who worked on the case and who declared they considered the defendants "railroaded."

Meanwhile the government, at each hearing, has presented fact after fact to deny the successive claims of the defense counsel.

Sacco and Vanzetti have never yet been sentenced. The penalty for their crime is death in the electric chair. Sacco is at Dedham Jail. Vanzetti, who was convicted of another robbery while he was awaiting trial on the murder charge, is serving a State Prison term for the other crime.

Sacco Ruling Is "Terrible Shock" to Mrs. Evans

"This is, indeed, terrible and comes as a deep shock to me. I can't really understand how they could come to such a decision for I am firmly convinced both Sacco and Vanzetti are innocent."

In a trembling voice, weakened with illness, Mrs. Glendower Evans, wealthy woman who gave unstintingly of her personal funds to save Sacco and Vanzetti from the chair, made this statement when informed by the Boston Evening American that the pair had been denied a new trial by the full bench of the Supreme Court.

"I cannot conceive that the Supreme Court turned down their final plea for a new trial," she said. "But we have not given up the fight yet.

"The committee which incessantly has been fighting to save the lives of these men will only be spurred to greater efforts and I shall bend every force of energy within me to save them from the chair.

"Of course, I don't know just what legal steps remain to be taken. That will be looked after by their counsel; but I believe a meeting of the Sacco-Vanzetti committee will be called at once to consider the next move."

Mrs. Evans is confined to a cot in a private hospital in Framingham with a broken ankle received in an accident several days ago.

Sacco Case Has Caused Outbreaks in Many Lands

By Associated Press.

The Sacco-Vanzetti case has figured in Anarchist demonstrations in many foreign capitals.

Many meetings and demonstrations have been organized by radicals who attached political significance to the case. Their protests were usually directed to American diplomatic envoys, although they invariably were told that the case was the affair of the Massachusetts authorities.

American diplomatic missions in Paris, Sofia, Lisbon, Buenos Aires and Montevideo have been bombed or threatened during the years that the case has been in the courts. In several instances the buildings were damaged, but there has been no loss of American lives.

Last June the State Department advised all American diplomatic representatives abroad to take adequate precautions against further outrages.

Since January 1 demonstrations by sympathizers of the two men have been reported in Paris and Tokyo. In each case the police guards about the embassies were strengthened after the demonstrations.

Court Decision Means Madeiros Must Die

The Supreme Court's decision against Sacco and Vanzetti also means that Celestino Madeiros, sentenced to die in the electric chair, will now be executed. He was under sentence when he made his confession to the crime for which Sacco and Vanzetti had been convicted. He escaped the chair when counsel for the two men had sentence deferred in order to get his testimony.

20 EMPLOYES FLEE FIRE IN ROXBURY DOOR PLANT

Twenty employes of the Bay State Sash and Door Co., at 1359 Columbus avenue, Roxbury, were driven to the street when fire swept through the plant today, causing damage estimated at $3,500.

Nichols Asks Modern Postoffice for Hub

Mayor Nichols urged the erection of a modern postoffice to meet the city's growth, at a luncheon of the Federated Business Association, made up of Federal employers in the Chamber of Commerce building today.

Virtually every head of the various Federal departments of Boston was present. The guests, among others, were General Henry Smither, chief coordinator of the United States government; Admiral Philip Andrews, commander of Boston Navy Yard, and Postmaster Roland M. Baker.

Importance of co-ordinating the numerous departments including military and naval of the Federal government was stressed by General Smither in his address. He said no tangible results of his office were outwardly apparent, but that considerable progress had been made in straightening out friction and misunderstanding among Federal departments.

He cited the recent controversy between the Navy and Lighthouse departments regarding priority in the use of radio wavelengths, which ultimately was straightened out by his bureau.

SAPIRO TELLS OF RECEIVING $500,000 FEES

Detroit, April 5 (I.N.S.).—Swinging from the snowy cotton fields of the South to the golden grain belt of the Middle West, counsel for Henry Ford today traced the activities of Aaron Sapiro, so-called wheat king, for the benefit of the jury in the $1,000,000 Ford-Sapiro libel suit.

On the witness stand for his sixth day of cross-examination, Sapiro admitted receiving scores of fees and retainers for his work among farmers. His total gross fees surged above the $500,000 mark for the last ten years.

Sapiro told, too, of being paid $1,000 for attending a three-day conference of the American Farm Bureau at Chicago in July, 1920. This fee included his expenses to and from San Francisco, he said, but it was paid for only three days' work at the conference.

Reed first read a letter Sapiro wrote J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau.

Sapiro wrote of his plans to establish co-operation between various farm organizations and declared the bureau's general counsel—Sapiro held the post—should lead this work. He concluded with: "I believe the general counsel would obtain outstanding prestige for his specialty."

Reed then fired his questions at Sapiro's visit to the grain conference in Chicago.

"Were you paid for attending it?"

"Yes," Sapiro replied. "$1,000 gross."

"How much time did you spend there?"

"I was three days getting there and three days going back, and I probably spent three days there," was the reply. "I recollect I came from San Francisco to attend the conference."

Reed next read a general description of Sapiro's plan of controlling the wheat crop. It was: "When you get 51 per cent. of the wheat in the nine most important wheat States tied up, you can go ahead and control the market."

The wheat growers, Sapiro explained, had to pool their wheat and allow a central organization to sell it according to market demands.

STOP BUSINESS DEPRESSION BY ADVERTISING

Business men were urged to change their viewpoint on advertising policy, basing their advertising budgets on prospective sales rather than on past sales, by Dean Jean F. Carroll of the College of Commerce and Finance, Drake University, Des Moines, Ia., the principal speaker at today's luncheon of the Advertising Club of Boston.

A more extended use of advertising during periods of business depression was recommended by Prof Carroll, who pointed out the greate effectiveness of well directed cam paigns during those periods of th business cycle.

The lessening of the importance o psychology in business cycles, an the increasing importance of othe factors such as the balance of trade gold reserve, the adjustment of gov ernment and business, hand-to-mout buying, transportation, banking an overproduction, were shown.

FATHER ENDS LIFE AS HIS CHILDREN PLAY

While his two children were playing with their nurse downstairs Robert Stewart, 31, of No. 30 Converse avenue, Newton, committed suicide in his bed room today. The children's nurse heard the shot, but at the time thought it was a backfire from an auto outside. She discovered Stewart's lifeless body an hour later.

Jays
Boston
Temple Place
Eleven
You Should Know Our Semi-Chiffon Stockings, Silk-to-Top and Greatly in Demand!
Priced 1.90 the Pair!
Sheer enough for Fashion, yet more durable than ordinary chiffon. Lisle lined at wear points for added service. All the important shades for Spring.
—Fancy Clocked Silk Stockings—2.50
—Silk and Lisle Sports Stockings—2.90
—Other Stockings—1.00 and upward

Loft
CANDY
105 Washington St.
173 Summer St., at Church Green
(Near South Station)
Also 398 Westminster St., Providence, R. I.
173 Summer St.
5 P. M. to 2 P. M., 5-Course Dinner 85c
Every Loft Store Now a Palace of Easter Treasures!
Candy Specialties, Mechanical Bunnies, Toys and Beautiful Easter Gift Packages. Ask our Salespeople! See our Windows!
Wedgewood Assorted Chocolates or Bon Bons and Chocolates in beautifully decorated package, —The Dollar Box for sixty-nine. Full Lb. 69c
Chocolate Marshmallow Eggs or assorted Marshmallow Eggs —six in a decorated crate. 15c
Milk Chocolate Crosses packed with delicately flavored Midget Jelly or Cream Eggs.
39c, 59c, 99c
Extra Special! Milk Chocolate Covered Assorted Fresh Fruits
Reg. 79c Full lb. 59c

First National Growth
The rise of FIRST NATIONAL STORES to its present position as New England's greatest home-owned grocery chain, can be traced directly to its steadfast policy of better stores.
O'Keefe-CONNOR-GUNTER
Brookside Milk Qt. 12c
A trainload daily. One grade only—the very best. Twenty-four hours fresher—higher in cream content. For the children's sake buy it. Priced Boston and vicinity.
Loaf Cheese Pimento American Lb. 37c Lb. 35c
Sardines Fancy Norwegian Brisdlings In Pure Olive Oil 2 Cans 29c
Lifebuoy Soap 4 Bars 25c
Crisco Can 23c
Pea Beans Slowly Cooked Make A Real Old Fashioned New England Dish. 4 Lbs. 25c
Seeded Raisins A FANCY FULL SIZE PACKAGE Pkg. 10c
Chipso A WONDERFUL HELP FOR MAKING WASHING EASIER. LGE. PKG. 19c
Milkeens A Light Fluffy Marshmallow Cookie Dipped In Milk Chocolate NATIONAL BISCUIT CO. Lb. 34c
Spredit Nut Margarine Lb. Pkg. 25c
Sealect Milk Can 10c
Kippered Snacks 4 Cans Finest Norwegian 22c
Finast Extract LEMON or VANILLA 2 Oz. Bot. 25c
Knox Gelatine pkg. 20c
Finast Catsup Lge. Bot. 21c
Homeland Tea 1 LB. PKG. 69c ½ LB. PKG. 35c
Pure Ceylon Direct From The World's Famous Tea Gardens.
PRIZE BREAD
LARGE LOAF 8c
Our Policy to Use Only the Very Best Ingredients Is the Reason Prize Bread Is the Popular Bread in New England.
Priced Boston and Vicinity
FIRST NATIONAL STORES INC.
WHERE NEW ENGLAND BUYS ITS FOODS

4-B
HOME-TESTED AND APPROVED
PRISCILLA PROVING PLANT
SERIES NO. 23003
Tested and Approved
Good Housekeeping Institute
GOOD HOUSEKEEPING MAGAZINE
TESTING LABORATORY
AGA
APPROVED
The INSULATED GLENWOOD with GLENWOOD ROBERTSHAW OVEN HEAT CONTROL
The Insulated Glenwood has been endorsed by these authorities
THE American Gas Association—the world's highest authority on gas range construction—the Modern Priscilla Proving Plant, and the Good Housekeeping Institute have endorsed the Insulated Glenwood with their unanimous approval.
Glenwood, as a matter of fact, was one of the first complete lines of gas ranges to receive a 100 per cent "O. K." from the American Gas Association in 1927. Their seal on the door of a Glenwood gas range thus adds even further assurance to the Glenwood guarantee of satisfaction.
The Good Housekeeping Institute said in its official report on the Insulated Glenwood: "the gas consumption was approximately 20 per cent less for this type of oven than for an uninsulated oven of the same size."
These official endorsements are only another confirmation of the results that thousands of housewives have discovered for themselves. We shall be glad to show you the newest model of the Insulated Glenwood.
Glenwood Ranges
MAKE COOKING EASY
GLENWOOD WEEK IS APRIL 9TH TO 16TH
Boston Consolidated Gas Co.

DRYS CAN HIDE THEIR SOURCES OF INCOME

A certificate of organization incorporating the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League, Inc., was today approved by Henry F. Long, commissioner of corporations and taxation.

The purpose of the league is "to promote through education and all other proper means the prohibition of alcoholic beverages and to promote temperance and sobriety."

Under the incorporation laws relating to "charitable and kindred organizations," the league will be exempt from filing taxation returns, certificates of business conditions and statements of receipts and expenditures.

The only possible way that the receipts and expenditures could be disclosed, legal experts declared today to the State House, would be through an action in court. Good reason would then have to be shown as to why the information should be divulged.

The officers of the corporation are: President, Alfin C. Emery, Weymouth Heights; treasurer, Delevare King of scofflaw fame, Quincy; secretary, Arthur W. Robinson, Natick; directors, Samuel H. Thompson, Lowell; E. Talmadge Root, Somerville; G. Loring Briggs, Brookline; William M. Forgrave Brighton. Forgrave is now superintendent of the Massachusetts branch of the league.

U. S. OFFICIAL ON STAND IN HUB OIL SUIT

Testimony in the suit of Henry V. Parker, creditor of the receivership estate of the New England Oil Corporation, against the so-called Tanker Syndicate began today in Federal Court before Judge Julian Mack with Samuel Duvall Schell, secretary of the U. S. Shipping Board, on the stand for the plaintiff.

The present case is brought by Parker in an attempt to fix upon the Old Colony Trust Company and Bradley W. Palmer, Boston attorney, financial responsibility for alleged damage done the reorganized New England Oil receivership estate by the sale to it at exorbitant price of a fleet of seven tankers under an alleged fraudulent contract.

Six Boston bankers, by a decree of Judge George F. Anderson in May of last year, were held liable in the sum of $3,327,740 to the creditors for similar alleged damages to the receivership estate, but counsel for Parker claims only $1,800,000 has been realized from that court decree, which is now before the U. S. Court of Appeals.

Citing the Old Colony Trust Company and Palmer into court is an effort to make up the balance of the May decree, according to the degree of alleged participation in the alleged fraudulent tanker contract which may be shown against them.

Escapes Attack

VICTORIA CHRISTIE

Six-year-old North Russell street girl who was dragged into West End cellar by man of mystery who tried to attack her. Police are searching for assailant described by child's mother, Mrs. Stavnay Christie.

FEW BEGGARS IN ROME TODAY

"Italy seems to be prosperous, the people are contented, the present regime is doing a great deal for the country, and industries are thriving," said the Rev. Arthur T. Connolly, pastor of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Jamaica Plain, who arrived home today after a visit to Rome, where he had an audience with the Pope.

"Aside from my visit to the Holy Father," said Father Connolly, "the thing that impressed me most was the complete disappearance from Italian streets of the horde of beggars that formerly pestered and annoyed every visitor.

"Now the Italian people are prosperous-looking people and a beggar is almost unknown. This certainly indicates that the Italian people are prosperous under the leadership of 'Il Duce.'

"I had a glorious trip from Boston to Italy on the Presidents Wilson. It wasn't ill a day and enjoyed the stillness of the ocean. On the way over we stopped at Gibraltar and Algiers and then continued on to Naples.

"I found Pope Pius X. a very holy man and well versed in the affairs of the world. I had a private audience with him. I was in Rome three weeks.

"Leaving Italy on March 29 on the Leviathan I landed in New York yesterday. The trip back was just as pleasant as the one over."

Fr. A. T. Connolly (at. Newsreel Photo, Inc.)

FIRST WINNER IN AD REVIEW TOMORROW

The interest of business men, educators, national and local advertisers who are following the progress of the Boston Evening American's Prize Review of Current Advertising will center on tomorrow's Evening American, in which the winner of the first week of the competition will be announced.

The purpose of the plan is entirely in accord with the accepted principles of merchandising as practiced by the authorities in this field. Dr. Melvin T. Copeland, of the Graduate School of Business Administration, Harvard in commenting on the "Prize Review" authorized this quotation from his book, "Principles of Merchandising":

"Instead of waiting passively for patronage a manufacturer or merchant who seeks to make the most of his opportunities adopts aggressive sales methods. He makes his product attractive in appearance, he puts it on sale in the places most likely to conform to the buying habits of consumers; he secures the active co-operation, if possible, of merchants through whose hands the goods pass; and in numerous instances he finds it worth while to attempt to arouse by intensive consumers' buying motives by means of advertising."

There is much speculation as to which advertisement will be selected by the Board of Judges as the best appearing in the Boston Evening American during the week ending April second. But tomorrow's paper will carry the decision.

Meanwhile, all ads in today's paper as well as in every day's paper this week are passing under the scrutiny of the judges, well known advertising experts who were appointed by Major F. F. O'Keefe, president of the Advertising Club of Boston. Early next week the judges will announce the winner for this week's period in the competition that is completing the second of the weekly periods. The prize is, in each case, a receipted bill for the cost of the winning advertisement, whether it be half an inch or full page size.

The Prize Review of Current Advertising, the first competition of its kind to be conducted by any newspaper, has for its purpose the stimulation of more effective and more interesting "sales messages" for consumers to read.

It is in reality a competition for the public's favor. The judges, therefore, cordially invite readers of the Boston Evening American to write their opinions as to which ad appeals most favorably to them and why. Such opinions may be addressed to the Board of Judges, Prize Review of Current Advertising, care of the Boston Evening American.

DODGE ESTATE LOSE BATTLE OVER TAXES

Washington, April 5 (A.P.).—Administrators of the estate of John F. Dodge, Detroit automobile manufacturer, have lost a decision in the Court of Claims in their attempt to recover $633,624 in income taxes collected by the government for 1918.

The litigation and the decision involved the famous controversy between the Dodge Brothers and Henry Ford over the earnings of the Ford Motor Company.

Circumstances which induced Matilda R. Dodge and Howard E. Bloomer, administrators of the John F. Dodge estate, "to seek a return of income tax were based on the Ford litigation. The Dodge Brothers in 1916 went into court to compel the Ford Company to pay out as dividends some part of the $48,000,000 in the business' cash surplus and a court decision in 1916 held the Dodge contention to be legitimate and ordered a payment of $962,760. In 1919 the bureau of internal revenue assessed the payment as income accrued in that year. The Dodge estate administrators contended that it should be treated as of 1916, when the first decision was given and were willing to pay $92,888. The Internal revenue bureau demanded a $559,624 additional levy.

"There is no income from an investment until there has been a separate realized gain," the court's ruling said.

VETERAN BUREAU FINDS MONEY FOR BONUS LOANS

Washington, April 5 (A.P.).—The Veterans' Bureau can go ahead making loans on veterans' bonus certificates regardless of whether Comptroller-General McCarl rules it can borrow from its adjusted compensation fund, Director Hines said today.

A fund of $8,000,000 is available for the loans, General Hines said, and the returns from government life insurance policies are being used for the loans instead of invested in farm loan bonds, as had been done heretofore.

STORM IN THE OFFING, BITTER WIND IN HUB

A storm area in the Central Valleys, which has threatened New England with rain over the past three days, still hovers dangerously near, according to the local Weather Man, and may descend upon Boston late tonight or tomorrow morning. Easterly winds continue to repel the advance of Miss Spring towards the Atlantic seaboard, although gradually rising temperatures are in the offing.

Safety Committee Named

President John J. Hefferman of the City Council today announced the appointment of a committee on public safety, consisting of Councillors Michael J. Mahoney, Joseph McGrath, Henry Parkman, Jr., Israel Ruby, John F. Dowd and Timothy Donovan.

Dawes Back From Cuba

New Orleans, April 5 (A.P.).—Vice President Charles G. Dawes arrived here from Havana on the Steamship Cartago.

Costume Materials

at Lowest Prices in New England

SPECIAL RATES TO DANCING TEACHERS AND COSTUME MAKERS

Write for Price List

SOME OF OUR PRICES:

Marabou any color, reg. 50c, quality..... 34c yd. and 55c yd.

Tarletan, 50 inch wide, finest quality made...32c yd.

Latticework Spangle, 24 inches wide.....$1.00 yd.

Latticework Spangle, 40 inches wide.....$2.00 yd.

Rhinestones, 10 gross for $4.75

1440 first quality stones with settings

Black Kid Ballet Shoes All sizes.....$2.25 pair

Ostrich Wooden Shoes $2.25 pair

Costume Book showing 300 different costumes.....25c copy

FEINE TRIMMING COMPANY, Importers

453 Washington St., Dexter Bldg., Boston, Mass.

Agents for World Famous BARNEY Tan Shoes

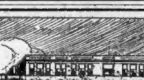
YOUR OPPORTUNITY

To be the proud possessor of a beautiful set of ARTIFICIAL TEETH For Only $12.50

Full upper or lower made of red rubber (Not like picture)

Our Roofless

Our Lockin Lower



Is BEAUTIFUL

BRIDGE WORK, per tooth $6

Silver Fillings $1

Cleanings $1

Our LOCKIN LOWERS are the only plates ever discovered that lock tightly to the lower jaw with the greatest of comfort.

Positive Painless Extractions and Free when Plate or Bridge Work is Ordered. Plates repaired while you wait. Old plates remade like new the same day.

DR. HEWSON DENTAL CO.

427 Washington St., Opposite Filene's

Hours daily: 8:30 a. m. to 6 p. m. Lady Attendant Phone Dewey 1067-J

The Largest Market in the World

Upham's Corner Market

At the Gateway to Dorchester

ANNOUNCING—

The Opening of the New Addition to Our Market

for Inspection and Business on Wednesday, April 6, 1927

Open From 8 A. M. to 7 P. M.

to which We Invite the Public

Food Fair—Free Samples 25 Demonstrations

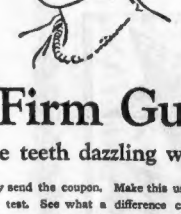
600 Columbia Road

Dorchester, Mass.

Telephone Columbia 6000

Low Prices Built this Business

FREE—10-Day Tube—Mail Coupon



To Firm Gums

And give teeth dazzling whiteness

Simply send the coupon. Make this unique dental test. See what a difference comes this new way—it REMOVES THE FILM that invites "off-color" teeth and gum troubles.

HERE is a simple dental method. A way that will work a great change in the color of your teeth, in the color and firmness of your gums.

Without realizing it you may be handicapping yourself immeasurably with a smile that lacks the attraction of glistening teeth and healthy gums.

That stubborn and dangerous film
You must remove it

Dental science now traces scores of tooth and gum troubles, directly or indirectly, to a germ-laden film that forms on your teeth.

You can't see it with your eyes, but run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it . . . a slippery, viscous coating.

That film absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. And that is why your teeth look "off color" and dingy.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

You can't have pretty teeth unless you combat it. Highest authorities all tell you this.

Brushing won't end it

Ordinary dentifrices and cleansing won't fight film successfully. Feel for it now with your tongue. Note how your present cleansing method is failing in its duty.

Now new methods are being used. A dentifrice called Pepsodent—different in formula, action and effect from any other known.

Largely on dental advice the world has turned to it.

It removes that film
And Firms the Gums

It accomplishes two important things at once: Removes that film, then firms the gums.

Send the coupon. Clip it now before you forget.

FREE Mail this for 10-Day Tube to THE PEPSODENT COMPANY Dept. B-2417, 1104 S. Wabash Ave. Chicago, Ill. U. S. A.

Name

Address

Only one tube to a family. 2417

Pepsodent Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

The New-Day Quality Dentifrice Endorsed by World's Dental Authorities

HOVEY'S Down Stairs Store

The New Things The Right Things The Store of lower Prices The Most for the Money Always

Wider in Scope—Bigger than Ever Before—
Over 75,000 Bargains Not to Be Duplicated

Dollar Day Wednesday

$1.75-$1.85 Fringed Net Panels $1
Fine quality Filet Net and shadow lace Panels trimmed with heavy 3-inch Bullion fringe; wide assortment of new patterns.

Linen Crash Toweling, 5 Yds. $1
Full 16-inch width, red or blue borders, durable and absorbent, for dish, hand or roller towels.

Decorative Rayon Scarfs, 4 for $1
Three sizes, scalloped, 5 colors in each, an assortment of excellent patterns, fine rayon and cotton.

Turkish Bath Towels, 2 for $1
Large size, double thread Terry, fast color borders. Usually 75c and 89c each.

Kitchen Table Covers, 3 for $1
Stenciled patterns, light or dark grounds, round or square, 48x48. Limited quantity.

Feather Bed Pillows $1
Full size, 19 inches wide by 26 inches long, well filled with feathers, covered with feather-proof striped art ticking—a BARGAIN!

6-Pc. (Gingham Trimmed) Cottage Curtains $1
Full sized (not skimped). Fine voile trimmed with dainty gingham ruffles in blue, gold, green, rose.

Ruffled Voile Curtains $1
Full 2½-inch width curtains, with generous ruffles, plain or splash voile, excellently made, long wearing. Just 400 at this price.

36-In. Sash Curtains, 4 Pr. $1
Crossbar muslin of good quality, hemstitched hem along bottom. Headed ready for rod.

Women's Dresses, Aprons, 2 for (Some From Upstairs Store) $1
Cotton Foulard and Print Dresses—Gingham Bungalow Aprons.

40-In. Silk Radium $1
An amazing value. Splendid quality, all new, pastel shades; also navy and black—Wednesday only. Yard

Women's Bloomers, 3 for $1
Fine muslin, cut full, 27 and 29 lengths, single elastic. Flesh and white.

Rayon Bloomers or Slips, Each $1
Bloomers, splendid quality, cut full, wanted colors; single elastic, 29-inch length. Slips, Bodice style, two-inch hems, some with embossed flounce, wanted colors; sizes 36 to 42.

Muslin Underwear, 2 Pcs. $1
Slips, Bodice style, lace trim, shadow hem. Gowns, embroidered. Bloomers, Cotton crepe, 27 and 29-inch lengths, flesh and white.

One-Piece Corsettes $1
Boned over diaphragm and back. Swami front section over bust, 2 pair hose supporters. Sizes 32 to 40.

3 lbs. 60c Chocolates $1
Regularly $1.80—Strictly fresh, excellent quality delicious cream fills, nougats, caramels—3-lb. box. Wednesday.

Crepe de Chine Scarfs $1
All the popular shades, some with flowered ends and plain centers—Wednesday only.

Boys' Pajamas $1
Two-piece coat style, frog trimmed. Fine cotton. Good colors. 8 to 14 yrs.

50 Styles Cretonnes, 4 Yds. $1
1000 yards, 36 inches wide, bright, cheerful patterns—some usually 59c a yard; excellent quality.

Underarm Bags, 2 for $1
Odd lots of former $1.00 bags. Leather fabrics, assorted styles and colors.

Men's 50c Fancy Sox, 4 Prs. $1
Astounding value. Choice of three patterns in a wide selection of colors. Famous Ipswich brand, rayon and cotton. Very slight seconds.

Infants' $2.50 Wool Coats $1
White Bedford Cord, 1 to 2 years. We advise mothers to come early, for these will sell fast.

Infants' 29c Rayon Sox, 4 Prs. $1
Pretty colors; 6 months to 3 years.

Infants' $1.50-$2 Easter Dresses $1
Pastel Shade Voile—many HAND MADE. 2 to 6 years.

Boys' Wash Suits, 2 to 6 $1
Middy and button-on; some white waist with colored pants.

Infants' $2.00 Easter Hats $1
Rayon and Straw—elastic backs—best colors.

Infants' 75c Underwear, 2 Pcs. $1
Princess Slips — Combinations, lace and embroidered trimmed. Pajamas, crossbar muslin, pink or blue; 2 to 6.

Inf. $1.50 Broadcloth Rompers $1
Genuine lustrous cotton broadcloth, most attractive; 1, 2, 3 years.

Child's Union Suits, 3 for $1
Nainsook, athletic style, bloomer or straight leg, seat reinforced—sizes 6 to 12 years. Tremendous values.

Women's $1.95-$2.95 New Hats $1
Hats that have been in regular stock but a short time, marked to $1 for Dollar Day only; silk and straw, felt and straw, all straw. Wanted colors.

Women's Dresses—from Upstairs $1
Amoskeag Rayonelle, cotton broadcloth, fast color prints, cotton jersey, all-wool jersey. Many from upstairs. Sizes 14 to 46 in lot.

Full Fashioned Silk Hose $1
All silk with lisle garter hem—or silk with lisle tops—nude and beige shades only. Slightly irregular

Wonderful Rayon Underwear $1
Bloomers, slips, step-ins, gowns, flapper petticoats. Tailored or lace trimmed, all wanted shades — all first quality. Your choice, each

Glove Silk Vests $1
Good quality, pink (all sizes), peach, orchid, Nile—not all sizes in all colors. Tremendous values.

Nurses' Uniforms $1
Limited quantity, regular $1.95 grade, some need washing, heavy muslin; sizes 36 to 46.

Infants', Children's Shoes $1
Including Endicott Johnson Brand. High and low, tan and black, all sizes in lot.

Women's Shoes $1
Factory seconds, shopworn shoes of higher priced qualities. Patent, satin, tan, straps, pumps, oxfords.

Infants' Silk Hose, 3 Pr. $1
Pure silk with lisle tops and soles. White, some slightly soiled. Regular price 65c a pair.

Junior Misses' Gloves, 2 Pr. $1
Smart turn-over cuff models for Spring wear. Novelty fabric. All sizes in Mode and Gray.

Boys' New Gloves, 2 Pr. $1
Smart embroidered backs, sturdy fabric, all sizes in Mode and Gray.

Reg. $6.98—Orig. $7.95-$10.85

Dresses $5

For Misses and Women

Crepe Satin Jerseys

Flat Crepe Flannels

High shades—dark colors. Sizes 16 to 44—Ready at 9 A. M.

Incomparable Value—Misses'

New Coats $8.90

All-Wool Twills, Sports, Tweeds, Satins, Kashmirs; Stylish Fur Collars. Never have we seen Coats of this grade, newness and desirableness so low! Sizes 16 to 42.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Riotous Applause Greets Vincent Club Actors at the Repertory Theatre

IF THE AUDIENCE THAT PACKED EVERY NOOK AND cranny of the Repertory Theatre had had its way, the Vincent Varieties would still be going on at this hour, in a continuous performance. Riotous applause, rising now and again into whistles and cheers, greeted so many of the numbers that each "Variety" may well consider itself the "hit" of the evening. But, of course, it was the Drill, led by Boston's best known young woman, Miss Eleonora Sears, that literally stopped the show and had to be encored again and again. It was the smashing, dashing hit of the entire evening, with the bagpipe skirling "Elco" at its head.

LOOKING FOR ALL THE world like a handsome elder brother of the Prince of Wales, the dashing Miss Sears led her Highland laddies through their evolutions, their pivots and wheels and marches and counter marches to perfect tempo. Never a handsomer set of drillers nor a better executed drill, in any Vincent show, than this of the Highland laddies. How gracefully their kilts did swing and how superbly they balanced those shining black shakos! But the drill was not the only hit of the evening. The "Varieties" show is chock full of hits.

CONSIDER, FOR INSTANCE, that beautiful Venetian number of Miss Berthe and Miss Francesca Braggiotti. A dream of beauty and artistic expression, their "Romance" waltz. Miss Berthe as the handsome lover and Miss Francesca the adorable girl, their white satin costumes the last word in richness and lavishness. Theirs was a number that threatened for a while to stop the show, and brought forth continued applause. Likewise the pretty conceit of Mrs. Christopher LaFarge, in a shadow dance.

CONSIDER ALSO AS A HIT that amusing "Mothers and Daughters" number—the lady of yesterday as compared with the fresh young sprite of today! Nothing could have been more amusing than the Tennis Lady, and the Golf Lady, and the Class Day Lady, and the Bloomer Lady and the Promenading Lady. They must be seen, however, to be appreciated! But the entire show simply overran with clever bits. Miss Nancy Morison's spirited Russian dance was one, and another was the lilting Rose Petal Waltz that revolved about Mrs. Theodore Eliot, with Miss Virginia Curtin, Miss Agnes Boardman, Miss Eugenia Frothingham and others as the coryphees.

MISS MORISON WORE A MAGnificent Russian headdress with her scarlet and white costume. She had the bright red boots and the tinkling bracelets we associate with Muscovy. And her tambourine tapping assistants—Miss Mary Frances Oakes, Miss Elizabeth Oakes, Miss Louise Russell and Miss Dorothea Heath—wore elaborate Russian costumes that were, like Miss Morison's herself, more than two centuries old and were brought from Russia to the Morison family several years ago.

NOT FOR NOTHING HAVE BOSTON MAIDS AND MATRONS PUT in arduous hours learning the Charleston and its successors. Such was made evident by that limber-limbed set that did a number called "Swanee Bottom" and wore such perfectly stunning rose satin costumes. Stunning they were, and brilliant, from the crowns of their enormous floppy hats to the soles of their bright pink shoes. Mrs. Frederic Church, Jr., and Mrs. Robert Almy, Mrs. Dick Saltonstall, Mrs. David Sears, Miss Louise Fessenden and Miss Laura Taylor shuffled and strutted through "Swanee Bottom" with professional aplomb and technique. It was still another "Variety" of topnotch sort.

BUT ALL THE "VARIETIES" ARE TOPNOTCH. THERE WAS the clever number headed by Miss Barbara Forbes and Miss Rosamond Thomas, called, "Baby," and the "Raisin Held" that Miss Thomas and Mrs. LaFarge did so perfectly. And there was Miss Elizabeth Lyman's finished bit, of the "Girl at the Movie," and that distinct hit that was Mrs. Stanley Parker's number—Mrs. Parker imitating herself as "Betty Porter" of an earlier Vincent imitation. But "was" may be read "is," for the Vincent Varieties take their tuneful and successful way through a matinee and evening performance both today and tomorrow. And without doubt there'll be crowded houses to see these Society darlings at each show.

LAST EVENING THE THEATRE WAS FILLED WITH DOTING parents and adoring sweethearts, friends and admirers, uncles, aunts and cousins. In a word, "Everyone" was there. And "Everyone" will go again and again, for it's the way with Vincent Club enthusiasts to attend not only one but several performances. Thus are the coffers of the Vincent Memorial Hospital enriched by many needed dollars, and thus are rewarded the annual efforts of the fair Vincentites at theatrical entertainment.

Betty Alden

Mary Frances Oakes — Elisabeth Oakes — Louise Russell — Dorothea Heath

(Photographs posed specially for the Boston Evening American)

TAMBOURINE GIRLS IN THE VINCENT VARIETIES AT THE REPERTORY THEATRE

Society girls in Russian costumes danced attendance on Miss Nancy Morison at the Vincent Club show. Their tambourine act was warmly encored and might be going on yet had not the stage manager called a halt so the performance might go on.

NANCY MORISON

Society girl wore a scarlet and white headdress which matched perfectly her scarlet boots and tingling bracelets reminiscent of Old Muscovy.

DALLINGER FAVORS BILL TO USE CHARLES BASIN WATER

Favorable action on a bill advocated by Mayor Edward W. Quinn of Cambridge for Cambridge to take water from Charles River Basin for fire protection and manufacturing was asked of the legislative Committee on Cities today by Congressman Frederick W. Dallinger with a delegation of Cambridge city officials and business men.

Chairman Davis B. Kenniston of the metropolitan district commission demanded that the bill be amended so that his board can maintain the fresh water level required by law. Senator Alvin E. Bliss, chairman of the committee, suggested that proponents and the commission fix up a bill agreeable to all.

JUMBO, "BIGGEST" HORSE IN THE WORLD, IS DEAD

Kewanee, Ill., April 5 (A.P.)—"Jumbo," said to be the world's largest horse, weighing 2,050 pounds and standing 18 hands and 3 inches high, is dead at the stock farm of S. F. Francis, near here.

$1,000,000 TO HARVARD

Bequeathing a trust fund to Harvard University which in the 200 years the principal is to be left untouched will amount to more than $81,000,000, the will of Charles S. Sargent, artist, late of Brookline, was filed in Norfolk Probate Court today.

The bequest, $10,000, is left to Harvard for the care of the Arnold Arboretum. It is to be invested for 100 years and the total of principal and interest, more than $1,800,000, then split, one-half going to the care of the arboretum and the other to be left for another 100 years for the same purpose. The second half at the end of another 100 years will amount to more than $81,000,000. In less than 100 years the $10,000 will amount to more than $1,250,000.

The will also leaves $20,000 for the purchase of books for the library at the arboretum. Small bequests are left to former employes and personal property is left to the artist's widow. The will also creates trust funds for his sons and daughters.

To Walter Smith and Charles Sander, former employes, the will bequeathes $1,000 each. To George Page and Louisa Stolode $500 each is willed.

Filene's

Built on value; growing on value

No costume is really smart without smart accessories—no accessories are smart unless they complete the ensemble. If your gloves have snakeskin grain kid cuffs a bag of snakeskin grain leather expresses chic—if your belt is calfskin a matching calfskin bag gives point to the simplest suit — if your oxfords are alligator an alligator grain leather bag makes a stunning ending to a perfect ensemble.

Complete your Easter ensemble from this sale of fine leather bags, $3

—snake grain leather
—lizard grain leather
—alligator grain leather
—ostrich grain leather
—smart smooth shoe calfskin
—beaver finished calfskin

—shades of gray —shades of brown —shades of beige —shades of green
—shades of blue

Mail or telephone orders filled while quantity lasts. Call HANcock 3500 till 9:30 p. m. Toll calls 50c and over at half rates after 8:30 p. m.

WEDNESDAY—opposite main elevators—street floor

Simple Arithmetic

SET a price on your desire for a certain pair of well-designed and becoming shoes—

Divide that figure by the workmanship and wear in them—

And your result is their value.

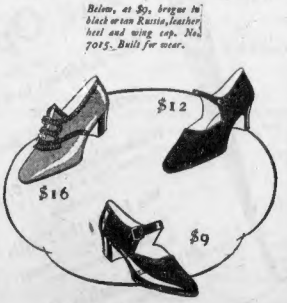
A vast number of our customers apply that equation to every pair of shoes they buy. Their habitual patronage indicates that our persistent and inflexible requirement of value in Thayer, McNeil shoes is a sound means of building up the greatest headquarters for good footwear in New England.

Below, at $16, smart walking shoe in tan Russia with decorative lizard strip. Ask to see No. 1448.

Below, at $12, black suede with water-snake trimming with French heel. Very comfortable. No. 5368.

Below, at $9, brogue in black or tan Russia leather heel and wing cap. No. 7015. Built for wear.



47 TEMPLE PLACE — THAYER McNEIL COMPANY — 15 WEST STREET

Keep one on your Bureau

Every day just pick out a few coins from your change and slip them into one of these handy little coin banks. Let it build up your savings the easy way. Your savings more than anything else will put you ahead of the game.

All you need to start is one dollar. That will open your savings account with us and get you one of these banks.

Today is a better day to start than tomorrow.

Accounts may be opened and deposits received by mail

Deposits go on interest the 20th of each month

BOSTON PENNY SAVINGS BANK

FREDERICK H. BRIGGS, President

1365-1375 WASHINGTON STREET at Cathedral Square

Hours 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Daily. Saturdays, 9 A. M., to 12 M. and for Deposits, 5 to 8 P. M.

RADIO PROGRAMS

LOCAL STATIONS

WNAC—Boston—430

6:00 P. M.—The Sailors.
6:30 P. M.—Dinner dance, Statlerites.
7:00 P. M.—Shepard dinner dance.
7:41 P. M.—The Lady of the Ivories.
7:50 P. M.—Safetylite.
8:00 P. M.—Program arranged by J. K. Murray.
8:30 P. M.—Jersey Joe-Jacco.
9:00 P. M.—Norwegian Hour.
10:05 P. M.—Dance music, Karl Rohde's Orchestra.

WEDNESDAY A. M. PROGRAM
10:30 A. M.—WNAC Women's Club.
12:00 Noon—Shepard luncheon concert.

WEEI—Boston—349

6:00 P. M.—Sherr barnes, comedy act.
6:30 P. M.—News dispatches.
6:45 P. M.—Highway bulletin.
6:45 P. M.—Big Brother Club, musical competitions.
7:30 P. M.—Interecollegiate broadcast, H. A. Garfield, President of Williams College.
7:45 P. M.—Masterpieces pianist.
8:00 P. M.—Orchestra Trio.
8:30 P. M.—Physical culture.
8:45 P. M.—Songs by Dolan, tenor.
9:00 P. M.—From New York, Brevosty hour.
10:00 P. M.—From New York, auction bridge game.
10:30 P. M.—News dispatches.
10:40 P. M.—Forecast and weather.

WEDNESDAY A. M. PROGRAM
6:45 A. M.—Health exercises.
7:00 A. M.—Morning watch.
10:00 A. M.—Anne Bradford's Half Hour for Home Makers.
10:30 A. M.—Shopping service.
10:50 A. M.—The Friendly Maids.
11:00 A. M.—Spring Cleaning, Marjorie Mills.
11:45 A. M.—Time and news.

WBZ—Springfield—333

7:00 P. M.—Bert Dolan's Musical Mirth Hour.
7:30 P. M.—Lords Minstrels.
8:00 P. M.—George Olsen's Stromberg Carlson Orchestra.
9:00 P. M.—Virginia Institute Glee Club.
10:00 P. M.—College Glee Club.
10:30 P. M.—Piano recital.
10:45 P. M.—"Tippie Pete," Frank Owens.
11:00 P. M.—Burt Lowe and his Hotel Statler Orchestra.
11:30 P. M.—Weather; missing persons.

OUTSIDE STATIONS

Numerals on left indicate wavelength; numerals on right are relegan from Boston.

325—WAAT—JERSEY CITY—900
6:15 P. M.—Thomas Mercour Boys.
10:30 P. M.—Levin and Macpoon.
267.5—WIOD—MIAMI BEACH—1200
8:30 P. M.—Flamingo Orchestra.
9:45 P. M.—De Luxe Trio-accordeons.
11:30 P. M.—Bistic Club.
252—WOOD—NEWARK—890
9:00 P. M.—Sleepy Trent, soprano.
10:15 P. M.—Silvercup Orchestra.
250—WRVA—RICHMOND—440
9:00 P. M.—Thousand voice chorus.
10:00 P. M.—Odd Virginy.
252—WHAM—NEWARK—890
6:15 P. M.—"Fisherman's Luck."
10:00 P. M.—Capitol Stage music.
258—WMAK—BUFFALO—900
6:30 P. M.—Golden tenor.
10:30 P. M.—Commodore Orchestra.
12:00 Mid.—Polish recital.
278—WEEI—NEW YORK CITY—900
7:00 P. M.—Arnie Gerg's Dance Orchestra.
8:00 P. M.—Clarence Williams Trio.
270—WWJ—CLEVELAND—840
9:30 P. M.—Handel Wadsworth Studio.
10:00 P. M.—The Crystal Slipper.
270—WHAR—ATLANTIC CITY—890
8:00 P. M.—Seaside Hotel Trio.
277—WCAU—PHILADELPHIA—896
8:30 P. M.—Miller piano period.
10:30 P. M.—Calnay Tea Garden Orchestra.
12:00 Mid.—Club Normandie Revue.
256—WJZ—NEW YORK—860
9:00 P. M.—Alice Dovan, vocalist.
10:05 P. M.—Tillerary Orchestra.
250—WICC—BRIDGEPORT—1450
6:15 A. M.—Lenten services.
8:00 P. M.—Studio program.
9:15 P. M.—Saxophone Bachelors.
9:30 P. M.—Great Moments in History.
9:00 P. M.—Brevosty hour.
10:00 P. M.—Auction bridge game.
10:30 P. M.—Radio carnivals.
11:00-12:00 Mid.—Capitol Stage music.
405—WOR—NEWARK—309
6:15 P. M.—Rice Ice-Landers.
10:00 P. M.—Paul Largay, tenor.
11:30 P. M.—Vanderpil Orchestra.
455—WLW—CINCINNATI—326
9:00 P. M.—Five Fifties Orchestra.
9:00 P. M.—Concert orchestra.
429—WSB—ATLANTA—360
9:00 P. M.—Radio auction bridge.
10:45 P. M.—Capitol City Quartet.
447—WMAQ—CHICAGO—673
10:30 P. M.—Rosen Glee Club.
12:05 Mid.—Popular program.
NEW YORK—455
9:00 P. M.—Geo. Olsen, Stromberg Carlson music.
9:00 P. M.—Grand Opera program.
9:30 P. M.—Vathroom Attractive.
10:00 P. M.—Don Amalin, the wizard.
10:00 P. M.—Hotel Pennsylvania Orchestra.
526—WTI—PHILADELPHIA—880
6:15 P. M.—Mother Goose's News.
8:00 P. M.—Hotel Roosevelt Orchestra.
10:00 P. M.—"Auction Bridge."
468—WJAR—PROVIDENCE—80
8:00 P. M.—The Providence Trio.
8:30 P. M.—"Safety Talk."
8:35 P. M.—Tommy Martin, the Bozolino Boy.
6:15 P. M.—Benny Paris, banjo soloa.
9:00 P. M.—Brevosty hour.
10:00 P. M.—Auction Bridge game.
492—WBAP—NEW YORK CITY—606
8:00 P. M.—Whistler Wadsworth Orchestra.
3:30 P. M.—Great Moments in History.
9:00 P. M.—Brevosty hour.
10:00 P. M.—Auction bridge game.
10:30 P. M.—The Cavaleads.
11:00-12:00 Mid.—Hassan's Hoffman Orchestra.
508—WCSH—PORTLAND—1200
3:30 P. M.—Annelise hour.
8:30 P. M.—Garvice Boys.
10:20 P. M.—Wally Carlton and his music.
502—WIP—PHILADELPHIA—598
8:30 P. M.—Chamber music.
9:00 P. M.—Pennsylvania Male Quartet.
10:00 P. M.—Brevosty hour.
10:30 P. M.—Harry Macdonald Orchestra.
492—WHYC—NEW YORK CITY—606
9:00 P. M.—Musical program.
10:00 P. M.—Police news.

Radio Guessers

1.—When was the first photograph transmitted across the ocean by radio?
2.—What was the length of the first laboratory model of superheterodyne?
3.—Name the first two types of radiotrons.
4.—What is an "amateur" radio station?
5.—What "National" broadcast plays each Wednesday evening at 8:30 p. m.?
6.—"Dreamy Daddy" was made famous by radio from what city?

ANSWERS TO RADIO GUESSERS YESTERDAY

1.—First demonstration England, 1896.
2.—Havana, Cuba.
3.—WHAR.
4.—WEAF. Fridays, 7:30.
5.—500 kilocycles to 1,500 kilocycles.
6.—WEEI first went on the air in September, 1914.

SALLY SHOE SHOP
UP ONE FLIGHT
77 SUMMER ST., 2nd FLOOR, MERCHANTS BLDG., 77 SUMMER ST.

New Arrivals
Add Much to This Sale of Shoes

Plain and Combination
A Pair
$1.95
Mail Orders 20c Extra

Women and misses who appreciate quality and style in footwear at a low price, will find in this sale a wonderful buying opportunity. Splendid workmanship in styles for all occasions.

Included are Step-In Pumps, Strap Styles, Cut-out Oxfords, Colonial Pumps and others of patent and tan leathers. Black satin, colored leathers and those trimmed with cherry or parchment leathers—have high, Cuban or low heels. Sizes 3 to 8 in the lot.

RADIO DIALOG
by C. WILLIAM BARRY

LOOKING over the programs for this week looks like the League of Nations. Last night Roxy featured the Canadian, Douglass Stanbury from WBS-WJc. Then later on in the week when the United States Marine Band plays from Washington, the Canto Cubano, "Algun Dia" will be heard.

The Harvesters travelled over to China via WEEI last night, while the WEAF Opera Company presented "Pagliacci."

Tomorrow night WJAR will present from WEAF Jan Munkacsy from Erl Hungary. The Saxophone octette will feature the Quartette from Rigoletto, while Friday night will hear "O Sole Mio," via the WBZ "Royal Hour."

* * *

Our prize for last night's best individual number goes to the duet rendition of "Juanita," Mathew Dickinson and May Black Wells were listed as the performers although we did not catch the announcer's remarks.

Good words can also be said about the Ruud Light Opera hour from WBZ. If anyone is inclined to argue our selection of the best episode last night this operatic medley will furnish an excellent opportunity.

Signal strength was excellent last night, but static was very rumous of our programs and nerves. When we were down to the seashore last Summer we thought we liked the continual roaring of breakers against rocky shores. But now when the static sounds much the same we think it is all wet.

* * *

WJZ, WPG, KDKA, WBAL, WAAT, WABC, WCAU, WOI is our list of strong stations. KDKA was remarkably steady and the transmission seemed to have been cleaned with Lux, it was so clean.

* * *

Friday evening Messrs. Borah and Butler will broadcast an act from Symphony Hall via WNAC and WEAN. Mr. Borah will always be remembered for his connection with the last Converge and Mr. Butler is president of Columbia University and well known for some of his views on about everything ever discussed.

BRIDGE by RADIO

IN this Radio Bridge hand, Mr. Work opens the bidding with one spade; Mrs. Purdy says two hearts. Should Mr. Whitehead raise Mr. Work's spades or bid his diamonds? Has Miss Shelby a raise for hearts? How high does the bid go, and who wins it? Try this hand now, your own way; then tune in with

WEEI...10 to 10:30

and hear the experts bid and play the same cards. Don't miss this Radio Game if you need help on handling freak hands!

Milton C. Work, N. Y. Dealer. (S o u t h)— Spades A, K, Q, 4, 3. Hearts K, 8. Diamonds 10, 5, 2. Clubs A, Q, 6, 5.	Mrs. Guy U. Purdy, Omaha. (West)— Spades 10, 9, 8, 7, 6. Hearts A, Q, J, 10, 9. Diamonds none. Clubs K, J, 8.	Wilbur C. Whitehead. (North) —Spades J, 5, 3. Hearts 6, 5. Diamonds 4. Clubs K, Q, J, 8.	Miss Annie B. Shelby, Portland, Ore. (East) — Spades none. Hearts 2, 8. Diamonds 8, 7, 4, 3. Clubs 10, 7, 6.

Free—Correct Play of this Hand

Send your name and address, and we will send you a detailed report of this game as broadcast; also an announcement of the hands to be held in the next and final game of this series. Address Radio Station WEEI, Boston, Mass. 25

Which Question Are YOU Facing Today?

Riches—Fine Clothes—Social Position—Luxury? or Happiness—Contentment—Love—Freedom?

Do men really like "BOLD" girls?

Must she overstep the bounds of convention in these days of youthful sophistication to interest the man of her choice seriously?

Suppose you had fallen deeply and sincerely in love with a man you met at a party—would you think that wildness interested him? And would you be right if you led him to think you too were unconventional?

Read "Peggy Lane's" candid first-person account of her own experience—just one of twenty stories you'll find in May SMART SET.

But get your copy today.

Whatever it may be—

Only Life Itself Can Answer You

We learn to live by knowing how others have lived. We read biography, because it gives us the experiences of other people, a real glowing picture of their lives and times. Without it what would we know of Napoleon, Caesar, or any of the great men and women of history whose deeds have stimulated countless thousands to high achievement.

Here in SMART SET are the autobiographies of today, written by real people, out of their own lives. They tell how they have loved, hungered, suffered—and learned. And because you, today or tomorrow, may have to answer these questions life asks all of us, you will enjoy reading these vivid, real autobiographies of today by people of today.

If you loved a Man with a million SWEETHEARTS what would YOU do?

Suppose you were in love with a famous movie star and suddenly you learned he was to appear in person at your local theatre. It was your one opportunity to see and perhaps meet him.

So you took a desperate chance—you found yourself alone with him, and then—

Read the surprising story of a girl who met her ideal and what happened to her.

Every girl, every mother, every man will want to read her amazing revelation. It's called "I Lost My Head" and you'll find it in May SMART SET.

Vivid TRUE-LIFE features

INCLUDING—

Hunted Lovers
Astiring self-told romance of a girl who dared the dangers of the wild White North.

Second-Hand Husbands
Elinor Glyn, who thrilled the world with "Three Weeks" and "It," tells the dangers and attractions of divorced men as possible life mates.

Panther Woman or Wife?
Revealing the sinister, fascinating dangers that lurk for every man and woman in the land of the Lotus Flower.

My Bush-League Lover
A base-ball story as swift and thrilling as a big league game—with love and fame as the stake.

I Knew I Belonged To Him
Whether or not you believe in love at first sight, don't miss this vivid experience from real life.

Did I Marry My Mother-in-Law?
A troubled wife asks—and answers—a question that thousands of others are facing today.

SMART SET

True Stories from Real Life

MAY issue just out. Buy it now.

Win a prize—$100 for word makers

See how many words you can make out of the letters used in the title, "SMART SET." $50 in cash to the person who sends in the largest number of words—$25 for the second largest number of words—$10 for the third largest number and $1 to each of the next fifteen highest. Full details in May SMART SET. Here's lots of fun and the possibility of a prize. Get your SMART SET today.

MRS. HOWARD'S LOVE SUIT LOST

Madison, Wis., April 5 (A.P.).—The Supreme Court today held Mrs. Margaret Howard, first wife of John F. Howard, Haverhill, Mass., could not sue the estate of Mrs. Eleanor B. Phillip, Howard's second wife, to collect $125,000 damages for alienation of affections.

The first Mrs. Howard started suit for $125,000 in Milwaukee County Circuit Court, charging Mrs. Phillip, Milwaukee widow, had alienated the affections of her husband. While the suit was pending, Mrs. Phillip, who had married Howard, died.

Attorneys for Mrs. Margaret Howard filed an amended complaint naming Mrs. Emma Lonnberg, Cidago, executrix of the estate, as defendant. Counsel contended the damages might be collected from the estate. The contention was upheld in Circuit Court but reversed today by the Supreme Court.

Find Corpse Dangling Before Beauty in a Gilded Frame

New York, April 5 (I.N.S.).—Facing a portrait of a beautiful woman, the body of Ashton Tonge, fifty, was found hanging in his apartment today.

Police believe the woman in the picture is his wife. Tonge, thought to have been an actor, hung himself with a double cord from the transom between his bedroom and the library. A note addressed to Mrs. Lillian Brennard, an actress, with a road show playing today at Brattleboro, Vt., said:

"My brain has gone and I am hopeless. Please take over the place and take care of the gold fish."

FIND FAT MAN IS FAKE DOCTOR

Herbert C. Penney, 72, who weighs 373 pounds and was formerly a circus side-show fat man, was placed on probation in Suffolk Superior Criminal court, today, after he was found guilty of posing as a physician and advertising to cure disease.

Herbs, barks and roots were the ingredients of a concoction Penny is alleged to have sold as a potion that was good for almost any ailment.

Penny, despite his advanced years had been in court twice before, as a result of his delving into the practice of medicine. He told Judge Fosdick he did not know he was violating the law when he placed a placard on the window of his apartment announcing he could effect the cure of diseases.

Jordan Marsh Company

Values that will save you time and money--

Women's New

Rayon Knit Underthings

PEACH ORCHID WHITE NILE PINK

Sizes 36 to 42

Day by day in every way—Rayon Knit underwear grow lovelier and more practical! You will admire these garments for their fine, close knit; well made seams; full cut sizes; cæful reinforcements and exquisite pastel tints

Vests	Step-ins	Blooners
75c	1.10	1.25

Rayon Knit Underwear Section, Fourth Floor, Main Store

The French Way to Smooth Skin

Fastidious and oh, so beauty-wise, the land of France developed her famous method of making fine toilet soap. For she knew the skin itself must be smooth, exquisite!

By this treasured French method Lux Toilet Soap is made! The firm, satiny cake, the caressing, fragrant lather, the smooth feeling of loveliness afterwards—Lux Toilet Soap gives you all the things you so adored costly imported soap for. It tends your skin the true French way. And the white generous cake is just ten cents. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

HD

LUX TOILET SOAP

10¢

"Who's Who in the Movies" Test

Name the Player Whose Face Is Missing
Name the Movie From Which the Scene Is Taken

No. 14 Mr. Jack Mulhall's name comes to your lips at once, as you study this one, but our concern is with the identity of the lady. Who is she? You might have seen the picture last December, at the Metropolitan.

Name of Player_____

Name of Motion Picture_____

Name of Contestant_____

Street and Number_____

Town or City_____ State_____

Film Titles and Players

In this list can be found the title of today's Test Picture.

American. Oh, Baby. Battling Butler. Son Sur. The Big Parade. The Black Pirate. Brawn of the North. Brown of Harvard. The Ace of Cads. The Canadian. The Covered Wagon. The Devil's Circus. Diplomacy. The Flaming Forest. God Gave Me Twenty Cents. What Price Glory ft. Don Juan. The Kid Brother. Little Old New York. Long Live the King. The Lunatic at Large. The Night Cry Peter Pan. The Potters. The Perfect Sap. The Silent Lover. Sunnyside. The Temptress. Tin Hats. Torrent. Tramp, Tramp, Tramp. The Untamed Lady. Upstage. Way Down East. We're in the Navy Now.

In this list can be found the name of the player whose face has been painted out of today's Picture,

Renee Adoree, Mary Astor, Lionel Barrymore, Wallace Beery, Clara Bow, Mary Brian, Betty Bronson, Charlie Chaplin, Jackie Coogan, Marion Davies, Dolores Del Rio, Leon Errol, Douglas Fairbanks, W. C. Fields, Greta Garbo, John Gilbert, Lillian Gish, Neil Hamilton, Buster Keaton, Madge Kennedy, Harry Langdon, Harold Lloyd, Ben Lyon, Thomas Meighan, Adolph Menjou, Ada Mercan, Conrad Nagel, Ramon Novarro, Rin-Tin-Tin, Oscar Shaw, Norma Shearer, Milton Sills, Strongheart, Gloria Swanson, Blanche Sweet, Lois Wilson.

THE PRIZES

FIRST PRIZE—Twenty-four days' tour of the Golden Caribbean for two on one of the ships of the United Fruit Company's Great White Fleet, leaving for Cuba and Central America about the middle of May.

SECOND PRIZE—A Ford sedan, of the very latest type.

THIRD PRIZE—Factory-built Browning-Drake radio set. Famous for long-distance reception. With Northeast "A" power unit.

FOURTH PRIZE—Gray Line three-day tour of the Maine beaches and the White Mountains of New Hampshire. Starting points, Copley-Plaza Hotel and Hotel Statler.

FIFTH PRIZE—Season ticket to the beautiful Metropolitan Theatre, one of the show places of Boston.

SIXTH PRIZE—Season ticket to Loew's State Theatre, Massachusetts Avenue, near Boylston Street, one of a nation-wide chain of motion picture palaces.

SEVENTH PRIZE—Season ticket to Loew's Orpheum Theatre, on Washington and Tremont Streets in the heart of the down-town shopping district.

Rules of Movie Test

THE Boston American will publish twenty-four scenes (one a day) from different motion pictures. The face or head of one of the players in the picture will be missing. Fill in the coupon under the picture with the name of the missing player and of the picture.

Awards will be made to the seven persons who send in complete sets of the twenty-four scenes, naming correctly or most nearly correctly the missing players and the plays.

A contestant must write a short letter, giving the name of his or her favorite moving picture and why. The logic of this letter will be reckoned by the judges.

Employes of this and affiliated newspapers and persons affiliated with the moving picture business are barred from this competition.

The judges shall be named by the Managing Editor of this newspaper. Their decision shall be final.

Contestants may submit as many sets of answers as they wish.

Hold your pictures until the whole twenty-four have been printed. Then mail your answers and your letter to Contest Editor, Boston Evening American, P. O. Box 110, Boston, Mass. All sets must be in the office of the Contest Editor before midnight, April 21. No sets will be returned.

HE REFUSES SALARY OF $250,000; BELIEVE IT?

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—Who would refuse a salary of a quarter of a million a year, plus? Well, a nationally prominent business executive, not otherwise identified, did so.

In addition to salary he was offered a share in the profits of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company in 1921, it was testified by Robert T. Swaine, lawyer, in litigation over the company's affairs.

Vanderbilt Mansion Changes Hands

The house of Mrs. Virginia Fair Vanderbilt, wife of William K. Vanderbilt, 2nd, has been sold to an unnamed buyer for $1,500,000, it was announced.

This is the fourth mansion to be sold out of the Vanderbilt families for a total of $16,500,000.

Mr. W. Butters of 779 Cambridge street, Cambridge, has also sold four houses within the last few months to readers of Boston's largest circulated newspapers, American and Advertiser. Mr. Butters uses the Classified Columns of these newspapers to advertise his houses for sale and has always been successful in disposing of them quickly.

For quick action—telephone your Classified Ads to Liberty 4000.

Look Here!

1923 Bay State Sedan for Sale

This car worth $700, our price $350; paint, tires, upholstery and mechanical condition exceptionally good. See Classification 150. Today's Classified Ads.

Dining Set for Sale

Oak sideboard, extension table, 6 chairs, excellent condition. See Classification 110. Today's Classified Ads.

Unfurnished Apartment in Roxbury

Four light, sunny rooms, nicely furnished, all improvements. See Classification 97. Today's Classified Ads.

(For the names and addresses of the above advertisers and scores of other opportunities, see today's Advertiser and American Classified Ads on the next-to-the-last pages of this newspaper.)

R.H.White Co.

Mail Orders Filled—Boston 8 Telephone Orders Filled—Hancock 4100

Wednesday and Thursday

Platinum and Dyed Wolf Scarfs $25.00

2nd Floor

Wednesday and Thursday

Women's New Spring Coats $31.25

Model sketched is in black kashmir with rolling collar of moire silk, moire bow on shoulder, diagonal tucking in the back.

Other models in black and natural kashmir, some with moire trimmings and bows. Seven different models.

2nd Floor

Wednesday and Thursday

Junior Deb's Silk Dresses $10.94

Tailored and fancy styles. Model sketched in navy crepe with Dresden band trimming.

In green, red, queen blue, roseleaf and navy.

Sizes 13, 15, 17.

2nd Floor

Wednesday and Thursday

Slip-Over Garment Shields 58c Each

For dresses.

Street Floor

Wednesday and Thursday

Fine Weave Fibre Doll Carriage with Roll Edge Hood $3.75

Adjustable reclining back, large roomy body, 19 inches over all by 9 inches wide. Steel running gear with 7-inch rubber tired wheels. Back and hood adjustable.

Toy Dept., Basement

Wednesday and Thursday

Men's Fruit of the Loom Night Shirts $1.29

V-neck style, sizes 15 to 20.

Street Floor

Wednesday and Thursday

Sterling Silver Handle Steak Sets $3.60

6-inch stainless steel blade with guard. May be used for steak or small roasts.

Walnut Room, Street Floor

Wednesday and Thursday

Men's Spring Topcoats $21.25

New Spring coats in plaids, herringbones, mixtures, new twists and smooth materials in grays, tans and browns.

Regular and short, sizes 34 to 42.

Men's Wool Knickers $5.12

New colors and patterns.

2nd Floor Mezzanine

Wednesday and Thursday

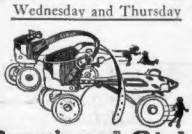
Boys' Juvenile Spring Topcoats $6.25

Double-breasted models, box back. Neat, durable shades for Spring and Summer.

Sizes 3½ to 10 years.

"Boys' Own Store," 2nd Floor

Wednesday and Thursday



Boys' and Girls' Ball Bearing Roller Skates $1.69

Adjustable to fit all sizes of shoes.

Street Floor

Wednesday and Thursday

Stamped Crepe Nightgowns 63c each

Hemstitched neck, simple design. Several attractive colors.

Stamped Unbleached Bed Spreads, $1.41 each

Crinkled or plain cloth with colored stripes. 2 designs.

Stamped Unbleached Muslin Luncheon Sets, 41c

Cloth and four napkins.

Street Floor

Wednesday and Thursday

Colored Rayon Spreads $2.57

Fine quality rayon and cotton colored stripe bed spreads, full size, extra long, requires no sham; the colors: Rose, blue, gold and green.

3rd Floor, South

Wednesday and Thursday

Axminster Rugs $2.45

Closely woven quality. Big assortment of Persian and Chinese designs. Many color combinations.

Size 27"x54".

3rd Floor

Forbidden Lips

By ROBERT TERRY SHANNON
AUTHOR OF "THE TAXI DANCER"

AUCTION BRIDGE

By WILBUR C. WHITEHEAD
The World's Greatest Authority

HAND NO. 32

THEY PLAY

Tricks	South	West	North	East	Won by N-S	Won by E-W
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13

Tens Won

(Bracket the card on each trick)

Declarer ..... Opponents .....

Point Score ....

Honor Score ....

THE BIDDING

South Bids	West Bids	North Bids	East Bids

Final Bid ..... Lead by .....

HAND NO. 31
The Correct Bids and Play
THE PLAY
(Bracketed card shows end to each trick)

Tricks	South	West	North	East	Won by N-S	Won by E-W
1	S2	(SQ)	SK	S3	1
2	CK	CQ	C2	C6	1
3	(CA)	S5	C4	C10	1
4	(SA)	S8	S9	S6	1
5	(H4)	HA	H2	H4		1
6	H3	(H10)	HK	H5	1
7	HQ	H9	(HJ)	H6	1
8	C3	S7	(C7)	CJ		1
9	D7	D5	(D4)	D1	1
10	(D2)	D8	DC	D9	1
11	D5	D10	(DA)	DQ	1
12	C8	S10	(D3)	H8	1
13	(C9)	S3	(C5)	S4	1

Total Tricks Won 11 2

Declarer ..... Opponents .....

Point Score ...30... .....

Honor Score ....30...

THE BIDDING

South Bids	West Bids	North Bids	East Bids
1C	1S	1NT	Pass
Pass	2S	3C	Pass
3 Pass	Pass

Final Bid 3 C. Played by South.

South is the dealer. What is the proper bidding and play?

Each day we shall publish a complete hand presented by Mr. Whitehead, together with a chart upon which the bidding and play may be noted.

Tomorrow we shall publish Mr. Whitehead's explanation of today's hand

Fill out your own chart and compare it tomorrow with Mr. Whitehead's method.

These hands must not be bid or played "Double Dummy," i. e., as though all four hands were exposed.

Yesterday's Hand as Played by Mr. Whitehead

SALIENT BIDDING POINTS.

Following West's Spade bid, North, though reasonably sure that game should be made with Clubs as trumps, bids No Trump rather than two Clubs, to show his partner a certain amount of distributed strength and at least one stopper in Spades. Although South also holds a sure stopper in Spades, his hand otherwise is so weak except in Clubs as not to warrant a bid of three No Trumps over his partner's assisting bid of three Clubs

SALIENT POINTS OF THE PLAY.

Trick 3. As the trumps fail to break, an easy game by merely leading top cards cannot be made. A trump trick has to be conceded, and the Ace of Hearts. The loss also of a Diamond trick would stop game. Therefore towards the prevention of such loss, the Declarer bends his subsequent efforts.

Trick 4. West has the choice here of two leads, a Diamond or a Heart. With nothing apparently to be gained by either lead, he continues with the Heart. At this point, South sees clearly that if East holds the Queen of Diamonds, a Diamond loss can be avoided by a strip and end-play, by eliminating the remaining Hearts from his own hand and Dummy, and throwing East in with a Club.

Trick 5. On East's Diamond lead, South plays the Jack, as his only chance for game lies in the possibility that East was compelled to lead away from the Queen of Diamonds or else to lead a suit that would permit of the Declarer's discarding a losing Diamond from one hand and trumping with the other. The Jack winning, the Declarer's strategy was rewarded by game

(Copyright, 1927, Bradie Syndicate, Inc.)

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN — SECOND SECTION

A HOME PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE WHO THINK

BOSTON, TUESDAY, APRIL 5, 1927

GIVES THE 'LIE' TO HOWARD

Slays Wife for Cash in Her Hose

HUSBAND CONFESSES KILLING

Fails to Get Money That He Thought His Helpmeet Was Concealing

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—The lure of a few hundred dollars which he believed his wife, Helen De Mars, sixty, had concealed in her stockings, caused Edward De Mars, fifty-eight, an odd-job man, to beat her to death with a hammer in their West First street apartment, he confessed today.

The body of the aged woman, with the head crushed, was found lying across the bed. Her stockings, in which she was accustomed to put money she collected from some 25 roomers in the house, were slit from the tops down.

Shortly after the body had been found by a roomer De Mars telephoned the house and asked to speak with his wife. A policeman answered the phone.

"Your wife is seriously ill," he told him. "Where are you?"

De Mars said he was downtown and the patrolman told him to come to the house at once. He arrived 1 minutes later and from then on was subjected to nine hours' constant questioning until he confessed to the murder.

De Mars said he found no money in his wife's stockings as he expected.

SMILES TELL GOOD TIME

WELLESLEY GIRLS BACK TO STUDY

Spring vacation over, Leonie Chandonnet of Manchester, N. H., at left, and Natalie Russ of Haverhill are seen sitting on a baggage truck at the Wellesley station, two of the students in the rush that kept trainmen busy today.

HOWARD IS LYING, SAYS GOODWIN

Registrar Demands Chance to Face the Chairman With Payroll Figures

Registrar Frank A Goodwin today branded as "a deliberate lie" the statement by Chairman Charles P. Howard of the commission on administration and finance that the employes' salary bill would add between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 to the public payroll.

In an open letter to the House Committee on Ways and Means, Goodwin demanded he and the personnel expert hired by the employes be given a chance to face Howard before the committee. He charged Howard's statement was given out "for political purposes to kill the bill."

"How any man holding a responsible position could send broadcast such a document is beyond me," he said. "It shows what the State employes have been up against for years."

QUOTES GOVERNOR.

Goodwin quoted from the Governor's budget recommendations to show the rough estimate of raising all employes' pay to the minimum of proposed salary levels was between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000.

"Your committee knows the Governor's estimate is correct and Howard's estimate was made for political purposes to try and kill the bill," he continued. "Your committee also knows the estimate of the Governor of $3,000,000 needs for twelve months, therefore in order to provide for salaries under the provisions of the bill, it would require only $450,000 for the six months from June 1 to end of the year."

"$150,000 NEEDED."

Goodwin pointed out that Representative Henry L. Shattuck, chairman of the ways and means committee, said $150,000 has been provided in the present budget already.

"Of course," said Goodwin, "that $600,000 means for twelve months and therefore there has been $300,000 already provided for salary increases for the rest of the year. It must be apparent to anyone that if the Governor is correct and Mr. Shattuck is correct, there will only be needed $150,000 further appropriation to take care of all State employes."

Peace Pact Signed

Rome, April 5 (I.N.S.)—A pact of friendship between Italy and Hungary was signed here today by Premier Mussolini of Italy and Count Bethlen, Premier of Hungary.

A Startling Serial Story of Love, Terror and the Night Clubs

Jacqueline Kay, nineteen, attractive and ambitious, comes to Boston from Houlton, Me., in search of a career. She has a splendid voice, but fails to obtain an engagement. She is sent by an agent to the Sea Shell, a cabaret of the better class. She and another girl are selected for a final try-out, and the girl tells Jacqueline that she has "It," the magic something that means success, but to watch her step. Julius Lupino, proprietor of the cabaret, arrives, and singling Jacqueline out at a glance, tells her to sing for him.

CHAPTER 2

JULIUS LUPINO held Jacqueline's hand a matter of seconds too long. Some power, radiating from his gigantic frame, seemed to hold Jacqueline in a startled paralysis; she tilted her head back slightly to look up at his rough-hewn features, his hard, closely-shaven face dominated by a blocky chin. About him there was nothing definite as to age; he was timeless, in the prime of life. Great powerful shoulders gave her a feeling of physical insignificance, yet his stomach was flat and his waist slender, as with very young men.

Suddenly he released her hand, and turned to the piano player.

"All right, Jerry. Play one of her songs."

The musician struck the keys, and with an eerie sensation around her heart, Jacqueline's voice guardedly melodious, began to flow with the melody of "Calling Me Home." Julius Lupino let himself down in a chair that creaked beneath his weight.

Clear to the end Jacqueline sang the song, her soprano voice gaining in power and confidence until she finished the beautiful number with a clear bell-like note that lingered clear and perfect in the stilled air.

"Come here and sit down," he told her. With one hand he pulled a loose chair up beside his own; he sat there compelling her to him with a crude, magnetic force that stirred instinctive resistance in every cell of Jacqueline's body. Nevertheless, slowly she advanced to the chair and sat down beside Julius Lupino. Briefly he heard the other girl sing.

"Come back and see me in a week. I think I can use you," he told the girl. "Yes, I'll have a place for you then."

Please turn to Page 12, Column 3.

U. S. JUDGE, FEARING JAIL BARS, CLOSES HIS COURT

Buffalo, N. Y., April 5 (A.P.).—, and await payment.

Civil term of Federal Court here was suddenly suspended today when Judge John R. Hazel learned that he was liable to "removal from office, imprisonment for one month and a fine of $100" for accepting volunteer jurors yesterday on condition that they would be paid at some future date.

Judge Hazel told thirty-six talesmen that they could choose between serving on a "deferred payment" plan or being discharged at once. Twenty-five volunteered to serve.

When court convened today Judge Hazel summoned all lawyers interested in pending cases and announced:

"Gentlemen, I am afraid we are barred by law from proceeding with our volunteer jurors. United States Attorney Templeton has directed my attention to a part of the statute that prohibits such action, and should I proceed in the face of it I might be removed from office and sent to jail. I have no desire to face any such issue."

Tonight's Radio Bridge Game

Mr. Milton C. Work, of New York, dealer, "South," holds:
Spades A K Q 4 2
Hearts K 5
Diamonds 10 3
Clubs A Q 6 5

Mrs. Guy U. Purdy, Omaha, Nebraska, "West," holds:
Spades 10 9 spot 7 6
Hearts A Q J 10 9
Diamonds None
Clubs K J 9

Wilbur C. Whitehead, Bridge Editor, Boston Evening American, "North," holds:
Spades J 5 3
Hearts 6 5
Diamonds A K Q J 9
Clubs 8 spot 3 2

Miss Annie B. Shelby, Portland, Oregon, "East," holds:
Spades None
Hearts 8 spot 7 4 3
Diamonds 8 spot 7 6 5 4 2
Clubs 10 7 4

HUNT FATHER OF 5 IN SHOOTING

Millbury, April 5 (A.P.).—Ralph Gallo, forty-two, father of five children, is being sought by State and local police for questioning in connection with an alleged attempt to kill members of Christopher Waitkus' family at Derby Pond.

Police allege Gallo went to the Waitkus home armed with a butcher knife and hurled large stones through windows, scattering glass over four sleeping children. Police allege he then went away, but returned with a double-barrelled shotgun and fired both barrels into the house. Nobody was injured.

Settle down to a home of your own. Ideal homes, ideal locations. Turn to Classified Ads and note the many substantial offerings. Classification 78.

SPRY AT 82, TO WED WOMAN, 47

Eighty-two years old and as "spry as ever," Michael Devlin of No. 112 Elm street, Charlestown, walked to the marriage registry at City Hall today and applied for a license to wed Bridget McNeeley, his 47-year-old sweetheart. He gave his occupation as upholsterer.

Miss McNeeley's address was given as the S. S. Cameronia. The Cameronia docked here yesterday. As soon as he had filled out the application Devlin left the Hall. It was later learned that additional information concerning the bride-to-be must be in the application before a license is granted.

Students Flock Back as Vacation Ends

Back over the rails to school the Spring vacationing students came today, all rested and refreshed and eager for June when the next and longer vacation comes.

The trainmen had a rather exciting day of it, what with the fluttering femininity returning to Wellesley and Mt. Holyoke and Smith and Walnut Hill School and the myriad other institutions of learning.

Of course there were male students, too, but those were merely incidental, like bridegrooms.

An entire special train carried one battalion of Wellesley College young ladies from New York to the hills along the marathon road, the train clicking over the rails with no stops excepting those necessary in its operation.

This train left Gotham at 12.35 a. m. and reached Wellesley at 8.50, with most of the girls somewhat sleepy, through having chatted for the greater part of the night.

Two extra "collegiate" sleepers were on the Buffalo Express, eastbound in Boston at 6.40. The sleepers were for Mt. Holyoke students.

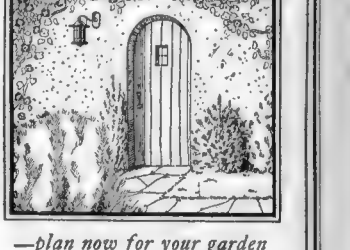
On the western express arriving in Boston at 10.55 was one extra car from Buffalo, two from Cleveland, one from Rochester and one from Chicago while the Southwestern Limited carried two extra sleepers from St. Louis and two from Cincinnati, according to Boston & Albany Railroad officials.

FERDINAND HAS RELAPSE, HEART ACTION FAILING

Berlin, April 5 (I.N.S.)—King Ferdinand has suffered a relapse and is again at death's door, according to reports from Bucharest today.

The King is in a coma, it is reported, and physicians are administering oxygen. His heart action is gradually failing.

Jordan Marsh Company



—plan now for your garden

Hardy Shrubs

Hydrangea, Spiraea, Lilac, Snowball, Bignonia, Clematis, Wistaria

at 35c each

Rose Bushes

American Beauty, Black Prince, Ulrich Brunner, Sunburst, White Dorothy Perkins, Killarney, Ophelia, General Jack, Ramblers, Albert Colomb, Red Radiance, George Dickson and many others

at 35c each

California Privet hedge.....100 for 3.00
Japanese Barberry hedge.....100 for 20.00
Peonies, 3 colors.....ea. 35c

Phlox, Hollyhocks, Coreopsis, Canterbury Bells, Hardy Chrysanthemum.....ea. 20c

Third Floor of the Annex

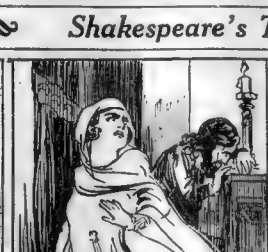
Macbeth Spurred to Slay Shakespeare's Tragedy of Ambition

"Stars, hide your fires; Let not light see my black and deep desires."

Macbeth, arriving home, told his wife that King Duncan was following to spend the night with them. Lady Macbeth urged her husband to murder the King, so that Macbeth, his victories warm upon him, might be made king.

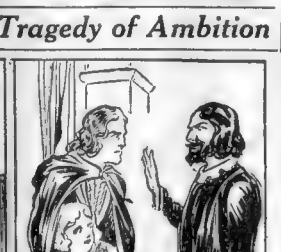
"Bear welcome in your eye, your hand, your tongue; Look like the innocent flower, but be the serpent."

King Duncan, with his nobles, arrived at Macbeth's castle. Lady Macbeth greeted the King warmly and thanked him prettily for the honors that he had heaped upon her husband.



"Prithee, peace! I dare do all That may become a man. Who dares do more, is none."

Revolting from the thought of murdering his sovereign, Macbeth was spurred on to the bloody deed by his wife, who threatened to commit the crime herself if her husband refused and was afraid of blood.



"Away, and mock the time with fairest show; False face must hide what false heart doth know."

Banquo, worrying over the witches' prophecy that Macbeth should be king, was afraid harm would come to King Duncan. When Macbeth assured him that all was well, Banquo, with his son, Fleance, retired for the night.

STAGE SCREEN MUSIC

BERTHA KALICH IN 'MAGDA' AT PLYMOUTH

ish strong reinforcement for the ding career of the serious drama Bertha Kalich brought her revival Sudermann's "Magda" to the mouth last night and was greeted more spirited applause than has served that playhouse in many a

It was an evening of easy conal, for, in tracing the course of Sudermann's restive and rebellious hild the star applied practiced hands to a task that has long since been brought to a perfection.

Like many another robust play of a past generation "Magda" will not down with the passing years and, be similar revivals of the season have proved, the dust of time is ly a long way from closing over it in spite of the unmistakable marks st age.

MAGDA'S MUTINY.

It was not entirely necessary for the spectator's enjoyment of last night's performance to project himself into the head of the author. The spectacle of prodigal daughters throwing off the yoke of parental restraint, drinking deeply of life "on their own" and then returning to shock the home folks has a since become familiar to current dramaturgy. If anything, Magda's mutiny against hide-bound family traditions draws a readier sympathy today; surely she is far less fractious in the light of twentieth century standards.

Nevertheless, unless one musters a grain or two of sympathy for the wrong-headed father as well, this stern martinet becomes little more than a blundering old fossil, a villain somebody to hate—and that is not exactly what Sudermann had in mind. That would be melodrama, something for the movies to bite into.

SPIRITED PERFORMANCE.

Although the nature of the performance left matters pretty much to the star, there were other sterling portrayals in evidence, among them, Hedley, stern Edward Fielding in the role of the father, Louise Muldener as his elderly wife, and Leonard Mudie in the character of the pastor, the only one who seemed to understand both parent and child.

Whatever your viewpoint, "Magda" offers gripping entertainment, especially if you seriously take alarm the spirit of the time and place Sudermann described; for, if you do, you will come very convinced that the author has offered the essence of the drama—conflict between opposing ideas, each with its own justification.

OUT IN THE COLD

TWO LOVE BIRDS

In "The Red Mill," coming next week to Loew's State, Marion Davies and Owen Moore taste a sip of love's misery when a severe Dutch Uncle forbids them the house.

'FIRE BRIGADE' AT ORPHEUM

"The Fire Brigade," co-starring Charles Ray and May McAvoy, is the screen feature at Loew's Orpheum. It unfolds stirring scenes of mother devotion to the heroism of her fire-fighting family, tender episodes of love and romance, and the most thrilling and exciting fire scenes ever screened.

This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer epic is a graphic description of the life and hardships of a family of "smokeeaters." Charles Ray portrays the youngest of the family in the character of a rookie fireman who falls in love with the daughter of a prominent citizen. Ray wins the favor of his chief party by saving a band of dishonest building contractors, and then sells it a day after becoming the idol of a realistic fire alarm fire. Included in the cast are Bert Woodruff, Eugenie Besserer, Tom O'Brien and Gloria Herbert.

Aunt Jemima, the original "pan cake" lady, headlines an entertaining vaudeville program with a number of Southern melodies.

MISS SEELEY AT KEITH'S

Blossom Seeley, whose only failure on the stage was her effort to make an actor of her one-time husband, "Benny" Marquard, headlines a bill of unusual excellence at B. F. Keith's this week.

Miss Seeley is known as "The Girl Who Glorifies Syncopation" and in her latest act she displays the same dynamic personality that has made her a vaudeville favorite for seasons almost without number.

Miss Seeley is supported by three clever gentlemen, including Benny Fields, whose specialty is darktown songs. Charles Bourne and Phil Ellis complete the quartette of funsters.

A tragedy on the old time variety show with Charles Withers in the title role is a new and hilarious presentation that scored big with the opening audience. The title of the act is "Withers' Opry," and the number is an entire show in itself. There is the village band with its slightly discordant overture and then there is the feature picture, "The Blacksmith's Daughter." Toonerville Center's champion magician "struts" his audience with unexpected feats of legerdemain and a good time generally is had by all, including the audience on both sides of the footlights.

Some brand new jokes are sprung by Moss & Frye, darker comedians of more than usual ability, while a clever dancing act, headed by Helen Rigsbee, won merited appreciation from the audience.

RUBBER COAST DRAMA AT GAYETY

The sun-baked drama returns with fresh fervor to Boston.

After a long first-run at prevailing tariffs and subsequent appearances for variety's sake on the weekly changes of local burlesque houses, it now comes back stronger than ever to the Gayety for an extended period at prices aimed to please.

Turning its attention to the problems among the lonely white traders of the African rubber coast, it provides plenty of excitement for the addicted drama lover's performance.

The scene is laid in one of the most unbearable climates known. Besides the stifling heat of the place the terrain lies so low on the seaboard that the excessive humidity causes dampness to every material thing. It is especially ruinous to the health of white men.

A young man, fresh from the refinements of London, is told off to the place. On his arrival the few white inhabitants predict that he will succumb to the lure of liquor—or go mad. How the newcomer first resists and then falls by the wayside furnishes the high spots in the action.

An excellent cast, comparable to many of the best "legitimate" companies, has been assembled for the production. Joseph Forte plays the harassed chap who finds the going so tough in the jungle, and he plays him sincerely and effectively.

The dark-hued "Tondeleyo," principal native siren, is in the hands of Christine Cooper. Robert Burns and Marvin Morris have the other principal roles and they enact them with great skill and gusto.

BOSTON STOCK SOCIETY IN ORIGINAL PLAY

The humdrum interior of a dining room in a typical flat of a Boston suburb supplies the locale for most of the action in "Anna Marie," a play by Edward Massey, produced under his direction for the first time by the Boston Stock Society at the Copley Theatre.

The plot is exceedingly simple, without pretense of originality. Apparently the author was content to inject his characters into certain very common situations, and then allow them to act naturally. And he succeeded admirably in his purpose.

Muriel Kirkland played the leading role with exceptional conviction, portraying with great skill a flighty girl who, in shelving her own unfortunate marriage, brings up an ungrateful daughter, and finally rebels. Hermie Morris made a most natural and lovable husband, and Margaret Effinger, as Mrs. Finney, the neighbor, was real flesh and blood. Doris Sanger was at her best when she made her first appearance as the young girl.

Tiny ads enjoy a car. Buy one for your family now. Look in Classified Ads and make your choice. Classified section 150.

Tropical Siren

CHRISTINE COOPER
Appears as the sinuous "Tondeleyo" in "White Cargo" at the Gayety.

Coming Events

Thomas Meighan in "Blind Alleys" will be the next film attraction at the "Met," starting Saturday.

Fred and Dorothy Stone in "Criss Cross" will occupy the Colonial for an extended engagement, starting next Monday.

Marion Davies in "The Red Mill" is announced as the film feature at Loew's State, starting next Monday.

The Gilbert and Sullivan Opera will come to the Plymouth, starting Saturday, April 16, in revivals of "The Pirates of Penzance" and "Iolanthe."

"Yes, Yes, Yvette," will be the next attraction at the Wilbur, opening Thursday, April 14.

Pickwick," drawn from the famous Pickwick tales of Dickens, will be presented at the Majestic on Monday, April 18.

"The Constant Nymph" will move into the Hollis on Monday, April 18.

"Oh, Please," with Charles Winninger and Beatrice Lillie, will take the stage at the Tremont on Monday, April 18.

Week's Features

WALDRON'S CASINO—(Burlesque) "Hitting" Billy Watson and his "Fun Show," with Peggy Mayo and Benny Platt.

HOWARD—(Burlesque) "Nite Life in Paris" revue with Charles McNally and Ruby Wallace.

BOWDOIN SQUARE—George Sidney in "The Auctioneer," and Francis McDonald in "The Deacon's Toll"

VERNE NOVEL ON FILM AT STATE

Jules Verne's "Michael Strogoff," one of the most thrilling novels ever written, now appears in film form at Loew's State.

The picture was made in Russia, its original locale, was produced by a French film company and boasts some of the best European actors in the cinema.

The plot recounts the adventures of a Russian army officer in carrying a message through many miles of perilous territory infested with savage hordes of Tartars with whom the Tsar was at war.

Besides the gripping interest of the action there are some of the most lavish scenes ever put to film. A grand ball at the imperial Palace distinguishes the earlier sequences, and the barbaric scenes of the Tartars furnish the pageantry in the latter episodes. Both of these sections of the picture are done in color.

The principal roles are taken by Ivan Mosjoukine and Nathalie de Kovanko. V. Tourjansky directed.

On the State stage, Duke Yellman and his WEAF orchestra hold sway. This organization was one of Roxy's Gang and is a prolific maker of phonograph records.

As an adjunct to the band, Ruth Pearsall, accomplished dancer, steps out with a nifty routine of Black Bottom shuffling. For novelty, the Griffith Twins of vaudeville fame, the Denishawns, present classic dances with all the technique of the masters in the art of Terpsichore.

RICH COMEDY AT ST. JAMES

A luxury loving wife gets her shipping clerk husband in the usual tangle of difficulties in the St. James stock company presentation this week of "I Was Rich," a play by William Anthony McGuire.

The shipping clerk, played by Day Manson, enters society by means of a ruse suggested by his wife, Kathleen Wallace. Here in the four hundred class, the "crashers" find that the set they have entered is just as much financially embarrassed as they are.

The shipping clerk's employer finally comes to the rescue, and the rich is contented with her humble surroundings at the finale.

Walter Gilbert and Florence Shirley are again mated as a pair in love and they turn in an excellent performance. As the cranky boss, who turns out to be an "angel," William Gerald had a strong part. John Winthrop, Charles Schofield and Frank Charlton also pleased in their roles.

Classified Ads bring you real OPPORTUNITIES in used car bargains. Before you buy see the Autos for Sale Columns. Classification 150.

Famous Players Star to Make English Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,
Universal Service Motion Picture Editor.

LOS ANGELES, April 5.—George Pearson, who traveled all the way from merry England to find a leading woman for Sir Harry Lauder in "Huntingtower," has made his selection. After looking the Famous Players-Lasky beauties over, Mr. Pearson set his heart on Vera Voronina, the blonde Russian beauty recently imported here by Famous.

The rise of Miss Voronina has been rapid, I might say spectacular. Along with some of the other foreign accents which now populate the Hollywood studios she has been most successful. She played only a small part and registered so well that she was cast as Raymond Griffith's leading woman in "Drying for Love."

She leaves Hollywood May 15, going directly to London, where she will join the Lauder company and begin work not later than June 1. "Huntingtower" may open the Paramount studios at Islington, England, although this plant was always a white elephant and financially a loss.

If Miss Voronina films as well as they claim at Paramount, Greta Garbo has a rival.

Sally O'Neill

THERE IS PRIDE IN THE EYE OF SALLY O'NEILL when she tells you about her sister, Molly O'Day. Molly is Richard Barthelmess' leading woman in "The Patent Leather Kid" and there is much reason to believe that she will again be nominated for that role in "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," which is Dixie's next for First National.

Molly inherits the charm and the Irish type of beauty that has made Sally so popular wherever her pictures are shown.

ONE OF THE FINEST BITS OF ACTING I have ever seen in rehearsal is acted in "The Trail of '98," by a man named Lenore Holte. I questioned Clarence Brown and he tells me that Mr. Holte comes from the Jewish theatre and is a comedian of many years' standing.

I'd like to call other producers' attention to him but I hear he is under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

WITH "THE TRAIL OF '98" just started it seems a long way off to talk about Clarence Brown's next, yet the wheels of progress must go on. Consequently he has already made his selection.

He will direct "The Diary of an Unknown Aviator" called "War Birds," a short story which appeared in a current magazine. It will be a spectacular war drama and it is the purpose of M. G. M. to give the air service the sort of break the army had in "The Big Parade."

SOUSA IS NOVELIST AS WELL AS COMPOSER

John Philip Sousa is this year celebrating his 50th anniversary as a composer and band master. The world at large knows Sousa, who appears with his band at the Metropolitan next week, as the "March King," but his marches—he has published 135—represent merely a small share of his labors.

Lieutenant Commander Sousa is a novelist as well. He has written three successful novels, "Pipetown Sandy," "The Transit of Venus" and "The Fifth String," to say nothing of his recent autobiography, "Keeping Time." Not content with marches and novels, Sousa has also composed six operas.

MOSCOW THEATRE HABIMA IN BOSTON

An extraordinary event of the current dramatic season takes place in Boston when the Habima Grand Opera House, when the Moscow Theatre Habima presents the first of a group of four plays.

The introductory bill of the first visit to Boston of this band of players will be "The Dybbuk," to be given in three acts, with text by L. Lavick, and music by M. A. Milner. The bill will be repeated on Friday night. The remainder of the repertoire follows: Saturday matinee, "Jacob David and Christina"; Saturday night, "The Dybbuk," and Sunday night, "The Eternal Jew."

Amusements

GAYETY
WASHINGTON ST. Near BOYLSTON TWICE DAILY 2:10 & 8:10
Earl Carroll's DYNAMIC SENSATION OF THREE CONTINENTS
WHITE CARGO
By LEON GORDON
Based on the novel "HELL'S PLAYGROUND" by IDA VERA SIMONTON
A VIVID DRAMA OF TROPICAL LOVE, PASSION and DESIRE!

Amusements

METROPOLITAN
A Pictorial Beauty Pageant
'Fashions for Women'
ESTHER RALSTON
RAYMOND HATTON
AUGMENTED BY A MAMMOTH STAGE & MUSICAL PROGRAM
John Murray Anderson's Spectacular "MILADY'S PERFUMES"
Symphony of Beauty, Dance and Music
Glorifying Fifteenth Century Seventies
SIMOND and ALL STAR ENSEMBLE
4 Quarters of the Globe Pass in Review
Newest Scenic and Lighting Effects
DAVIES AND RICE BALLET—ALL BEST MUSIC
35¢ BEFORE 1 P. M. Take Advantage!

Amusements

COLONIAL EVES. at 8 POP. MAT. TOM'W
LAST 7 TIMES
SAM H. HARRIS presents
The MARX BROTHERS in "The Cocoanuts"
Music and Lyrics by IRVING BERLIN
Book by GEORGE S. KAUFMAN and MORRIE RYSKIND
NEXT MON.—SEATS NOW
CHARLES DILLINGHAM Presents
FRED STONE DOROTHY STONE in CRISS CROSS

MODERN BEACON NETOCO
3 First Run Features Both Theatres
TOO MANY CROOKS
TOM MIX in "THE COLLEGIANS" and "CINDER PATH"

LOEW'S ORPHEUM
Continuous from 9 A. M.
Love—Mother Devotion—Heroism
The FIRE BRIGADE
With CHARLES RAY—MAY McAVOY
A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Picture
VAUDEVILLE HEADED BY AUNT JEMIMA
"The Flower of Vaudeville"
FEIN & TERRYTON 4 EL SCHICK & CO. in a Radio Revelry A Petite Musical Comedy
AND OTHERS
Evenings 25c 35c 50c 75c
Matinees 25c 35c 50c

LOEW'S STATE
CONTINUOUS FROM 12:30
First Time at Popular Prices
"MICHAEL STROGOFF"
A Love Story with Cast of 4000
DUKE YELLMAN'S
WEAF ORCHESTRA
GRIFFIN TWINS
DANCERS EXTRAORDINARY
VIEWS—ORGAN
Mats. 30c — Eves. 40c-50c

B.F.KEITH'S
At B. & S. P. M. Tel. HANcock 2710
BLOSSOM SEELEY
With BENNY FIELDS & CO., MOSS & FRYE, HELEN HIGGINS CO.
Harris, Lehman & Harris, Frank Farron, Cardini, Tony & Flo, Milton Dos
GAUTHIER'S FLEA CIRCUS
Next Week—Bill Robinson, Gary Rahm

KEITH-ALBEE BOSTON
Zane Grey's Most Thrilling Novel
"MYSTERIOUS RIDER"
Action—Romance—Thrills—Mystery
Big Cast Featuring JACK HOLT Paramount Star
Vaudeville: "DIANA," TRAMP, TRAMP, TRAMP," VIOLET & ARMAND, ARNAUT & BROS., Friend & Watson, Sun & Sands, La Toy & Rochelle.

PLYMOUTH EVES. at 8:00 POP. MAT. TOM'W
THIS WEEK ONLY
BERTHA KALICH
The Distinguished Artiste in Hermann Sudermann's Masterpiece
"MAGDA"

KEITH-ALBEE BOSTON
ST. JAMES THEATRE
Evs. 8:15. Mats. Tues., Thurs., Sat. 2:15
25c to $1. Mats. (Ex. Sat.) 50c-75c. Rsv. 50c
"If I Was Rich"
Seats on Sale at Gilchrist's, Jordan's & Shepard's

SHUBERT EVENINGS AT 8:00 POP. MAT. TOM'W
The RUSSIAN VAGABOND KING
"IF I WERE KING" IN NEW YORK COMPANY OF ITS FAVORITE PLAYERS, DIRECTION OF THE SHUBERTS
THREE MONTHS AT THE CASINO THEATRE

MAJESTIC TWICE DAILY
William Fox Presents the Motion Picture Classic
WHAT PRICE GLORY
LAST 2 WEEKS
Daily Mats. 50c-75c & $1.00
Every Night 75c & $1.00
SEE THE MARINES IN CHINA!

Tomorrow Eve.—Jordan Hall
MOI SEVITCH
RUSSIAN PIANIST (Mason & Hamlin)
Direction Aaron Richmond

BOWDOIN SQ. THEATRE
Sayre Crowhurst, 9 Vaudeville Acts, Dave Bolasco's "The Auctioneer," with George Sidney and Gareth Hughes, "The Deacon's Tollt," with Francis McDonald. Lee or Love in "Manicured," Next Week—Augusta Wade—Motion Picture Program.

COPLEY MAT. TODAY at 2:30 Evs. at 8:30
LAST PERFORMANCE
THE GHOST TRAIN
You'll Shiver with Chills and Rock with Laughter

WALDRON'S CASINO SLIDING BILLY WATSON GLORIOUS GIRLS

Howard Mile Life in Paris, Burlesque with Class. (Tryout) Return Lewis Show, chorus, vaudeville and films. Something doing 2 PM 2:15

Classified Ads bring you real OPPORTUNITIES in used car bargains. Before you buy see the Autos for Sale Columns. Classification 150.

Amusements

NEIGHBORHOOD THEATRES TONIGHT

ALLSTON
ALLSTON BRIGHTON Ave. Virginia Lee Corbin in "Driven From Home" Vera Reynolds in "Corporal Kate" Program Changes Wed
DAMBRIDGE
CENTRAL SQ. CAMBRIDGE Clara Bow, Esther Ralston in "Children of Divorce" Always Free Auto Vaudeville
HARVARD NORTH CAMBRIDGE Colleen Moore in "Orchids and Ermine" Eve. Rand. Keith Vaudeville in "RED SIGNALS"
UNIVERSITY PORTER-KEMBLE HARVARD SQ. Dolores Costello in "THE THIRD DEGREE" Douglas McLean in "LET IT RAIN"
CHELSEA
BROADWAY CHELSEA John Gilbert, Greta Garbo in "FLESH AND THE DEVIL"
OLYMPIA CHELSEA Colleen Moore in "Orchids and Ermine" Art Acord in "Lazy Lightning"
DORCHESTER
DORCHESTER THEATRE Pauline Frederick in "Josselyn's Wife" Lewis La Plante in "Poker Faces"
NETOCO FRANKLIN PARK Ray Mar & Co. in The Musical Comedy Hit, "The Bit Little Taylors" Big clever entertainment in Class One in "VOGUE"
STRAND UPHAM'S CORNER Lewis Ersel in "A Lunatic at Large" Vaudeville and Fashion Show
GODMAN'S DORCHESTER John Gilbert in "Flesh and the Devil" H. T. Kent Troupe in Clever Trick Cycling Scene
FIELD'S CORNER Jack Gilbert Greta Garbo in "Flesh and the Devil" Harrison Ford, Dustin Lowe in "Rubber Tires"
NETOCO MORTON THEATRE Richard Dix in "PARADISE FOR TWO" Pauline Starke in "FLOWER OF NIGHTHAWKS" Eve. Rels. Gertrude Astor's "FLASHES OF 1927"

JAMAICA PLAIN
EGLESTON BRANCH at Eglesston Sq. Emil Jannings in "FAUST" Warner Baxter in "THE ROAD TO HONOR" Charlie Chaplin in "SUNNYSIDE SWELL" Vaudeville Discovery Night
JAMAICA JAMAICA PLAIN Jack Gilbert, Greta Garbo in "Flesh and the Devil" Louis Lee, Harrison Ford in "Rubber Tires"
MALDEN
GRANADA MALDEN Dustin McLean in "Let It Rain" 3 Acts Vaudeville
STRAND MALDEN Charlie Murray, Claster Chaplin Comedy "McFADDEN'S FLATS" Alice Joyce in "THE PASSIONATE ADVENTURE"
MYSTIC MALDEN Edw. Everett Horton in "THE WAGGLE TOWN'S TALENT" Hope Hampton in "Lover's Island"
MEDFORD
FELLSWAY MEDFORD Mary Brian in Her Father Said NO" Alan B. Fraser in "The Call of the Wild"
ROSLINDALE
RIALTO ROSLINDALE John Gilbert, Greta Garbo in "FLESH AND THE DEVIL" Leatrice Joy, Clyde Cook in "MADAME BEHAVES" Wed. Eve. Discovery Nite & Acts Vaud.
ROXBURY
DUDLEY NEW DUDLEY Evelyn Brent in "Love's Greatest Mistake" Priscilla Dean in "West of Broadway"
REVOIL NETOCO Dolores Costello in "The Third Degree" "The Gorilla Hunt"
SOMERVILLE
STRAND THEATRE Conrad Nagle, Antonio Moreno in "Love's Blindness" Lew Cody in "For Alimony Only"
OLYMPIA OLYMPIA SQUARE Alice Joyce in "The Masked Bride" Ben Wilson in "Nobody Home" Eve. Stage Show
NETOCO SHAWMUT Richard Dix in "Paradise For Two" Ella Cinders in "While London Sleeps" "The Gobsquad" No. 3
GROVE HALL
NEW SHAWMUT NETOCO Richard Dix in "Paradise For Two" Ella Cinders in "While London Sleeps" "The Gobsquad" No. 3
SOUTH END
NATIONAL THEATRE TREMONT ST. Virginia Valli in "Marriage" Jack Mulhall in "Rough and Ready" Vaudeville, Eve. 15c & 25c

Advertise Your Wants in the Boston Evening American

BRUINS MUST GET BREAKS TO WIN TROPHY

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

SPEED, ACCURACY IN[illegible] NEWS THE DAY IT HAPPENS

Maloney Has Margin of 171 Over Sharkey in Battle of Ballots

Jim Maloney Wins.

Backed by a solid South Boston delegation, Dynamite Jim won the Boston Evening American voting contest, which gave the fans a chance to pick a winner in the coming Maloney-Sharkey bout at New York, May 19. Maloney's edge was very slight, his plurality being only 171 votes.

South Boston put their favorite son over. As the votes poured in from all over New England it was evident that Sharkey was the favorite in the outlying sections. Then came the big South Boston vote and Maloney was assured of victory.

Maloney's total was 2516 votes while Sharkey polled 2345 ballots. Thus the majority of New England fans pick Maloney to win the heavyweight classic at the Yankee stadium.

SHARKEY NOT WORRIED.

All of which isn't worrying Jack Sharkey. "Maloney won the voting contest all right" declared Jack. "Good luck to him. It'll be a different story when we get into the ring together at the Yankee Stadium. Don't be surprised if I knock Jim out."

Sharkey plans to begin light training Thursday. He will go into Kelley and Hayes' gymnasium and start limbering up. Jack will train every day until the first of May when he will move to Stillman's gymnasium in New York and settle down to real hard work for the coming fray.

Like Sharkey, Maloney will start training this week. He plans to do a little light work at Toland's gymnasium before moving to Long Branch, N. J. The Mayor of Long Branch has invited Jim to train at his camp there and the Dynamiter has accepted the invitation.

The contest proved that there's tremendous interest in the coming heavyweight battle. Maloney and Sharkey are no boxing in Boston these days, but the fans have used to watch the two big fellows in action at the Arena and at Mechanics building and will following them with keen interest.

From the heavy voting it is easy to understand why the winner of the coming bout will be the biggest man in Boston [illegible] circles since the days of the immortal John L. Sullivan.

LOCAL FANS FOR JIM.

The fans of Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, Rhode Island and Connecticut seem carried away with Sharkey's record, which includes a season's victory over Harry Wills here in Boston, Maloney's great personal popularity seems to have caused local fandom to go down the line for the smiling youth from South Boston.

Maloney will go into the coming battle knowing that his home folks are with him to a man, while Sharkey realizes that while the Dynamiter got more votes in the contest it was due chiefly to his South Boston following. Jack knows that his strength was scattered over much more territory than that of his rival.

It was no easy task to count the ballots that kept coming into the Evening American office. Scores of workers labored all day Sunday and part of yesterday before the result was known. Then it had to be rechecked to avoid any mistakes.

The final ballot shows Jim Maloney winning

With the final bell at the Yankee Stadium justify the result?

Sharkey	Round	Maloney
35	1	57
32	2	64
23	3	49
38	4	85
56	5	94
63	6	108
59	7	182
67	8	93
69	9	198
97	10	104
93	11	87
134	12	107
150	13	124
137	14	88
267	15	203
884	Decision	789
61	Draw	61
80	Foul	23
2345	Total	2516

MERMAID
Extraordinary is Corinne Dasey. She is a noted exhibition swimmer and diver and performs for the Boston Swimming Club.

Miss Corinne Dasey

Hornsby's Pay Only $30,000, Says Walsh

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

New York, April 5.—Rogers Hornsby is being affronted by the New York Giants with a salary of $30,000 a year, not the $40,000 that the fourth estate conceded him with magnificent abandon, it was learned today from a National League man who intimated that this fact would be used against Hornsby if he staggered into court under the weight of his financial cares.

It has been Hornsby's contention these many weeks that he didn't ask to be traded to the Giants and that, therefore, the National League is responsible for the fact that he happens to be a New York player and a St. Louis stockholder at one and the same time.

The league, my informant indicates, will counter with the claim that Hornsby must have asked to come to the Giants or else he would not have accepted a $30,000 contract which is $10,000 less than he got from the Cardinals last year.

The league, this man declares, will make it to refer disputes from Hornsby and, in it's own repeated story, to will, that Hornsby and the Cardinals and reached a parting of the ways by mutual consent.

"Hornsby was perfectly satisfied to go to the Giants and he proved it by signing for $20,000 less than Breadon offered him," my informant declared. "He knew when he signed the Giant contract that he had to get rid of his St. Louis stock before he could pay in New York. Any man knows that. Hornsby, who did he sell his stock to at $150 a share, a figure at which no one cares to do business with me?"

"It seems very simple to me. The stock has to go. The bidders won't meet the price set, so the price must meet the bidders."

Magnates to Discuss Stock Question Friday

New York, April 5 (Universal — When the National League holds its special business session at Pittsburgh, on Friday, to attempt to solve the Hornsby stock problem, neither Hornsby nor John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants, will be present, President Heydler of the National League declared.

President Heydler added that he hoped to issue a formal call for the meeting sometime today, but that he had postponed the announcement because some of the magnates had not yet indicated that they would be able to attend Friday, the tentative date set for the gathering.

Heydler would not make known any plans he might have in mind to bring about an agreement between Hornsby, who was offered a certain sum for his Cardinal stock, after Breadon had traded him to the New York Giants, refused and is holding out for $105 a share.

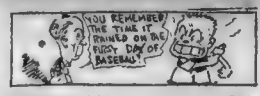
The league president hinted that the only solution lay in a compromise. He said "both sides must concede something. It is impossible for Hornsby to own stock in the Cardinals and play with the Giants. Yet no one has so far met his price. We certainly do not wish to move a man sell his stock except at his own price, yet Hornsby is primarily a ball player and some way must be found to protect him and the New York ball club, which obtained his services in good faith."

Voight Wins N.-S. Tourney

Pinehurst, N. C., April 5 (A.P.)—George Voigt, Washington amateur golfer, won the medalist prize in the [illegible] [illegible] tournament [illegible] today [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Basketball Reminds a Lot of People of the 5 O'Clock Whistle

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS



SPORTS

By NICK FLATLEY

These Are Golden Days
Winning Teams Profit
Boston Year in Sight

Ruth and Hornsby
Both Will Play
Pair Publicity Victims

THESE ARE BASEBALL'S GOLDEN DAYS

NOW and then magnates and old timers talk about the golden days of baseball. They refer to years past. They're all wrong. These are the real golden days. Here in Boston, we've sort of lost the viewpoint. Losing teams have wrecked the game's surest dollar mine. Native fans don't care. But they will, if they have the chance.

Nick Flatley

Things are different in other cities. Nowhere, except in Philadelphia, has there been a chronic loser. The Phillies fill that role, but their ball park is so small that it makes not the slightest difference.

In all other corners of the land, the baseball bugs can hardly wait until the gates are opened. The Yankees and Cardinals are both sold out for the opening game a week from today. So are the Senators, Tigers and White Sox. The American League teams that are not at home will play to capacity crowds when they get there, excepting the Red Sox.

Same thing holds in the National circuit. The Giants and the Reds locked the ticket windows a month ago. The Dodgers and the Pirates send in the same report for their first home games. The good, or fairly good teams, are sure of the training expenses, before they stagger into the real campaign.

This year, weather willing, the Boston teams will reap a golden harvest. Boston fans want to see Bill Carrigan. If the weather is just a few degrees away from zero, there will be a large mob at Fenway Park Friday, and a bigger one at the Wigwam Saturday.

Seems to be the general baseball belief that this is going to be a Boston year. The Braves knocked the pennant contenders around last September. The club played .600 baseball against the toughest opposition the National League could offer. The club is stronger this year.

The Red Sox have Bill Carrigan back, and that's all that any baseball man asks to help a ball club. It is decidedly up to Carrigan and Danny this Spring. If one delivers fairly well, the owner will forget the past few terribly expensive years. Two more flops, though, will mean changes. Two great sports—Bob Quinn and Judge Fuchs—have tossed away fortunes waiting for the breaks.

They must win this year, or go back to less precarious professions. According to the law of averages, both of them should start collecting ere 1927 swandives into history.

THESE BASEBALL RUMORS ARE MERELY BUNK

THE air, these days, is full of wild rumors. There's talk about Ruth's disregard of training laws. Columns are written about Hornsby's Cardinal stock. It's all the just-before-the-battle stuff. The wild reporters are cracking under the strain. They must have something sensational to chirp about, now that the holdouts have been pacified, and the various Spring heroes have been let out for experience.

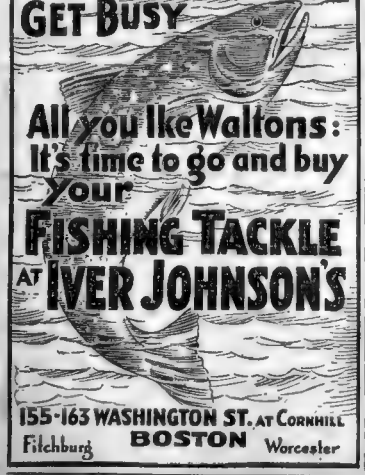
There is, each year, a lot of comment about Ruth's failure to obey rules. But the Babe has always delivered. He has his faults, and the smart officials of the Yankees laugh at them. They know the Bam will be in there when base hits count, for they realize that the Babe loves the game, and plays it for the kick he gets.

It's a mortal cinch that McGraw would not have tossed away Frisch and a bunch of money for Hornsby if he wasn't sure that the stock tangle would be ironed out. The great Rogers will start the season with the Giants, and the ballyhoo just now is merely being put over to make the St. Louis club come through on agreements that were made when the first successful Card manager was put on the market.

Ruth and Hornsby will both be in there when the big show starts a week from today. The two mean so much to baseball that there isn't a chance of trouble. The Spring explosion is merely the result of a campaign that will not end until one or the other proves, by slugging, that New York can have but one real hero.

DIVING COMPETITION IN REGIMENTAL MEET TODAY

The third annual Regimental Swimming meet of the Boston High Schools continues today at the Boston Y. M. C. A. pool. The diving competitions in the junior, intermediate and senior classes will be held. Tomorrow the meet will come to an end with breast stroke events and the relay races.



Indoor Sports — By TAD

WHAT CHA DOIN WIDDE GRAND OPENING SCENERY ON MATT ?
WELL THE OLD WOMAN SEZ I OUGHTA GIVE ME MOTHS SOME AIR, SO I GITS ME SELF HARNESSED UP
I'LL BET HE WAS BIT BY A DOGWOOD TREE
I'LL BET HE THINKS CORNS GROW ON A SHOE TREE
HES AS HAPPY AS A CAT AT A DOG SHOW IN THAT RIG
HE'D BETTER HUNT UP A FUNERAL LIKE OLD JOHNNY LOOKUP USED TO DO
HE LOOKS LIKE A BIG BUTTON HOLE IMPORTER
WHAT'LL WE DO WITH OUR CARROTS IF THEY EVER STOP MAKING SOUP ??
MOST OF IT'S THE BUNK
INDOOR SPORTS
KIDDING THE BIMBO WHO SHOWS UP AT THE RUBBER COLLAR MENS SMOKER
TAD
45

Sure Thing Boys Plan Big Bout Cleanup

By Jack Conway

"THE sure thing gamblers are planning to fatten their bank rolls by trimming the suckers when Jim Maloney and Jack Sharkey clash in their heavyweight battle at the Yankee Stadium on May 19," remarked Mr. Boston as he dropped in at the Sporting Department today.

The venerable citizen appeared much agitated. He had even neglected to light his black stogie. Instead he chewed away at the butt much like John L. Sullivan used to do.

"I just saw one of the sure thing gang ribbing up a sucker in Newspaper Row," resumed Mr. Boston. "The gambler bet even money on the contest. After the dough had been placed in the hands of a stakeholder, the sure thing bird said: 'Of course it is understood that in the event of a foul ALL BETS ARE OFF.' The poor fish with whom he was betting didn't seem to grasp the significance of this latter stipulation and said 'yes' with the same lack of spirit that most of us show when they are placing the matrimonial halter around our necks for the first time. He didn't know what it was all about.

Mr. Boston

"I later discovered that a clique of Boston gamblers is pulling gullible fight fans into their net and getting them to put up their dough with one of those 'BETS OFF IF THERE IS A FOUL' provisions.

"Don't you see, buddy, how they are placing the old insurance on their money. Of course if the bird whom they are betting on is a mile or so out front there isn't anything for them to be concerned with.

"There have been plenty of cases, though, of where a losing fighter has intentionally lost on a foul rather than have a decision rendered against him. It would be possible for the selection of the sure thing gang to have his head punched off for twelve or thirteen rounds and then automatically call off all bets by scoring with a low punch.

"PERSONALLY, I don't think that either Maloney or Sharkey would be a party to any wrong doing, but even if everything is strictly on the up and up the gamblers still have the chance of having their money saved by a ruling of a foul made by the referee.

"When Sharkey fought Willis, the Boston heavyweight cut the Brown Panther to ribbons. There was not any question as to who would get the decision if the mill had gone the full fifteen rounds. Willis repeatedly fouled Sharkey beginning with the eleventh round. Patsy Haley finally stepped in and gave Sharkey the bout on a foul in the thirteenth chapter. In New York, the professional betters usually insist that 'ALL BETS ARE OFF IN THE CASE OF A FOUL.' The result was that the New York bookies were saved about $100,000

"WHEN Maloney and Sharkey meet, you will witness an honest-to-goodness fight. I think Maloney would rather defeat Sharkey than conquer Tunney. And Jack feels much the same towards the Dynamiter. Each feels that the other is blocking his path to a Tunney bout.

"I imagine more money will be wagered on the outcome of this bout than on any heavyweight contest in the history of the ring. This is why I want everybody to be wised up to that little trick clause of the sure thing gamblers about 'ALL BETS OFF IF THERE IS A FOUL.'

"Good morning, gentlemen."

HIGH RIFLE SCORES MADE

Kingston, R. I., April 5.—The two rifle teams of the Rhode Island State College, competing in the national rifle meet for the William Randolph Hearst trophy ran up high scores at the indoor college range here.

Competing five members each the first team shot its way to a score of 904 out of a possible 1,000 and the second team totaled 874 out of 1,000. The instructor, C. E. Hammond, who painstakingly trained the riflemen for the competition was jubilant at the showing.

The individual marks for the shoot based on a total of 200 were: First Team—A. E. Manchester, 190; H. N. Armrust, 186; O. Harrington, 182; A. Leach, 180, and R. L. Fould, 185. Total, 904.

Second Team—R. Christopher, 179, C. H. Whittaker, 177; A. M. Anderson, 174; L. O. Robinson, 168, and H. M. Chase, 176. Total, 874.

Carpentier Would Fight Delaney

Paris, April 5 (A.P.)—Georges Carpentier is willing to fight Jack Delaney.

"I certainly will accept a bout with Jack Delaney," said Georges to L'Auto in reference to reports that Floyd Fitzsimmons of Chicago had made an offer to meet the light heavyweight champion.

"The fact that I am going to act in a music hall does not imply that I shall not box any more. Even if I succeed on the stage, I shall fight again. You may be certain of that. And my return to the ring will be in the United States next season."

The ex-champion recently has been busy rehearsing a song and dance act with Aileen Hamilton and Florence Walton in a new revue.

COACH GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE CAPTAIN

Stamford, Ct., April 5 (A.P.)—J. Howard McNamara, the 19-yearold captain of last Fall's Brunswick High school eleven, last night underwent a third blood transfusion operation in which Coach Herbert Heath gave nearly a quart of blood for his charge.

McNamara's illness has been diagnosed as leukaemia, a disease of the lymphatic glands, for which neither cause nor treatment is known.

He was injured in a football game last Fall and recently contracted grippe, the attack of leukaemia following.

Team mates have volunteered for future operations, already expected to be necessary.

Bowie Entries

WEDNESDAY, APRIL

FIRST RACE—$1,200; maiden 3-year-olds, [illegible] furlongs. [illegible] Lad 115, Algol 115, O'Dark 115, Mayfern 115.

SECOND RACE—$1,200; claiming, four-year-olds and up, [illegible] furlongs. Sol Lennox 112, Harry Lauder 112, Sheer 110, Kildare 110, Sportsite 110, Skeffington 112, Kiki 107, Lord Foote 112, Washington 112, Wild Sir 112.

THIRD RACE—$1,200; claiming, four-year-olds and up, [illegible] furlongs. Dust Brush 107, Silver Sword 111, Sky Pedicure 113, [illegible], Master 112, [illegible], Hope 111, [illegible], Sea Rose 112, Queen Nevare 112.

FOURTH RACE—$1,200; claiming, three-year-olds and up, [illegible] furlongs. Kate Dale, Sally 115, [illegible], Lone Star 112, Cactus Jr. 115, Star Mirth 107, Kindlin Lassie 107, Prince Pluvius 105, Quick Action 110, Sweeping Fire 105.

FIFTH RACE—$1,200; the Princeton Handicap, three-year-olds and one half furlongs. Rose 115, Sir Dan Forward 118, Artillerman 118, Tip Top 107, Compensate 110, Light View 98, Pleasant Day 110.

SIXTH RACE—$1,200; claiming, three-year-olds, one and 70 yards. Mayrodes 110, Tony 107, Lucy Lady 106, Jones 104, Queen Beads 110.

SEVENTH RACE—$1,200; claiming, four-year-olds and up, one and one-eighth miles. [illegible] Ferdinand 110, Sir Dan 107, [illegible] Sir Theodore 110, Officer 104, Fag 109, Speedy Dixie 112, Who Knows Me 107, Fleet Edition 111.

Expressive allowance claimed. Weather cloudy; track muddy.

Big League Notes---Sour and Sweet

Philadelphia, April 5 (A.P.)—The Phillies and Athletics, engaged in a pre-season series for the city baseball championship, appear immune to the weather.

Neither rain nor icy blasts, both of which have been encountered since the series started, has interfered with the contests.

Captain Eddie Collins of the Athletics has developed a slight cold, but with that exception the weather has had no effect on the players or their performances.

Washington, April 5 (A.P.)—Manager "Bucky" Harris' injured finger is healing but slowly and, although every effort has been made to hasten matters, there appears but little chance of it permitting him to play when the Senators open their schedule next week.

Walter Johnson, another casual from injuries in practice games in Florida, also will be unable to play during opening games.

St. Louis, April 5 (A.P.)—The "Little World's Series" took on a look of big series competition today when the Cardinals and Yankees faced each other with three games each. Five pitchers, starting with the veteran Alexander, failed to stem the Yankee tide at Atlanta and the Cards lost, 15 to 8.

Detroit, April 5 (A.P.)—Manager Moriarty of the Detroit Tigers has begun cutting his big squad preparatory to getting the team down to the major league limit.

Chicago, April 5 (A.P.)—The final week of baseball training before the big show opens finds the managers of both the Chicago pennant chasers still experimenting with one position on the team.

Manager Ray Schalk has two outfielders to fill the vacancy created by Johnny Mostil's self-inflicted wounds. One of them can hit and the other can field, so Schalk may have to toss a coin to decide.

The Cubs manager, Joe McCarthy, is trying to reform an outfielder who can sling the ball into a third baseman. Riggs Stephenson is the boy.

Lipton Will Make Another Cup Try

New York, April 5 (A.P.)—Sir Thomas Lipton, venerable yachtsman, wants the America Cup on his mantelpiece, but is willing to wait until 1929 to make his bid with another Shamrock.

Hale and hearty, despite his 77 years, Sir Thomas arrived here yesterday on the Leviathan to tell about his plans for lifting the famous yachting trophy.

Already, he said, he has instructed William Fife, Scottish builder who designed the first and third Shamrocks, to lay plans for a 1929 contender.

"Willie has his orders," he chuckled, "and I intend to capture the mug. Each time I've contended for the cup I've been beaten by a better boat. There's no doubt of it. It wasn't luck, but next time—well, Willie Fife has his instructions."

EVERETT WILL GET NEW ATHLETIC FIELD

Permission will be asked of the Legislature, which if granted will permit the city of Everett to take over the Athletic field from the Everett High School Field Corporation.

The City Council has voted to accept the field from the corporation. This is believed to be the first step in the movement to improve and enlarge the Everett High athletic field.

Turn to next page

SWIM STARS IN A. A. U. MEET

Chicago, April 5 (A.P.)—The four-day program of the National A. A. U. swimming championships opens tonight with almost all the world's record holders entered in the ten events.

Johnny Weismuller of Chicago, world's free style sprint champion, will compete in the short distance races. Walter Laufer of Cincinnati, backstroke champion, expects to repeat in his specialty.

Amusements Amusements Amusements Amusements

MARION DAVIES IN "THE RED MILL"

A GREAT EVENT!

Marion Davies as Tina, little Dutch slavey of the land of windmills and wooden shoes.

Impish, adorable little Tina, who refuses to remain a drudge in the kitchen when she hears the call of love and adventure just around the corner.

It is the greatest part Miss Davies has ever played.

MARION DAVIES IN "THE RED MILL"

with

Owen Moore, Louis Fazenda, George Siegmann, Karl Dane

A COSMOPOLITAN PRODUCTION

Adaptation and Scenario by Frances Marion

From the Famous Musical Comedy by Victor Herbert and Henry Blossom

A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Picture

DIRECTED by WILLIAM GOODRICH

BEGINS MONDAY!

Loew's State

MASSACHUSETTS AVENUE

Gene Tunney Prefers Golf to Boxing---But Why Stop Boxing?

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

COOPER ASKED TO PLAY HERE

Albemarle Wants Coast Pro Golf Star to Meet Fred Wright In June

By STED CHANDLER

The idea suggested in this column a short time ago of an exhibition match between Fred Wright, Jr., and Harry Cooper at Albemarle during June has been received with such enthusiasm by local golfers that it now looks like a sure thing.

Bill Hanna, chairman of the Albemarle golf committee, seized upon the suggestion as a workable one, but held off until he could obtain an index of public opinion. This was quickly forthcoming, and inasmuch as it was unconditionally favorable, Hanna wired today to Cooper, at El Segundo, Cal., in an effort to secure his consent.

Sted Chandler

As Cooper is one of the top-notchers among the professionals the question of his guarantee naturally arose, but it is thought that this will be easily disposed of. The project now is to run the exhibition as a benefit for the Newton Hospital, a worthy cause in which much interest is taken.

The matter of selling tickets for a Cooper-Wright match will take care of itself. Fred Wright has more backers to the square foot in Massachusetts than a centipede has feet in his legs. Members of Albemarle, who are steamed up over the prospect of this match, are already counting on what it will mean for their club.

The date suggested for the Cooper-Wright battle is the week of June 13. It is a practical certainty that Cooper, the third ranking professional, will be included on the pro team of ten men at Worcester that week, and he will be in the East for the National Open at Oakmont the following week, anyway. A meeting with Fred Wright should be agreeable to him.

Wright himself is honestly ashamed of his feats, as do those who have witnessed his early play this year, that he is heading for a banner season on the links. He is by a game which thrives on activity and he started in with a will to account for all the golf possible.

Cooper, of course, will be a tough nut for the local star to crack. The young California is shooting excellent golf, and furthermore is one of the most colorful players in the game.

SCHAAF BEST OF YOUNG HEAVIES

Not since Jim Maloney and Jack Sharkey were battling their way to the top of the 1925 pile has a young heavyweight shown such promise as Ernie Schaaf, the Navy warrior, who clashes with Jack Gagnon in one of the all-action 10-round bouts in the Commercial A. C. is offering Friday night at the Mechanics Building.

Since deserting the amateurs Schaaf has come rapidly to the front. He started off by outpointing the tough Al Friedman and then continued his winning drive by knocking out Ad Stone, the crack heavyweight from Philadelphia. These two victories stamp Schaaf as a fighting man of the first rank.

Ernie is going against a tough veteran in Gagnon, who is no mean fistic wars. Jack has been in there with the roughest and toughest of them. Gagnon will prove a real test for the sailor threat.

Another 10 rounder brings together Joe Woods of California and Joe Monte of Brockton. These two heavyweights met recently at the arena and, after a savage scrap, Monte was awarded the decision. Woods couldn't see it, and begged for a return match. He gets his wish Thursday night.

Another heavyweight bout brings together Jack Morrone, a member of the Italian Olympic team, and Tobe Wilson of Charlestown, the New England amateur heavyweight champion.

In an eight round bout Jack Elliott boxes Felix King.

SOMERVILLE HIGH OPENS WITH MELROSE

Somerville High will open its baseball season one week from Saturday when Melrose comes to Dilboy Field, Somerville.

The other games on the schedule are: April 19, Medford; 23, Brookline at Brookline; 27, Winchester; 30, Waltham at Waltham.

May 4, Everett; 7, Cambridge Latin at Cambridge; 11, Newton; 14, Rindge Tech at Cambridge; 18, Medford at Medford; 21, Brookline; 25, Waltham; 30 Everett at Everett.

June 1, Cambridge Latin; 3, Newton at Newton; 9, Rindge Tech.

THE SANDLOT IS RENDEVOUS OF HUB KIDS THESE DAYS

SIDNEY OLANSKY
Hefty youth who is back of the bat for the Roxbury Rangers.

YOU'RE OUT!
Francis Toomey of the Rockview A. C. tagging Jack Donovan of the Lamartine A. C. out at third. Jack paid too much attention to the camera.

GEORGE COLLINS
Hurling ace of the Roxbury Rangers. He has yet to knock Olansky over.

BRAVES TACKLE NEW HAVEN AT NORFOLK

Norfolk, Va., April 5.—A couple of New England clubs will furnish the entertainment for local baseball fans this afternoon when the Boston Braves and the New Haven club of the Eastern League clash, weather permitting.

The weather did not permit the game between the Tribe and the local minor league club, rain falling hard all day much to the disappointment of Manager Bancroft who is anxious to have his charges in the best condition to open the city series with the Red Sox in Boston, Friday afternoon.

Joe Genewich was slated to go to the mound this p. m. and if the manner in which Danny has been working his hurlers of late is any criterion, the Elmira youth will go the full nine innings, provided he isn't blasted off the hill.

Word was received from New York today that Outfielder Jimmy Welsh was rapidly recovering from an operation for the removal of his tonsils. According to his physician, the fly-chaser will be in perfect shape for the opening game against Brooklyn next Tuesday and may be able to get into one of the city series games.

Smith Is Step Nearer Bowling Championship

Peoria, Ill., April 5 (I.N.S.)—Jimmy Smith, twice "all events" champion in the American bowling congress tourney, today bids fair to repeat his achievement following a banner session with the pins here last night.

Bowling with the Schafer Delmar Recreation Team of St. Louis, Smith toppled 634 pins. His scores were 223, 213, 198.

Inside Golf

By CHESTER HORTON

Mr. John D. Rockefeller:

In suggesting a half upright back swing for you, it perhaps should be explained that with this back swing you stop the arms when they have been elevated to a point just below a level with your shoulders. In the full upright swing the arms are carried to a height above a level with the shoulders. But many of the best golfers have adopted the shorter swing back. It makes timing easier and more natural, and after all timing is worth more in the golf swing than distance back with the club. If, after withdrawing the clubhead on a straight line back from the ball a few inches—say eight or ten inches—you will keep on going straight back with it, at the same time easily and gracefully lifting your arms upward, you will find the back swing to be entirely devoid of effort and struggle. Let your arms stop lifting at the point where you first feel they want to stop—that is, just where the pull and tug against you begins.

(Copyright, John F. Dille Co.)

Good men are hard to find. Employers constantly look for trained men to fill big jobs through the Help Wanted columns of the Classified Ads. Classified section 8S.

13,000 See Al Mello K.O. Roberts in First

By JACK CONWAY

AL MELLO has made the grade. The Lowell sensation is today the most talked of welterweight in the world as a result of his spectacular one-round knockout of Eddie Roberts, Tacoma Terror, in their battle at a Suffolk A. A. show at the New Boston Arena.

Mello stopped the man who in turn kayoed Joe Dundee in a round. The latter will be the opponent of Pete Latzo in a bout for the world's welterweight championship in New York on June 3.

Jack Conway

The Mello who crushed the last spark of fighting resistance out of the soul of Eddie Roberts could have been either Latzo or Dundee. I do not believe any welterweight in the world could have stood up before the Mello who swept his way to such an impressive victory over the knock out king from the Roaring West.

Roberts, hailed as the greatest puncher to be developed since Stanley Ketchel first engraved his name on the Hall of Fame by means of his thunderous right hand socks, was knocked senseless by the cyclonic attack of the twenty-one-year-old youth from Lowell.

The bout lasted exactly two minutes and thirty seconds. There was action jammed into every second of the contest. It was a gripping, heartrending struggle with the thrills of the Dempsey-Firpo slugfest. It was a mighty battle between Kayo kings. And it was fitting that it should terminate in a knockout. The fact the local boy, making his first real bid for national prominence in the boxing game, was the one to deliver the crushing punch made the ending of the battle all the more thrilling to the great crowd of 13,000 fans who paid $21,000 to witness the conflict.

THE bout had the proper setting for a great ring drama. The capacity crowd was worked up to a high pitch of excitement by hard fought preliminary matches. It waited impatiently while Mello and Roberts prepared for action.

Clang! The gong sounded and the rival welterweights swept to the centre of the ring. Mello crouched low, bobbing his head from side to side. Roberts stood up straight and led a left hook for the body. Mello ducked to one and the punch did not do much execution.

The boys both kept shooting punches to the body while in close, but none of the blows did much damage.

Suddenly Mello drew back and let drive a terrific left hand shot to the body.

Roberts bent under the force of the punch. Those close to the ring noticed that Roberts was hurt.

Mello was quick to size up the situation. Once more he drew back. Roberts dropped his arms so as to protect his body. Mello fooled him by letting his mighty left drive for the jaw.

Every ounce of energy in Al's powerful body was behind that blow. It landed with terrific effect. The Tacoma Terror toppled to the canvas and rolled over on his face. How believed he would be able to get up. Meanwhile Referee Johnny Martin started to toll off the fatal count. At the count of seven the referee bent low over Roberts and shouted "eight" in his ear.

At nine Roberts moved and at ten he struggled to his feet. Fighting an indoor match here, spirit alone enabled him to lift up his hands. His brain was in a whirl, his legs unsteady.

MELLO, eager for the kill, stepped in quickly. He shot a left to the jaw and a right to the body. Roberts went back a foot and these blows landed. He stood there motionless as Mello prepared to put over the finishing wallop. Then his physical resistance broke down completely. His arms dropped to his side and his body lurched forward. The man who knocked out Dundee landed on his face. For a few seconds his body quivered as though an electric current was passing through it, then rested motionless on the canvas.

Referee Johnny Martin went through the formality of counting Roberts out. He could have counted a thousand and the Tacoma Terror would have been unable to have regained his feet.

As soon as Mello was proclaimed the winner, George (Kid) Lee of Worcester, former New England welterweight champion, who fought Mello three times, jumped through the ropes and congratulated the Lowell boy on his victory.

WOP MANOLIAN of Dorchester fought a fine battle and won from Jimmy Moore of the Coast in the semi-final of eight rounds.

Arthur Flynn of Lawrence was declared the winner over Jack Elliot of England in a spirited eight-session affair.

Laddie Lee of Portland scored a sensational one-round knockout over K. O. Therrien of Sanford in the first round. Lee was first tipped over for a nine count and came back and flattened his rival. Therrien was saved by the bell, but couldn't respond for the second frame.

Arthur Sullivan of Weymouth won over Joe Tavollert of Cambridge in six rounds, while Jimmy Morello of East Boston stopped Mike Melinsky of the West End in four sessions.

Fuller and Suggs to Box at Arena April 18

Sammy Fuller, North End featherweight, and Chick Suggs of New Bedford have been matched to meet in a 10-round bout at a Suffolk A. A. show at the New Boston Arena on April 18. Fuller recently gained national prominence in the featherweight class when he outpointed Red Chapman.

Cossette Faces Clark at Lynn

After two successive postponements the Casino A. C. of Lynn gets going again tonight with Buddy Clark, the hard-hitting Lynn battler, meeting Ted Cossette of Montreal in the feature bout.

ALONSO WINS OVER TILDEN IN 5-SET MATCH

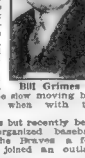
Washington, April 5.—William T. Tilden, 2nd, czar of U. S. amateur tennis, succumbed to Manuel Alonso, Spain's master tennis wielder and fourth ranking U. S. amateur, 6—3, 7—5, 7—9, 6—0, 6—4, in the first indoor match here.

RED SOX PLAY IN INDIANAPOLIS TODAY

By BILL GRIMES

Indianapolis, Ind., April 5.—In playing Indianapolis today, the Red Sox are tackling one of the strongest outfits in the American Association, one which the mid-Western fans predict will take the title from Louisville.

Manager Bruno Betzel, Walter Holke and Larry Kopf were on hand to greet the Sox when they arrived. Betzel is the former Card, who was traded from the Colonels for Maurie Shannon and Walter Rehg. Holke is the same slow moving ball player he was when with the Braves.



Bill Grimes

Larry Kopf has but recently been reinstated in organized baseball. Larry jumped the Braves a few years back and joined an outlaw club.

The outlaw league blew and Larry has been out of the game for a couple of years. Last Spring he applied for the re-instatement which Judge Landis recently granted.

Tony Welzer and Fred Hofmann will compose the Red Sox battery today. Tony has been coming along in fine style this Spring under Manager Bill Carrigan. Welzer has the benefit of the experience he picked up last season.

Against the calibre of clubs the Red Sox have been playing this Spring, the pitching has held up in fine style. Hal Wilzes did not look so good against Birmingham but it was just one of those days when the chunky blond went in there without a thing but a prayer and was hit hard.

If the Red Sox will hit and the pitching holds up to the standard shown this Spring, they are sure to win ball games but no club can expect to be on the right end when the hitting is as feeble as that shown by the Sox to date.

After tomorrow's game, the Red Sox will depart for home, arriving Thursday night.

Paolino in Great Demand

Paolino Uzcudun, the Spanish woodchopper, who meets Ed Keeley, the South Boston heavyweight here for the Argonne A. A. Monday night, April 18, at Mechanics building, is in great demand.

Clubs in Cleveland, Philadelphia, Detroit, Chicago, St. Paul Minneapolis, Denver, San Francisco and Los Angeles are after his services.

The semi-final will bring together Pete Gendon, middleweight champion of France, and Homer Robertson, who has been chasing Tiger Flowers for six months. This will be the rubber battle.

In another ten rounder Ernie Schaaf, the sailor boxer, will meet the best available opponent.

Matchmaker Eddie Mack will try and secure the winner of the Joe Monte-Woods battle which takes place Thursday night to meet Schaaf.

In the opening 10 rounder Hilarino Martinez, lightweight champion of Spain, will draw for an opponent. Johnny Indransano of East Boston.

Your palace beautiful. Perhaps it's among those listed in the Classified Ads. Turn to Homes for Sale. Classifications 7S and 8S.

American Derby to Be Run in Chicago, June 18

Chicago, April 5.—The American Derby will be run this year on June 18, it was decided here. The purse will be worth $25,000. Last year the stake was $100,000 added, but the Jockey Club was involved in so many difficulties after running that it was decided to lower the price this year. The Derby will be run at the Washington Park track.

SCRIMMAGE ON AT STADIUM

By TED LYNCH

The driving methods of Coach Arnold Horween are always the same. Whether it be Spring or Fall practice, the Crimson mentor keeps his charges going on high at all times.

The Crimson gridsters have been out just seven days and Horween has ordered a scrimmage for tomorrow. The players have been instructed to wear the heavy pads and a full game will be played.

In past years the Spring practices have been devoid of scrimmages until the last day when an informal game took place. Conditioning was the main purpose of the Spring work.

REGULARS OUT.

None of the regulars will play tomorrow but every recruit will get his share of work. The players have found the new rules, with the development of the lateral pass, the toughest proposition to date. The rules themselves constitute more trouble than the new plays.

Joe Crosby and Dave Guarnaccio, halfbacks, are the stars in the new lateral game. Coach Shag Shaughnessy has brought this pair along in fine style and they should be contenders for a place in the Harvard offense next Fall.

Arthur French has not come up to expectations. He is not in the best of condition. He cannot seem to work into the new open game and has been finding the going very tough. His kicking has been far below standard and the Crimson coaches are puzzled by his poor showing.

NEW RULES PUZZLING.

The quarterback situation is still the big problem. The coaches seem to favor Joe Crosby and the Jamaica Plain boy is the logical man to succeed Elliot Putnam at the helm. Coach Horween has been the quarter in the practices thus far. The Crimson mentor calls the players back into the huddle and directs the play.

The backs are passing the ball in real Canadian rugby style. Practically every play has the ball exchanging hands at least three times. The boys thus far in the game detected passing the ball forward instead of to the side as the lateral pass rules dictate.

RUNYON Says-

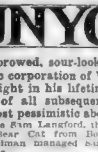
THE dark-browed, sour-looking Mr. Joseph Woodman, of the pugilistic corporation of Woodman and Lawrence, Inc., had one heavyweight in his lifetime who rather warped Mr. Woodman's view of all subsequent heavyweights—who made Mr. Woodman most pessimistic about all ther heavyweights, in fact.

I refer to one Sam Langford, the Destructin' Bear Cat from Boston. Mr. Woodman managed Sam for many years, and Sam proved to be a matter of public record. He was a convenient heavyweight to perhaps if Mr. Woodman chanced to be otherwise engaged on the night of one of Sam's fights, all Mr. Woodman had to do was to dispatch Sam to the arena with a memorandum as to how long Sam was to permit the encounter to go.



Damon Runyon

Mr. Woodman required no assistant seconds and towel swingers for Sam, and never had to worry about the referee, for Sam carried his own referee into the ring with him, concealed in his right fist. He seldom remained in the ring long enough to need any attention in his corner. A handy man was Sam Langford, but he practically ruined Mr. Woodman's judgment of heavyweights.

YOU see, after Langford, Mr. Woodman felt, and perhaps rightly, that the race of heavies had become extinct. When he gazed upon the aspirants to recognition in the larger division during the past ten years and thought of Langford, Mr. Woodman became ill. Frequently he had to take to his bed, and at times he became quite violent. The mere question, "What would Sam have done to these guys?" has been known to send Mr. Woodman into an attack of the jimjams.

Few Good Heavies Regime of Sam

Thus I am somewhat astonished to read that Mr. Woodman is now expressing admiration and hope for a young white heavyweight who has just come under the puglistic protectorate of Woodman and Lawrence, Inc. They have had many other young heavyweights in the past, including Mr. Knute Hansen, the melancholy Dane, but Mr. Woodman has been content to let his scrapbook, Mr. George Lawrence, is the mid-riff about them while he remained in the background swinging darkly and thinking of Sam Langford.

Mr. Lawrence is the optimistic member of the confederation. Mr. Lawrence thinks well of all young heavyweights, not having been associated with Sam Langford. Mr. Lawrence attributes his partner's dejection concerning Sam to liver upstairs, or possibly the dampness of the weather.

Mr. Lawrence goes along cheerfully, sicing up the young heavyweights but it is said he keeps some of them hidden from Mr. Woodman's view for fear Mr. Woodman will get to comparing them to Sanford and wish to kill them.

Sayers May Be the Real Thing

THIS "Is Sayers that Mr. Woodman mentions in his note to me must've some merit to attract Mr. Woodman's notice unless Mr. Lawrence wrote the note to me and fed Mr. Woodman's rig nature.

I judge as Tom Sayers is not the same as Tom Sayers who was champion of England some years ago, though Woodman and Lawrence, Inc., is doubtless over that mistake by now. Probably not. The English Tom has been dead a long time, and while I have known Woman and Lawrence, Inc., to dig up out of the pugilistic graveyard, I doubt that they would go so far back.

Anyway, Mr. Woodman advises me that the new Tom Sayers is from Detroit which gave Jack McAuliffe to the ring, a circumstance that should cut not to the disparagement of Detroit, but as a bit of pugilistic history. The new Tom is forty-one years old, six feet one in tall and weighs 195. He has had thirty bouts and won twenty-three in the old k. o.

If you gentlemen marvel who these new heavyweights with the imagined k. o. records really be, I shall mention that the new Tom Sayers, Jack Phillips, Matt Brood, Frank Wheeler, Martino Tidro and Bill Archer among othe, and you may make what you pass of that.

What is a Turnstyle and Why?

ANSWER: "A Spring Turn-Style," sometimes spelled "Turnstile", is a revolving platform in Truly Warner's Window, which causes a Style Revolution every Turn it makes.

(b) It's a new Style Merry-Go-Round that makes it possible for us to show you 20 new Styles in the space we formerly showed two.

Truly Warner
Headquarters For Hats
305 Washington Street 137 Summer Street

TWO comic pages every day. Full of the funniest of "funnies." A great treat for the kiddies by the cleverest artists.

Magazine Page

The Coal Supply of the Future

ACCORDING to the commerce department survey, there are vast coal fields in the Philippine Islands. It is said that almost every one of the islands have large quantities of coal stored up in them. Annual production now is 60,000 tons.

Spring Salads to Tempt the Appetite

By MARTHA LEE

THERE was when we thought of salads as an extra frill to be added to a "company" dinner—something more appropriate for tea rooms than on a family dinner table, and something at which Father and the boys would be sure to turn up their noses.

In these enlightened days, however, we know that salads properly prepared fulfill a definite health purpose in our regular diet. The leafy greens, fresh fruit and vegetables which make up the average salad contain not only valuable mineral salts, but a precious supply of the precious vital vitamines so essential to health.

Properly prepared salads are not only appetising and delicious, but provide the greens, fruits and vegetables to balance cooked foods, increase nutrition and give many body building and renewing elements to the blood.

A light salad may be served with dinner or in the form of a fruit salad with a whipped cream dressing, it may take the place of a dessert.

Salad greens should be washed very, very carefully so that no dust or germs should stick to them and then they should be shaken dry in a cheese cloth bag and kept on ice until ready to use. Dressing should never be added to the salad greens until just before serving.

Marinating, the process which gives extra flavor to the salad materials means, as I've told you, letting vegetables or fruit stand either separately or mixed for an hour or two in the combination of oil, salt and lemon juice, then when you are ready to serve the salad, toss carelessly just now and then in salad ranking. The juice of lemons and oranges may supply the acid in salad dressings to add flavor, while the ravisants in acids they contain are stimulating to digestion and appetite.

Oranges combine well with other fruits and many vegetables in fruit salads and add a full value of nourishment wherever used. Lemons make an attractive garnish to salads, especially those containing fish and vegetables.

A French dressing is used with the simple mixing salads served with meat or dinner as well as to make the ingredients of meat, vegetable or fruit salads. Since it is considered quite a little trick to mass this dressing, I usually advise the ready-prepared dressing, which can be purchased so inexpensively, and with so many ready-made salad since on the market, it was almost a waste of time to fuss with home made materials or boiled dressings for fruit salads.

A delicious dressing is made by adding mayonnaise dressing with an equal amount of stiffly whipped cream and sprinkling with paprika. Thousand Island dressing has a mayonnaise base, too.

Thousand Island Dressing.—To one cup of mayonnaise is added two tablespoons of finely chopped pimento, one half cup of thick cream, one tablespoon of tarragon vinegar, one tablespoon of chopped red onion, two tablespoons of chili sauce, and two coarse-chopped hard-boiled eggs.

Russian dressing is made by adding to twelve tablespoons of mayonnaise, three tablespoons of chopped pimento, three tablespoons of chopped red onion, 6 tablespoons of chili sauce, one tablespoon of chopped capers, one tablespoon of vinegar and a tablespoon of whipped cream.

Right now, when the supply of winter fruits and vegetables is waning and the early spring products are just beginning to make their appearance on the market, it is well to have on your pantry shelves a few cans of vegetables and fruits particularly suitable for use in salads.

When the meal is a substantial one, the salad should be light and garnished with a French dressing. If the meal is at all meager, it may be spiced out with a substantial salad served with a rich mayonnaise dressing. Instead of using canned vegetables for salads, just see that they come from the can. It is more satisfactory to remove the contents from the can and with their liquor place them in a saucepan and boil for ten minutes.

Then drain and chill the vegetables. Excellent ready-mixed canned vegetables may be had all ready for salad making, or you can make your own mixtures from your favorite vegetables. An excellent combination is this vegetable salad de luxe

VEGETABLE SALAD DE LUXE—Have ready one small each of canned peas and canned green string beans, heated, drained and chilled, and one cupful each of cooked or canned carrots cubed, and cooked beets cut into dice.

Have ready one cupful of very thick mayonnaise.

There, that's it—well, somebody'll have to see about that. And what do you think, the stenographer is in the plot, just as sure as sure.

Didn't she ask him all kinds of queer questions the other day about how long he'd been there and how he happened to get into the firm? Well, she didn't exactly ask him, but she sort of led the conversation around that way.

What a fool he'd been not to see through it before.

And the junior partner he'd been acting sort of queer lately, too, now you come to think of it.

Sort of offish and fussy about little things—trying to find an excuse probably.

What a world—what people!

Why, it's like living in a wolves' den—everybody snarling and snapping and looking out for himself and nobody caring a cent for anybody else.

And the man who is always looking for trouble went home in a fit of the blues.

He couldn't eat his dinner and when his wife spoke of his poor appetite, he glared at her.

All the time the "man who was so specially nice" was being specially nice because there was a brand new baby in the house and his heart was warm to all the world.

And the stenographer—well, she was thinking about the man she's going to marry and wondering how much like her boss he made so good in business.

Trouble is the easiest thing in the world to find—when you really look for it.

But if you don't look—sometimes trouble just steps right along down the road and never even blinks in your direction.

Funny, isn't it?

Don't hunt for apartments. Save time and trouble. Consult the Classified Ads and your problem will be solved. Classifications 95 and 97.

"You Said It, Marceline!"

On "Shy Young Man"

By Marceline d'Alroy

A SHY young MAN is a "wet smack!"
ANY MAN who is obviously AFRAID of Himself makes EVERYBODY else
NERVOUS.

Of course, many a SHY young MAN
Would be SURPRISED to know
That he makes other PEOPLE feel
EMBARRASSED. But why be BASHFUL?

After all, MODERN CONVERSATION is so
EASY. You don't THINK what you say or Say what you THINK, and you never Stop TALKING.

You seldom LOOK at the PERSON to
Whom you speak, and, above all, don't LISTEN.
In a MODERN drawing room the only
CONSPICUOUS person is the one who SAYS
NOTHING.

Copyright, 1927, by Premier Syndicate, Inc.

Looking for Trouble

By WINIFRED BLACK

HE is one of those men who is always looking for trouble. He said:

"Now I wonder why he did that? There's no reason he should be so

Free Cooking Classes

By Miss Melinda Talcott of Our Modern Methods Kitchen

Every Wednesday at 2 P.M. In Our Assembly Hall

The Subject this week will be:

Hot Cross Buns, Whole Wheat and White Bread

Using King Arthur Flour, Worcester Salt, Borden's Evaporated Milk, and Snowdrift.

HOUGHTON & DUTTON CO.

Legal Stamps Given and Redeemed

Please Use Front Elevators!

Crystal Domino Tablets for hot tea and coffee.
Domino Old Fashioned Breton for Russian cream gingerbread.
Domino XXXX Confectioners for icings and fondants.
Domino Powdered for iced drinks or fruits.

If a man were to look in your work-basket

No mere man, looking in your work-basket, could believe that so many kinds of thread were really necessary. Yet each one suits some particular purpose just a little better than any other.

In cooking the same thing holds good. Sugar, for instance, figures in many ways in the kitchen and on the table. That is why the American Sugar Refining Company offers you the various Domino Package Sugars. Whether you are making gingerbread or a delicate icing, there is a Domino Sugar that will help you obtain the best result. And, of course, it is the finest pure cane sugar obtainable.

American Sugar Refining Company

"Sweeten it with Domino"

Granulated, Tablet, Powdered, Confectioners, Brown; Domino Syrup

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

By Beatrice Fairfax

IT'S YOUR OWN FAULT

SOME young girls actually believe that they can be grown, unsympathetic, unreliable, yet hold friend ships and love. Many a girl shares the experience related by "Forget Me-Not" in the following letter, realising too late that to hold a friend it is essential to be a good friend

Dear Miss Fairfax—I was a junior at high school last year, and the boy I went with was a senior. We were together at the first of the school year almost every night for about three months.

He liked me and I liked him, but I did not want to know it, for I would flirt with other boys when I was with him. I broke a date with him once I remember. He made me and told me [illegible] but I know, too, he would never be treated like that again.

I did not believe it so in a few weeks I sent all his presents back and told him I did not want to see him any more. He wrote me a letter, and said I was just a flapper, and he knew all the time I was not true to him. I was sorry, but I know, too, he would never again.

He did write in a few days, but has never seemed the same since then. He started going with a girl in another town and [illegible]

I have been with one or two at picnic and he and some of the boys drank. He knew I was angry—I won't speak to him at all—and he has tried to talk to me since then.

He doesn't go with any one much—just stays with home.

Do you think it is my fault the way he acts? He isn't a friend of mine that he would [illegible] but the way I feel about him I love him, he cares, and I will care for him.

FORGET-ME-NOT.

YOU chose a strange way to express friendly affection, Forget Me-Not. How could this young man know that, despite your silly coquettish flirtations, your heartless mean and independent ways, you are really a sweet girl and [illegible]?

His drinking is not your fault. A man governs his actions and forms his character according to his own ideals. Luckily, no [illegible] has power to ruin a man's life unless he deliberately lets her ruin it. But if you have lost his respect and affection, that is your fault, isn't it—none else's?

5576. Ladies' Dress

Cut in 6 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. A 38-inch size requires 3¼ yards of 40-inch material with ⅝ yard of contrasting material. The width of the skirt at the lower edge is 2½ yards. Price 12c.

5771. Child's Dress.

Cut in 4 Sizes: 2, 4, 6 and 8 years. A 6-year size requires 1⅞ yards of 32-inch material, together with ¾ yard of contrasting material. Price 12c.

FASHION BOOK NOTICE.

Send 12c in silver or stamps for our UP-TO-DATE SPRING AND SUMMER 1927 BOOK OF FASHIONS, showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns, a CONCISE and COMPREHENSIVE ARTICLE ON DRESSMAKING, ALSO SOME POINTS FOR THE NEEDLE illustrating 10 of the various simple stitches, all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Boston Evening American Pattern Coupon

IMPORTANT — Many orders come without name and size. Order must have name, address, size and number of patterns, on coupon.

Pattern No._____

Size_____

Name_____

Street_____

City_____

State_____

Print CAREFULLY and mail (enclosing 12 cents—stamps or coin) to Boston Evening American Pattern Dept., Box 130, Times Plaza Station, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Environment Influences the Child

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D., Former President of the American Medical Association.

"WHOM the Lord loveth, He chasteneth," was too generally the inspiration of the treatment that, a century ago, parents extended to their children.

The whole thing was brutal and too generally brought on reactions that were disastrous to health, mental, moral and physical condition of the offspring.

The whole policy may have been inspired by love, but if so, it served so completely as a mask that you could hardly see the love.

We live in an era when arts, knowledge and science are developed to the highest pitch, but in which the qualities of the heart have been correspondingly neglected. Civilized men value intellect more highly than sympathy. The consequence is that we live in an age of great wars between nations, between political parties and between employers and workers. Force is the shortest way to get anything one wants, and so it is very tempting to anyone who thinks he can use it successfully. The more the feelings are neglected in a civilization, the more do men rely on force, whether it is physical, intellectual or financial.

The penalty for using intellectual force, and for forbidding to the natural good feeling its proper chance of development, too often is nervous breakdown and insanity. This is most liable to occur just at the beginning of old age, when the powers fail and there are no friends to replace them.

The user of force, however, does far more harm to others than to himself, and to no one more than to children, who naturally expect more affection than adults and who are profoundly and unfavorably impressed by coldness and brutality. Probably no one would be a Bolshevik if he had not been badly treated in childhood.

Copyright, 1927, by King Features Syndicate Inc.

How You Can Prolong Youth

By Maria Jeritza.

WOMEN of today are eagerly trying to prolong youth and beauty by means of every aid that science can suggest. To imitate youth is pathetic and seldom fools anyone.

But to keep so healthy and happy, busy and useful that one feels afresh each day as the years pass, to keep young and absorbed in interest in life that characterize youth is much to be desired.

Two essentials are necessary to prolong indefinitely stimulating youth; right thinking and right living. Your face will not drop into sour, or hard, embittered lines, if you send out good will toward all in your thoughts regardless of what their attitudes may be toward you.

Hatred, resentment, bitterness, etch ugly lines into the face that cannot be effaced by all the massage and makeup supplied by the most skilled specialists.

Laugh and keep your courage high. This habit of thought also will mould your face into increasing charm as the years go by.

Marks of laughter—even marks of grief and suffering—are a beautiful tracer on the face, compared with the cold, hard lines and the alcohol-soaked, nicotine-saturated quality of skin and eyes that betray a woman who has sought merely selfish pleasure all her life.

Facial surgery accomplishes wonderful things these days, it is true, in the way of lifting flabby, fallen tissue and so restoring a semblance of youth. But facial surgery, when performed by an expert registered surgeon, is extremely expensive.

And at best it has inherent danger. More than one woman will bear hideous scars through life as the penalty of having a face-lifting or other facial operation performed by a "beauty-doctor" who was not an accredited surgeon.

(Copyright, 1927, by Premier Syndicate, Inc.)

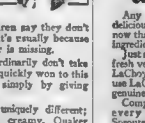
Mothers Look for the Quaker's picture when buying oats.

That means richer flavor



WHEN children say they don't like oats, it's usually because rich Quaker flavor is missing.

Children who ordinarily don't take to oats are often quickly won to this important food, simply by giving them "Quaker."

The flavor is uniquely different; toasty, rich and creamy, Quaker Oats alone has it. Some 50 years were spent in perfecting it.

Quaker milling, too, retains much of the "bulk" of oats. And that makes laxatives less often needed. Thus protein, carbohydrates and vitamines and "bulk" combine in making Quaker Oats an excellently balanced ration.

Get Quick Quaker (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes) or Quaker Oats today at your grocer.

Quick Quaker

The Best Way of Preparing Delicious Vegetable Hash

A Genuine Treat

VEGETABLE HASH

1 pint chopped cooked potato
1 pint mixed cooked vegetables
¾ cup white sauce
½ cup Mazola
Tomato or chopped egg sauce

THE mixed vegetables may be any kind, as cooked carrots, turnips, cabbage, beets, peas, chopped string beans, lima beans, stewed corn, onions, etc. If cooked onion is not among the vegetables, a little raw, minced onion should be added. Combine the ingredients. Heat the Mazola in a medium-sized frying pan, pack in the hash an inch deep and fry until browned.

MANY jokes have been coined about hash—but in the case of Mrs. Allen's hash (see recipe above) the joke is on the person who doesn't try it.

You will also get an idea why Modern Housewives prefer Mazola for frying—because foods fried in it are greaseless when ready to serve;—because Mazola is an absolutely pure vegetable oil, pressed from the hearts of fully-ripened corn kernels.

Once you try Mazola for frying you will never go back to the old fashioned way of frying with animal fats.

Mail This Coupon Today

Send Only 10c

(stamps or coin) with this coupon and you will receive a copy of Ida Bailey Allen's wonderful new Cook Book, beautifully bound, 112 pages of seasonal recipes. Write Corn Products Refining Co., P. O. Box 171, Trinity Station, N. Y. C.

Name_____

Address_____

Town_____ State_____

CHOP SUEY at Home

Any housewife can prepare delicious Chop Suey at home—now that grocers sell the needed ingredients.

Just add to chopped meat, and fresh vegetables, a can of tender La Choy Sprouts. For seasoning, use La Choy Soy Sauce, the only genuine imported Chinese Sauce.

Complete recipes are given on every package of La Choy Sprouts, Chow Mein Noodles, Bamboo Shoots, Sub Kum and Water Chestnuts. Or write for Free Recipe Book.

La Choy
Chinese Food Products
Detroit, Mich.

At All Grocers

SPROUTS · CHOW MEIN NOODLES
BAMBOO SHOOTS · BROWN SAUCE
SOY SAUCE · WATER CHESTNUTS
SUB KUM · KUMQUATS

Traffic in Chicago

TRAFFIC investigations in Chicago show that 314,000 vehicles come daily into thirty-five square blocks of the loop between 7 a. m. and 11 p. m. Of these only 12,000 are drawn by horses.

Fiction Page

This Day in Our History

THE New York Chamber of Commerce was established on April 5, 1768. The charter was reissued by the Legislature of New York in 1783. It is interesting to note that the Chamber was organized in the tavern run by Samuel Fraunces.

The HOLLYWOOD GIRL

by BEATRICE BURTON
Author of "The LOVE WRECKER"

Adventures of a Girl From New England in the Movie Colony

CHAPTER XXXVII.

On Monday morning Mrs. Mangan got a letter from the Firkin sisters to say that they were coming back to town and would like their old rooms if they could have them.

"Heaven be praised!" she said fervently to Bobbie, coming to the door of her room to tell her the glad news. "Now I'll have a steady income again!"

Bobbie was dressing to go up to Beverly Hills, for Jolly Schultz's lessons were to begin that morning. And she was dressing with the utmost care, in the hope that she might see Gus.

As Bobbie started down the front steps she saw Lottie Schultz coming along the street in her car. She pulled up in front of the house.

"I just left Roy at the studio and I thought I'd stop by for you," she said as they started off. "My word, but don't you look kippy, Bobbie! Not much like a school-ma'am."

Bobbie looked quickly away from her. She felt as if Lottie must know that she had put on her best silk sports dress and tucked a couple of little yellow rosebuds into the front of it, because of Gus.

"What a terrible thing that was that happened at your house—the Delroy girl killing herself," Lottie remarked after a moment of dead silence.

"Dreadful" agreed Bobbie. It was almost impossible for her to talk about Stella and her death. The horror of it still hung over her like a cloud.

Lottie Schultz shook her head, her eyes on the road ahead of her.

"All these girls who come here! Why do they do it?" she asked, and went right on as if she didn't expect an answer. "They must know that there's hardly a chance that they'll succeed. And surely Stella must have known it, after all her years of trying."

Bobbie shrugged her shoulders. "I suppose she was like me, Lottie," she said slowly. "I suppose she kept hoping that some miracle would happen that would give her a good part, sooner or later."

Lottie gave her a quick, sharp glance. "Is that what you're hoping for?" she wanted to know, and Bobbie solemnly answered that it was.

"Of course, you're awfully pretty. Prettier than I was," Lottie said frankly. "But I wouldn't bank too much on my looks if I were you. I've seen many a beauty flop over here. There's a full of beauties."

Bobbie said that she knew it was. "But your husband gave me a nice little part a whole ago," she went on. "And Gus MacCloud has promised me another one if ever he sold a picture to make—"

"Oh, Gus!" Lottie Schultz cried, as if Gus didn't matter. "I wouldn't put too much faith in his promises, either! Gus is always getting enthusiastic over people, and then forgetting that they're alive."

Bobbie knew, herself, that that was true enough. Hadn't he dropped Stella when he was tired of her? Hadn't he dropped Monica, and then picked her up again? Wasn't his own life divorcing him—probably because he had dropped her, too, in a way? A he-flirt. That's what he was, when it came right down to the unromantic truth!

"I mustn't take him too seriously," she told herself. "He may care a lot for me, as he says he does, and then again he may not. I'll have to forge ahead all by my self, I suppose, without anybody's help."

It's a mysterious thing—but a woman can go on caring for a man no matter how many beastly things she may hear about him. No matter how many beastly things she may actually know about him. That is, if she really is in love with him or imagines herself in love with him.

So it was with Bobbie Ransom. She might not, and did not, put much trust in Gus MacCloud, partly because of the things she, herself, had found out about him. She never was sure of him. Yet the very thought of him could make her heart race and her throat grow tight and her whole body ache with the longing to see him. She was not happy, for no woman is happy when she is madly infatuated with a man, as she was.

She was thinking about him when Lottie Schultz spoke again.

"But I'm a great one to scold about girls who try to break into pictures!" she said with a little laugh. "I was just as movie-mad as any girl who ever lived, once upon a time. I lived on peanut butter and soda crackers in a hall bedroom on Selma street for months, so that I could buy silk stockings and smart clothes to put up a good front. And anyway, I came to my senses finally. I was all packed up to go home when I met Roy. After that, wild horses couldn't have dragged me away from Hollywood."

"Wild horses couldn't draw me away. But it isn't because of any man," Bobbie answered her. "I'm still anxious and eager to get into pictures—I mean to get somewhere in them. But Stella's dying has taken some of my enthusiasm away. I'll probably get it all back—but right now I'm glad to hide away up at your house and teach Jolly her first reader work."

Little Jolly was sitting under a tree when they drove up to the house.

"Hello there, little Jolly!" Bobbie hailed her. She made up her mind to make this adorable-looking elfin creature like her right from the start.

But the adorable-looking elfin creature evidently had other plans. She ran her tongue out at Bobbie and made a quite terrible face.

Bobbie pretended to take no notice of this.

"I said 'Hello,' Jolly," she said, with all the sweetness she could command.

But there was no answering sweetness from Jolly. "Hello, yourself! I heard you the first time!" she answered saucily. Her face, between shining locks of chestnut hair was unsmiling.

Lottie looked unhappy.

"Please be nice to Miss Ransom, Jolly," she called from the steps of the house. "She's going to teach you your letters so that by and by you can go to school with the other little girlies."

"I should worry about the other little girlies!" retorted Jolly wickedly.

"Jolly, please be a sweetheart and mind Miss Ransom," begged Jolly's mother, and then she called to Bobbie: "Better take her up to the nursery, her books are up there."

But to get Jolly into the nursery was no small job. It was a battle royal. But finally Bobbie won out by simply lifting the kicking imp and carrying her upstairs in her arms.

Jolly, at six and a half, had the will-power of a woman of twenty; and she was spoiled besides. She and flatly that she was not going to learn her letters—and that was that!

Finally she began to chant in a sing-song voice: "I will not learn my A, B, C's, and I'll try to make me—I am not going to learn them—I am not going to learn them—I will not try to make me!"

Bobbie was as limp as a dish rag when the door opened at noon, and a maid brought in lunch.

Then another battle began. Jolly was not going to eat her spinach and carrots. No indeed! She was going to eat her raisin bread and her baked potato and that was all.

"I hate spinach and carrots," she told Bobbie with cheerful defiance when Bobbie pleaded with her to eat them. "Nobody can make me eat spinach and carrots. Nobody has ever been able to make me eat them." She was a very bad little girl and proud of it.

"I see," said Bobbie, who had not taught the first reader room at Locus' school two years for nothing. And she took the raisin bread and the baked potato down stairs to the kitchen and asked the cook to keep them warm.

"You may have them after you've finished your spinach and carrot," she told Jolly, when she went back upstairs.

"You get me my food!" roared Jolly. "Do you hear me?"

"There's your food," Bobbie told her and pointed to the spinach and carrots.

"You get me my food, you dumbbell!" roared Jolly, and picking up her spoon she threw it at Bobbie in her rage. It struck her on the forehead and cut a little gash in the smooth skin. Instantly blood began to trickle down from it, but that didn't frighten Jolly the least bit.

"You get me my food!" she kept roaring at the top of her voice, while she banged the table-top with her silver spoon with all her might. "You get me my food!"

Finally Bobbie made up her mind to give her up as a bad job. She left her yelling at the top of her voice like an enraged prima donna and ran downstairs to resign her position as Jolly's teacher.

But Lottie was nowhere in sight. Presently a white-frocked nurse came up the stairs and Bobbie handed Jolly over to her and fairly flew out of the house.

She was all but crying as she started down the steps that led to Sunset Boulevard.

Tears of anger and mortification stood in her eyes. A car stopped under a pepper tree beside her.

"Hello, Bobby!" The one voice in the world that she wanted to hear, hailed her. "Lose your last friend or your last dollar?"

Bobbie shook her head dolefully. "Neither, Gus. But oh, what a morning I've put in with that terrible child of Lottie's! Look! See what she did to me!" She pulled off her tiny hat and showed him the cut in her forehead.

Gus laughed. "Come on, stop showing me your death-wound and get in here," he said, opening the door of the cream-colored roadster. "I've got a job for you—a real job."

His told her what the job was as the car nosed its way out toward Beverly Boulevard and the beach.

Copyright 1927 Johnson Features Inc.

Lottie advises Bobbie not to take the "real" job offered by Gus in the next installment of this story.

BALDNESS
CAN BE AVOIDED
Lucky Tiger kills the germs. Stops falling hair. Money back Guarantee. Lucky Tiger for 50 years. Barbers and druggists.
LUCKY TIGER

Julius Lupino Declares That He Will Look Out for Jacqueline

Julius Lupino hears Jacqueline sing.

"I think I can use you," he said.

"I'm going to look out for you, Jacqueline."

Forbidden Lips'; Jacqueline Awed by Lupino's Personality

Continued from Page 11.

All at once, Jacqueline found herself practically alone with Julius Lupino. The other girl had gone, and the piano player was moving toward the front entrance.

"Come in my office, Jacqueline," he told her authoritatively. "See me that name—Jacqueline. Let us this thing over."

Jacqueline followed him into a small ugly hole of an office off the hat-check room. Except for the porters mopping around the dining room, they were alone.

"I get your type," he told her. "Mother ballads, and things like 'A Cottage Small by a Waterfall.' You can start to work tonight. Got any evening dresses?"

"Yes, sir."

"That's fine. When you report Jerry, I'll tell you what to do. Fifty dollars a week all right?"

"I—I think so."

Jacqueline's heart, despite her effort at self-con of was jerking. Fifty dollars a week! The first money she had ever earned in her life, now so vitally necessary. How few dollars remained in the brave little purse! Now she would be able to hang on a Boston till the great chance came—tonight she could write home to her mother with a thrill of happiness.

Sh ply, she was brought back to the fact that Julius Lupino's eyes were absorbing her. A quick pang of caution, like the stab of a knife, flashed in her bosom. Men had looked at her like that . . . and she ha l it!

"If that's all, I think I'll be going now," she said with a little brinkness.

Lupino's eyes never wavered.

"You're afraid of me, aren't you?" he said lowly.

For an instant Jacqueline stood perfectly still.

"Of course I'm not afraid of you," she said with a little click, and a feeling that, quite suddenly, she was poised trembling on a precipice.

"We don't get many girls like you working in the canarets," he said, "and I don't blame you for being a little nervous. Maybe you've heard that I'm a hard egg?"

"I never heard you discussed one way or the other, by anybody at all," Jacqueline told him steadily.

"You will before you're through at the Sea Shell" he assured her. "Most of the things you'll hear won't be true, but some of them will. Anyway, you'll get your pay every Saturday night, and if anybody around the joint gets fresh with you I'll break his jaw. I'm going to look out for you, Jacqueline because I like you. And when I like a girl nobody else monkeys butts in. Now run along home, and get ready for tonight, and don't worry about nothing a-tall."

Out once more in the busy throng of the street, Jacqueline hurried to her South End room. All Boston was lonesome to Jacqueline. Her Rutland street room was the loneliest place of all . . . but not now!

Jacqueline's heart surged with profound happiness. Someone had thought enough of her voice to pay her for it. According to the small town standards in Houlton, fifty dollars a week was an immense sum.

All of her life Jacqueline had been different from other girls. They had trimmed their pamps, their habits, to compromise with Life and . . . men. Even in Houlton, where she had lived with her mother on the most inadequate of incomes, she had kept free. The picnics, and the auto rides, and the stupid parties in stuffy parlors—the squidgy love affairs, had never been the cheap opiates to lull her vitally alive spirit into lazy acceptance of unin spired realities. She had worked hard in an office; had saved grimly and had studied voice with calculating shrewdness. But the exaltness had been a necessity, if she was to escape the stodgy semi-security of the masses.

For her mother there was a pang of regret. The elderly woman, back in Houlton, did not quite understand Jacqueline's flight to Boston.

It had been the elder woman's contention, always, that Jacqueline derived her "peculiarities" from her father—a parent Jacqueline scarcely remembered.

Jacqueline had always been moved by a restlessness that was impatient of the life around her. What she wanted was something fine and exquisite, yet she was not able to identify the precise quality of her desires. Perhaps the word independence expressed it best, but the term included so many things that it was largely inaccurate.

In any event Jacqueline knew that what she sought was not, in the conventional sense, romance. Contradictorily, she was deeply interested in men, but the application of their emotional nature, to her own, had always seemed to freeze something inside her.

She could admire them for their personalities and achievements, but in even the most casual contact she sensed in practically all of them too great a willingness to become adhesive.

Men were not a problem to Jacqueline, but she was, herself, a problem to them. Almost from childhood she had been courted. "You're not beautiful," one frank youth had told her, "but when you come into a room you make all of the beautiful girls seem stupid." Yet despite this criticism, Jacqueline was beautiful in an exotic languorous way.

Slowly, as she sat there writing to her mother it dawned upon her, as though she had gradually become aware of a fever, that for the first time in her life she was disturbed by an uncomfortable fascination that was progressively capturing her senses, and pulling her mind away from the letter she was writing to her mother.

A tremor moved around her thoughts like a slow fog. She was thinking of the compelling, half-awesome personality of Julius Lupino.

Copyright, 1927, King Features Syn., Inc.

Tomorrow — Julius' attentions worry Jacqueline.

Latest From Paris

PRINCE YOUSOUPOFF, the slayer of Rasputin, has taken up the more peaceful avocation of dressmaking. He trades in Paris under the name of Irfe, and the fact that he is very successful may be judged from this smart sports ensemble showing the popularity of geometrical effects in present fashions. This two-piece dress is of gray crepe de chine, with applied bands of black and white that are arranged in triangles on the corsage and in vertical lines on the pleated shirt.

Advertisement

End Oily, Sallow Skin

A little Calenite powder sprinkled on a wet cloth and rubbed gently over the face each night ends shiny, oily skin—puts new life into sallow skin, and cleans the pores of all dust, dirt and prevents blackheads. It makes the skin feel refreshed and bright, so you will enjoy a good night's rest.

Advertisement

How To Improve Your Complexion

The secret of a good complexion lies in having a youthful fresh-looking skin. Age has not so much to do with the possession of this valuable charm as many people think, for many women well up in the forties have beautiful, white, soft, fresh looking skin and radiant complexions. On the other hand many girls still in their teens have dull, sallow skin and poor complexions. The reason for this lies in the fact that your face and hands, which are always used on either face, neck, hands or arms and even a single application of the right power to rejuvenate and beautify the skin either for young or old. Mint can be had at any Druggist at little cost and it's truly marvelous for its beautifying properties.

Fads and Fashions

Making their debut on evening gowns, narrow belts, of the same fabric as the frock, are establishing quite a vogue. They are square buckles of pearls combined with tiny rhinestones, or synthetic emeralds or Rubies.

Winsome "Willow" Flowers are the largest and loveliest new shoulder flowers sent from Paris. Of mousseline de soie, their gracefully drooping petals are long and slender Frequently a matching blossom is used at the waistline.

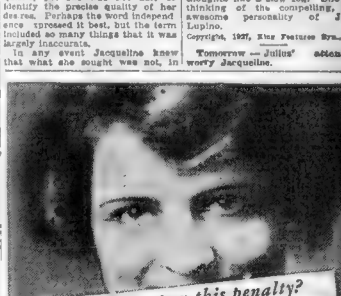
FINE APARTMENTS

For quick choice from a varied selection in Greater Boston consult Classifications 95-97 of today's

AMERICAN-ADVERTISER

CLASSIFIED ADS

on the next-to-the-last pages of this newspaper



Pyorrhea penalizes 4 out of every 5

What a grim penalty Pyorrhea exacts for neglect! It spreads its poison through the system, undermines health, destroys precious youth. And four persons out of every five after forty (and thousands younger) get caught in its relentless grip.

But you need never fear Pyorrhea. Go to your dentist at least twice a year. And start using Forhan's for the Gums.

Used regularly and in time, Forhan's prevents Pyorrhea or checks its vicious course. It firms the gums and keeps them healthy. It protects teeth and keeps them white.

It is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S., and contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Liquid, used by dentists everywhere.

Safeguard your health! Start using Forhan's regularly morning and night. Teach your children the same good habit. Play safe—get a tube today. At all druggists, 35c

Forhan's for the gums

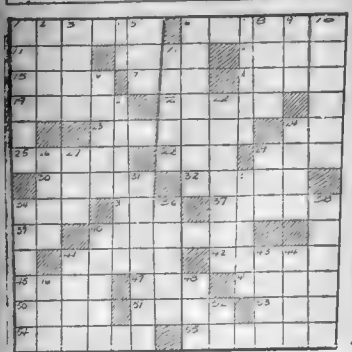
MORE THAN A TOOTH PASTE . . . IT CHECKS PYORRHEA

You can be sure of this

Thousands are keeping breath sweet and fresh this new way. We promise you'll never go back to ordinary mouthwashes that only conceal unpleasant breath with embarrassing odors of their own after you have used Forhan's Antiseptic Refreshers. Try it.

Daily Cross Word Puzzle

An Educational Miniature



HORIZONTAL

1—construct-ing
6—method
11—ash
12—vow
14—fairy
15—part of a ladder
17—fade
18—vows
19—precipitous
21—estate
23—number
24—exist
25—monkey
28—to place
29—corrupt
30—pinetree product
31—mailed
34—domestic animal
35—summit
37—ranted
38—like
40—injures
41—bracing
42—strop
45—rent
47—novel
49—sharp cry
50—N. Y. State canal
51—be first man
53—to view
54—nooks
55—female relative

VERTICAL

1—small piece
2—border
3—cows
4—negative
5—ramble
6—cut off
7—a thread holder
8—rip
9—mistake
10—felt the loss of 13—periods
16—kind
20—pilgrim
22—characters
24—ordered
26—the Roman Cupid
27—a cat's cry
29—beseech
31—inconsid-erable
33—ashen
34—an easy gallop
36—stepped
38—neat
40—receiver of a g.ft
41—journey
43—peace
44—sheltered side
46—native metal
48—existed
52—musical note

SOLUTION TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

MARGIN ROARED AVERSE ENCORE
CEDE I GM TEAM
ENI WIGWAMS SO
SUM SHAKE PEN
EARL BE CUD
SUES SOUL
EKE HA MELT
HAS DANCE SHE AS SORTING RA
TIME PET OBIT
CLOTHE ENDIVE
HYPHEN DUSTER

Copyright, 1927, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Dinty Forgets a Little Detail

By George McManus

IS THIS THE COSTUME FOR MR. JIGGS?
YES SIR- TELL HIM TO BE SURE TO ALWAYS KEEP THE HAT ON WHILE HE WEARS THE COSTUME OR HIS LIFE WILL BE IN DANGER IT'S A CUSTOM HERE IS THIS THE SUIT I'M TO WEAR TO CALL ON SOME OF THE OFFICIALS?
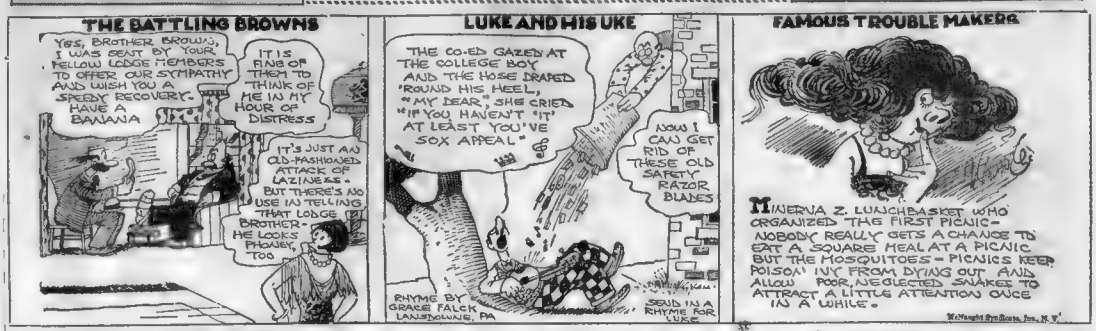
YES- A GUY JUST LEFT IT- I'LL SEE YOU LATER-
IF THIS LIFE KEEPS UP MY PERMANENT ADDRESS IS GONNA BE JAPAN
SUFFERIN' CATS- I FORGOT TO TELL JIGGS THAT HE MUST KEEP THE HAT ON-
4-5
© 1927 by Int'l Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain rights reserved
MCMANUS

GOLDBERG'S CARTOONS

Cartoon Follies of 1927

Copyright, 1927, by R. L. Goldberg

By Rube Goldberg

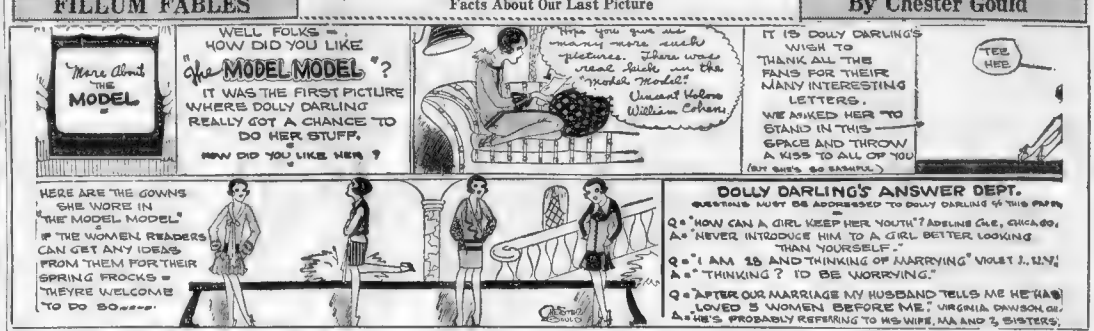


THE BATTLING BROWNS
YES, BROTHER BROWN, I WAS SEAT BY YOUR FELLOW LODGE MEMBERS TO OFFER OUR SYMPATHY AND WISH YOU A SPEEDY RECOVERY. HAVE A BANANA
IT IS FINE OF THEM TO THINK OF ME IN MY HOUR OF DISTRESS
IT'S JUST AN OLD-FASHIONED ATTACK OF LAZINESS - BUT THERE'S NO USE IN TELLING THAT LODGE BROTHER- HE LOOKS PHONEY, TOO
LUKE AND HIS UKE
THE CO-ED GAZED AT THE COLLEGE BOY AND THE HOSE DRAPED 'ROUND HIS HEEL, "MY DEAR," SHE CRIED "IF YOU HAVEN'T "IT" AT LEAST YOU'VE SOX APPEAL."
NOW I CAN GET RID OF THESE OLD SAFETY RAZOR BLADES
RHYME BY GRACE FALCK LANSDOWNE, PA
SENT IN A RHYME FOR LUKE
FAMOUS TROUBLE MAKERS
MINERVA Z. LULUHBASKET WHO ORGANIZED THE FIRST PICNIC- NOBODY REALLY GETS A CHANCE TO EAT A SQUARE MEAL AT A PICNIC BUT THE MOSQUITOES - PICNICS KEEP POISON IVY FROM DYING OUT AND ALLOW POOR, NEGLECTED SNAKES TO ATTRACT A LITTLE ATTENTION ONCE IN A WHILE.
McNaught Syndicate, Inc., N. Y.

FILLUM FABLES

Facts About Our Last Picture

By Chester Gould



"More About THE MODEL"
WELL FOLKS - HOW DID YOU LIKE "the MODEL MODEL"? IT WAS THE FIRST PICTURE WHERE DOLLY DARLING REALLY GOT A CHANCE TO DO HER STUFF. HOW DID YOU LIKE HER?
Hope you got as many more nice pictures there were real nice in the "Model Model" Vincent Helena William Cohen
IT IS DOLLY DARLING'S WISH TO THANK ALL THE FANS FOR THEIR MANY INTERESTING LETTERS. WE ASKED HER TO STAND IN THIS SPACE AND THROW A KISS TO ALL OF YOU (BY GEE'S SO BASHFUL)
TEE HEE
HERE ARE THE GOWNS SHE WORE IN "THE MODEL MODEL" IF THE WOMEN READERS CAN GET ANY IDEAS FROM THEM FOR THEIR SPRING FROCKS - THEYRE WELCOME TO DO SO.....
DOLLY DARLING'S ANSWER DEPT.
QUESTIONS MUST BE ADDRESSED TO DOLLY DARLING C/O THIS PAPER
Q - "HOW CAN A GIRL KEEP HER YOUTH"? ADELINE GAE, CHICAGO.
A - "NEVER INTRODUCE HIM TO A GIRL BETTER LOOKING THAN YOURSELF."
Q - "I AM 18 AND THINKING OF MARRYING" VIOLET J., U.V.
A - "THINKING? I'D BE WORRYING."
Q - "AFTER OUR MARRIAGE MY HUSBAND TELLS ME HE HAS LOVED 5 WOMEN BEFORE ME." VIRGINIA DAWSON, OR.
A - HE'S PROBABLY REFERRING TO HIS WIFE, MA AND 3 SISTERS.

THE THIMBLE THEATRE

Doughboy on Parade—By SEGAR

Copyright, 1927, King Features Service, Inc. Great Britain Rights Reserved

HEY FOLKS, GUESS WHO INVENTED NONPARKABLE CHEWING GUM
BROTHER CASTOR INVENTED IT AND HE'S GETTING RICH
IMAGINE THAT! AND HE DIDN'T SAY A WORD TO US ABOUT IT!
HM— THAT'S MY BOY AND I ALWAYS SAID HE'D AMOUNT TO SOMETHING WHERE'LL WE GO SHOPPING HONEY?

SKIPPY

A Bit of Luck

By Percy Crosby

MORE WORK AND LESS ENVY WINS IN THE LONG RUN

Is there envy in your heart because so many of your friends are able to spend the Winter in the South?

Do you feel that you have an unfair deal in this world's goods because you are not in the land of sunshine in Winter?

Now look back at your poor start in life and you censure your parents for not making greater sacrifices to put you ahead.

But you are unfair to your parents if you blame your own condition upon them, when they gave you what they could afford.

Think over the many enjoying a Southern sojourn—did you not have the good opportunities in early life as many of them had?

But you did not make the most of your opportunities.

Did you work and save and play safe and deny yourself?

You believed in having a little fun all along.

You had it, and now you can stay home and shovel coal and snowy sidewalks and get your sunshine by proxy.

While you were enjoying yourself your friends were plugging hard and so they have earned a right to a Winter in Florida or in California.

Copyright, 1927, International Feature Service, Inc.

DAILY SHORT STORY

THE LAW OF LIFE—AND LOVE

By L. M. Blake

CLIFF HUBBEL was shaving in his hotel room that evening when someone knocked on the door. Thinking it was Bud Daly, his close friend, Hubel called out: "Come in."

The door was opened. Someone quietly entered.

Hubel did not bother to turn his head. "What's on tonight, Bud?" he asked and continued scraping his chin.

There was no answer. In wonderment, Hubel turned about—and a large lump of ice seemed to slide down his back, freezing him into helplessness!

For his wife was facing him, a revolver in her right hand. She was white-faced and pointed the weapon straight at him, on a level with his chest.

The man wet his lips. "What's the meaning of this?" he asked weakly.

"I'm going to shoot you," Doris replied furiously.

Hubel turned to the dresser and tried to go on with his shaving but his wife's reflection in the mirror held him fascinated.

"You can't shoot a man in the back," he insisted, with a great effort at self control.

The awkward pause ended with the woman's hoarse question: "Do you want to know why I'm going to shoot you?"

Hubel shaved his neck for the fifth time. He was using a safety razor but had already cut himself twice.

"I'd rather hear why you won't," he answered deliberately.

"You were out last night with Ann," Doris explained in highly-pitched tones. "I told you I'd shoot you if you ever took her out again!"

"I was not out with your sister, Ann."

"You were."

"I met her on Twelfth street," Hubbel protested, "and we walked up to the King Theatre. She went in to see the play and I went on to Granley's Billiard Parlor."

"You lie!"

Hubbel shrugged his broad shoulders. "Why don't you ask your sister?"

"She would laugh at me," Doris half-screamed.

"Not if you held a gun on her!" "I don't intend to shoot her."

"Really, you don't intend to shoot me!"

"I do!" Doris was furious. "If I can't have you, no one else ever will."

Hubbell laid down his razor and faced his white-lipped wife.

"Doris, this trouble is of your own making. You insist that we live apart so you can go on with your writing—your career—ah! I have no objection to either, but I fail to see where living with me all of the time would irredeemably ruin your chances."

"You see me two, sometimes three evenings a week, just as you did before we were married," Doris returned, "During the day we both must work."

"Quite so. But four or five nights a week I am left alone to the mercies of so-called friends who are dance hounds, card sharks, billiard experts. And if I talk to another woman you go crazy."

"You should study to improve yourself."

"That's your trouble. You're trying to improve yourself too much! While your body and soul are crying for a little recreation, play; a little relief from the tension of your will power. Keep driving, worrying, always being impatient for great success and you'll collapse, breakdown. Then you'll discover—that to be healthy is more important than to be famous. The world can easily get along without your services, but you'll find life a terrible burden if you're sick. Why, even your love is a diseased thing, full of distrust and jealousy!"

"What are you talking about?"

"You, Doris! You pretend to understand humanity. Then, you must know that your nerves are in bad shape when you suspect everything I do; even get a gun and want to shoot me because I happen to have met your sister."

"I warned you to keep away from her."

"I thought you were joking, you—you with your supposed sense of understanding."

"I guess I am tired," she answered, like a beaten thing.

Hubbel saw his wife swaying on her feet. With a quick movement he brushed the gun aside. It fell to the floor almost unnoticed as he took her in his arms.

"I knew I could talk her out of it," he muttered in self-congratulation.

But a wave of tenderness passed through him as he carried her, half-fainting, to his bed. Gently he laid her down and began to smooth back her dark brown hair. In a moment she was crying, sobbing in primitive abandon.

"There! There!" Hubbel soothed. "Just lay back in daddy's arms and get over with it. You'll feel better soon."

He fondled his wife until she was somewhat composed. Then he said sternly: "Now this is the end of the married-but-single idea! You're staying right with me from now on. We'll plan a little trip come where; sort of a second honeymoon!"

"But my new novel!" Doris objected weakly.

"Forget it." Hubbel exploded angrily. "If writing is going to make a wreck of you then stop writing."

"Oh, I couldn't!" Doris made an attempt to free herself, but it was easily frustrated by her husband.

"You don't mean to keep from writing?" asked Doris, after a moment.

"I'm going to have you so busy seeing strange people and different places, besides being my wife and taking care of me, that you won't have time—for a while at any rate! Then in several months your nerves will be normal again and you can resume your work—with me to watch that you don't overdo things."

"Do you really think that will be better than my plan of our living in separate homes?" Doris questioned.

"I certainly do!" Hubbel asserted vigorously.

"Well, why didn't you insist upon it when we were married"

Hubbel stared in amazement. "Why—why," he stammered, "you said the other way was what you desired. And I wanted you to be happy."

"But a woman likes to be bossed just a little bit by her own husband. Otherwise she can't be sure he loves her. That was what worried me. You always gave in so readily, I was never sure you cared one way or another."

"And you pretend to be a novelist!"

"What has that to do with it?" Doris demanded. "I can understand my characters, but I can't read your mind."

"Tut! Tut! I can read yours," Hubbel said blandly.

The girl snuggled down in his arms. "Then there's one thing I can't understand," she murmured.

"What is that?"

"How you ever let me hold you up with the gun."

"Why, you were angry," Hubbel protested. "You might have pulled the trigger."

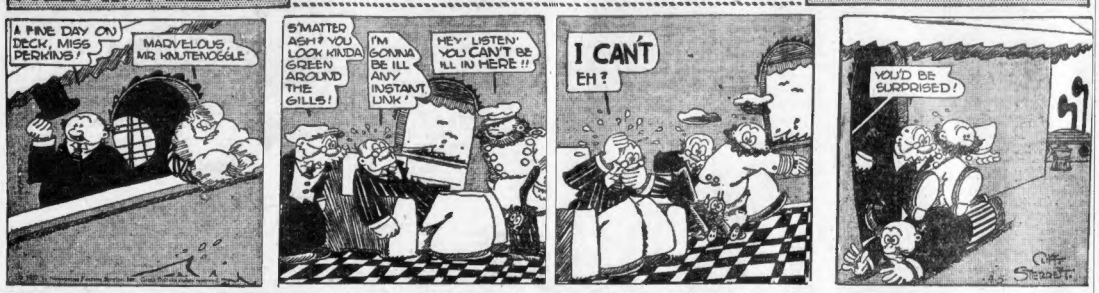
"That's true." Doris admitted, "But to begin with I didn't have the nerve to load the awful thing."

Save "Old Ironsides"
ADMIRAL ANDREWS
NAVY YARD
BOSTON, MASS
HERE IS MY TWENTY FIVE CENTS FOR PICTURE OF "OLD IRONSIDES" I WANT TO BE ENROLLED AS ONE WHO WILL ALWAYS COME TO THE AID OF HIS FLAG.
Name .....
Address .....

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY — Annie's Nev Home — By Verd

CHILD WELFARE HOME
I WANT TO GO HOME TO MY UNCLE BOB!
THIS IS THE BAD LITTLE GIRL I SPOKE TO YOU ABOUT, MISS OWENS.
VERY WELL, MRS. GRINK, WE'LL TAKE CARE OF HER!
HIS IS YOUR ROOM, NOW, ANNIE, AND OU'RE GOING TO STAY RIGHT IN IT UNTIL YOU MAKE UP YOUR MIND TO STOP THAT SNIVELING!
I WANT MY UNCLE BOB!
AW-GEE! THERE'S A KID IN MY ROOM — MAYBE I'M GONNA HAVE A ROOM-MATE!
I-I-WISH I WAS HOME GETTIN' S-SPANKED
© 1927, by King Features Syndicate, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

POLLY AND HER PALS — A Wil Lad — By Cliff Sterrett



A FINE DAY ON DECK, MISS PERKINS!
MARVELOUS, MR KNUTENOGGLE
S'MATTER ASH? YOU LOOK KINDA GREEN AROUND THE GILLS!
I'M GONNA BE ILL ANY INSTANT UNK'
HEY! LISTEN' YOU CAN'T BE ILL IN HERE!!
I CAN'T EH?
YOU'D BE SURPRISED!
Cliff Sterrett

US BOYS — A Colorful Trip — By McNamara

I CONFERRED WITH SIGMUND MY VALET LAST EVENING, AND HE ADVISES ME TO GET OUR SAILOR SUITS READY MADE. HE SAYS THEY WILL BE JUST AS STYLISH, AND LESS BOTHER!
DON'T WORRY ABOUT MY SUIT VAN.— SISTER IS MAKING MY OUTFIT!
WHAT COLOR SAILOR SUITS YOU GONNA HAVE?
OHWT TILL YOU SEE THEM:— CERISE WITH ORANGE AND YELLO TRIM MING! THERE JUST STUNNING!
OH CALM YOURSELF MASTER SHRIMP!— CALM YOURSELF!!
THEM COLORED SAILOR SUITS!— GOSH ALL WHEATCAKES!— SHELL BE TYIN' PINK RIBBONS ON THE SMOKE STACK, IF SHE GETS AWAY WITH THAT GUESS ILL GET A RED NECKTIE:— HOW ABOUT IT SHRIMP?
© 1927 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

ABIE THE AGENT — That That — By Hershfield

HERE'S A TICKET FOR TONIGHT'S OPERA. DO YOU WANT IT?
DID I SAY NO?
HOW DO YOU LIKE OPERA?
I DON'T KNOW.
YOU EITHER LIKE A THING OR YOU DON'T!
ALL RIGHT— TO SAVE AN ARGUMENT, I DON'T!
HERSHFIELD

KRAZY KAT

Timely Stick Saves Nine—By HERRIMAN

Copyright, 1927, Int'l Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain Rights Reserved

BRICK, HSH?
YES, OFFICER PUPP; A BRICK INDEED BUT A ROYAL BRICK — OR A PROUD, AND ANCIENT LINEAGE — A KING'S CALLING CARD —
A KING'S CALLING CARD, HSH?
SURE — CAN'T YOU SEE THE ROYAL NAME ON IT?
HUH — CRAZY SORT OF A CALLING CARD, I CALL'S IT.
RIGHT CUTE, I CALLS IT.
WHAT THINK YOU OF A HOPS CALLING CARD, -KNAVE?
HHMMMMM

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

"Tommy, isn't it rather extravagant to eat both butter and jam on your bread at the same time?"
"Oh, no, mother. It's economy; the same piece of bread does for both."
VIRNA THOMAS,
343 Randolph St., So. Weymouth.

FOR Acid Stomach
PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any druggistore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

THE WITTY SAYINGS OF MEDBURY

By JOHN F. MEDBURY

SEVERAL well-known spinsters have formed an association and are trying to levy a tax on bachelors. They figure that no man should be allowed to remain single without paying for the privilege.

THIS money will be used as alimony for old maids.

THIS funds will be alloted through the matrimonial division of the War Department.

A BACHELOR, however, will not know the name of the spinster to whom he's paying separate maintenance.

OF course the tax won't be large, but it will keep the old maids in parrots.

ONE spinster wore out seventy-five dollars' worth of spectacles last year looking under beds.

THEY don't refer to them as beds, however, they call them hope chests.

ONE old maid captured a burglar in her parlor the other evening and the poor fellow had to call the police.

HE says that after this whenever he breaks into a spinster's apartment he's going to take a cop with him.

OF course he got ten years in jail, but he figured that was better than losing his freedom.

ONE bachelor says he's been single for fifty-three years and is going to stay that way the rest of his life if he can live long enough.

WEDDINGS are all right if you get used to them, but he isn't that broke.

ONE nuptial is a duty, but when you have more than that it becomes a habit.

HE'S the kind of a fellow who couldn't go through leap year saying "No."

THE poor guy stuttered so badly that the old maids would pop the question and then marry him before he could get the answer out.

A LEVY on bachelors may seem unfair, but it's just another luxury tax.

Copyright, 1927, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE BEST JOKE I EVER HEARD

"That man there is wanted in Chicago."
"What for?"
"He is a crook."
"Why do they want any more crooks in Chicago?"

ROGER EGGERS,
No. 2 Howe avenue, So. Boston.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND.

THE modern girl is reverting to type!

* * *

Beneath all her lightness, flippancy, pep and assumed cynicism, she is secretly HUNGRY for some of the genuine things of life—real happiness, real love and a few honest enthusiasms. She is tired of the role to which she has been elected.

* * *

She is sick of sex—and all the talk about sex!

* * *

She is weary of indiscriminate petting, maudlin kisses and Freudian chatter!

* * *

She is tired of being the object of men's idle amusement. She is tired of seeing the same look in every man's eye.

* * *

She may like her job and enjoy her freedom; but what she wants MOST down in her heart of hearts, is a HOME, with a kitchen and a pantry and an attic and a laundry and a lot of cupboards and closets, and the Right Man in it!

* * *

What she wants is a wedding-ring and some good, clean love!

* * *

What she wants is a chance to plan curtains, embroider guest-towels, sew on buttons, polish a rose-wood piano, and dig around a flower garden.

A permanent name, a permanent abiding place, and a permanent life-partner!

Copyright, 1927, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Cuticura Talcum Unadulterated Exquisitely Scented

Advertisement

It may be your Nerves

IF little things annoy you—if you suffer from sleeplessness, headaches, melancholia, loss of appetite, constipation and irritability, depleted nerves are frequently the cause.

Dr. GREENE'S
NERVURA

has aided thousands in similar cases. The pure herbs which it contains are both soothing and invigorating. When you tire easily and do not feel equal to the ordinary duties of home or business, look first to your nerves. Get all the rest, sunshine and fresh air possible, but aid Nature in her own way—by taking the natural herb remedies she provides. These are to be had in their most effective form in Dr. Greene's NERVURA.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS

Advertisement

YOU CAN'T STARVE AND BE STRONG

The old theory of rigid diets in is like expecting an automobile to run without gasoline. My book, "Eat and Get Well," telling how to stop useless starving and gradually eat food you need will be sent free, postpaid, to any sufferer of diabetes. Write M. Richards, Dept. 102, 220 W. 42nd St., New York.

DIABETES

Advertisement

To Those Who Suffer Stomach Distress, Gas and Indigestion

All Druggists Make This Offer

Money Back If One Bottle of Dare's Mentha Pepsin Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used.

You can be so distressed with gas and fullness and bloating from an overworked, abused or weak stomach that you think your heart is going to stop beating.

Your stomach may be so distended that your breathing is short and gaspy.

You think perhaps you are suffocating.

You are dizzy and pray for quick relief—what's to be done?

Just one tablespoonful of Dare's Mentha Pepsin and speedily the gas disappears, the pressing on the heart ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally.

Oh! What blessed relief; but why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have them at all?

With this wonderful medicine you can overcome dyspepsia, or that condition of faulty digestion that keeps the stomach in constant rebellion and one bottle will prove it.

Over 6,000 bottles sold in one small New Jersey town last year—and the best druggists the country over concede that its phenomenal sales are due to the fact that most cases are promptly relieved. Ask for Dare's Mentha Pepsin, a pleasant-to-take, health-building stomach elixir that regular pharmacists anywhere in America guarantee.

ARE YOU LUCKY?

YOU'LL ATTEND THE METROPOLITAN THEATRE AS OUR GUEST

Every day 100 tickets to Boston's largest playhouse are distributed to the lucky people whose names appear among the Classified Ads of this newspaper.

100 different names appear daily. Look today and every day for your name in the

AMERICAN-ADVERTISER CLASSIFIED ADS

on the next-to-the-last pages of this newspaper

Dividend Increases Are Outnumbering Decreases

By B. C. FORBES

NEW YORK, April 5.—Stockholders in American corporations had little reason for complaining regarding their treatment during the year's first quarter of title year. Favorable changes have totaled 243, the highest number for the first quarter of any year.

March, however, shows a decrease as compared with a year ago. This is the first time since May, 1924, that any month has not shown a gain as compared with the preceding year.

B. C. Forbes

Last month's cheering dividend announcements from industrial, public utility and railway companies follows:

	INC.	P.T.	E.S.
Extra	29	2	6
Increased	7	1	3
Initial	16	5	1
Back	3	1	1
Stock	2	2	0
Resumed	2	0	0
Totals	78	13	9

NOTWITHSTANDING the unprecedented earnings reported by our railroads, dividend action has been extremely conservative. In March of last year there were three times as many improved payments announced as there were last month. The strong probability is, however, that coming months will bring more gratifying dividend news from railway directors. If this were not reasonably certain, some of the best railway stocks would not be selling on their present level.

* * *

WALL STREET looks confidently for the distribution of generous excess of fat surpluses accumulated by strong industrial companies. The stock dividends declared by General Motors and the United States Steel Corporation are accepted as examples sure to be followed by other prosperous enterprises. One reason for such expectation is that Washington has been casting envious eyes upon unduly large surpluses.

* * *

AMONG the companies that announced extra dividend i yr. months last month were Midland Steel Products, Humble Oil, Parke-Davis, Singer Manufacturing, Ohio Brass, Timken Detroit Axle, Cambria Dry, Herring-Hall, U. S. Lumber, Lion Oil, Rice Stix Dry Goods, Missouri, Mountain and Gulf Oil, Sayers & Scovell.

* * *

INCREASED rates were declared by United Drug, Barnsdall Corporation, Helme Company, American Surety, Consolidated Lead and Zinc, Prairie Pipe Line, Freeport Texas, Curtis Bryan, Oil, Marine (Copyright, 1927, by B. C. Forbes.)

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

DOMESTIC BONDS

Sales		High	Low	Latest
$2000 Am Agr Chem 7½s..99		99	97½	97½
2000 Am Cot Oil deb 5s..100		100	100	100
4000 Amer Sugar 6s.....104¾		104¾	104¾
4000 Am T & T cv 4s.....122		122	121¾	121¾
2000 Am T&T affs '65...102¾		102¾	102¾	102¾
2000 Am Tob 4s.....100		100	100	100
6000 Anaconda Cop 6s '38 104		104¾	104	104¾
1000 Andes Cop Min 7s...103		103	103	103
21000 Anglo-Chil Nit 7s...97½		97¾	97½	97¾
12000 Ann Ar Co of C 6s..100		100	100	100
4000 Atl Gulf & WI 5s....108		108	108
1000 Balt & O cv 4½s...101¾		101¾	101¾	101¾
47000 Balt & O cv 4½s...91½		91¾	91½	91¾
4000 Barnsdall Corp 5½s..100		100	100	100
2000 Bell Tel Pa pref 6s..106		106	106
11000 Beth Steel 7s.....104		104¾	104	104¾
11000 Bklyn-Man Transits 4s 89		89	88¾	89
11000 Bklyn Qns Co & S 5s 103		103	103	103
31000 Can Pac 5s.....105¾		105¾	105¾	105¾
2000 Cent & Ches Ry 6s..100		100	100	100
2000 Chic & Alton 3½s....84		84	84	84
2000 Chic & R I 5s.....100		100	100	100
6000 Chi Gt West 4s.....72¾		72	72¾
2000 Chi Ind & Lou 6s....103		103	103	103
2000 Chi Mil&StP&Pacific 5s 63		63	62
1000 Chi Mil & St P 5s....92		92	92	92
1000 Clinchfield Coal 6s..103		103	103
1000 Colo Fuel & Iron 5s..102½		102½	102½
1000 Colo Ind Gas & Coke 6s 100		100	100
1000 Colo Sou cv 4s.....102½		102½	102½
1000 Colo Sou & Ft W 5s..102½		102½	102½
1000 Colo & Sou 4s.....102½		102½	102½
1000 Colo & Sou 4½

Help Wanted

Help—Male and Female 87

AGENTS—Men, Women, full or part time. Clinton Towel Co., Clinton, Mass.

Solicitor-Canvassers, Agents 88

SALESMEN—Experienced horse to house worker. We have territory open for several men. Apply 9 to 12 A.M. or 2 to 5 P.M. 242 Summer st., Boston.

SALESMEN to sell household goods on easy payment plan; good salary and commission. The Herts & Hammond Supply Co., Inc., 312 Grand Ave., New Haven, Conn.

Business Opportunities 62

CAPITAL NEEDED

For a growing business in high grade real estate. A business that will stand the most rigid investigation. Principals only. Write P. O. Box 138, Dorchester Centre Mass.

Miscellaneous 89

FIRST-CLASS BARBER SHOP, $200 cash, 25 Medford St., Malden. Reasonable.

GOODYEAR shoe repair shop, doing good business; low rent. Inquire 1 Bow st., Boston.

MARKET—Meats and groceries, thriving location; attractive store, modern improvements; must sell at once. Tel. Som 1295; owner, 2072-J.

NEWLY renovated 13-rm lodging house. $75 monthly. Call 1 to 5 P.M. 24 Bay State rd.

STORE, grocery, variety, or confectionery, first class condition, garage, rent. All $800. 2 Hill st., Lynn, Norwood.

Financial

Money to Loan—On Chattels 91

MONEY IN A HURRY
LOANS UP TO $300
Call, Write or Phone
Somerville Finance Co.
Parker Bldg., Davis Sq.
Somerville 2300

QUICK LOANS
up to $300 to householders. Easy installments if interest. Household Loan Corp., 73 Tremont St., Room 1, Boston. Hay. 5063.

IF YOU EARN a high salary and can pay a set sum each week for a definite endorser or collateral we will LEND YOU $300 to $5,000. Beneficial Loan Society, 501 Beneficial Bldg., 348 Washington St.

$300 OR OVER to business men only on their personal note; no collateral; no red tape. Room 1002, 20 COURT STREET.

E. H. Fay, 31 Milk st., Room 1001, Hub. Ga. 1

LOANS up to $300 to householders, easy repayments; interest only charged. Perkins Finance Co., 532 Mass. Ave., Cambridge. Tel. Tro. 7000.

MONEY to loan on fur coats, no storage charge; clothing, jewelry, musical instruments, rifles, etc. Northern Loan Co., 172 Commercial st., opp. Eastern Ave., Saugus. Merit Mar Sq.

Money to Loan—Mortgages 92

LOANS over $500, furniture, stores, markets now rates, terms 10-2. Brighton Agency, 304 Washington st., Room 1. JOAN Associates, Room 7, Robert Treat Paine, 37 Temple Place. Furniture loans at 2 per cent per month; loan paid back $41 at end of year on $100. 3 Beacon St., Room 1, Tel. Hay. 1225.

Real Estate

Business Property for Sale 97

WILL SELL or rent, 2 stores and flats, with stores, offices, postoffice, extra dance hall, all modern, 9 rooms; 2 flats; growing town on the South Shore; income over $10,000; yearly; price $60,000. Investigate this. Address Box 2726, Boston Post.

Garages 98

GASOLINE STATION
Ready for business, good corner location. Price $4,000. This paper H-818.

OPPORTUNITY to purchase florist business in town of 6,000. 60 miles from Boston. 8 greenhouses, full of stock, office and workroom; also 10 rooms with improvements; reason for selling, poor health. Address Boston American, Box H-818.

Lots for Sale 99

LAND FOR STORES
Centre of town, corner lot, 110 ft. frontage, 210 ft. depth; price $18,000. This paper H-819.

FOR SALE—Corner 111 Heath rd., Waverly, 40 x 100.

NEW JERSEY lot bargain. 40x100, Atlantic City, Ventnor, Margate; $100 each. Davidson, price $100, only $5 each. Davidson, 1500 Pacific ave., Atlantic City.

WEST QUINCY—East Milton view; 2 house lots; every modern convenience. Call evenings, 1 Bow st.

WEYMOUTH—225 acres building lot with gas, electric, water in the middle of the center of town. Each lot at least 6,000 ct. Price $1,000 each. Tel. Hay. 1225.

Farms and Land for Sale 99

BRADFORD—Fine 7-room house, 2 acres good land, about 65 acres, berry pasture, 60 apple trees, some small outbuildings, 2 miles to buildings in good repair. Lodwin Farm Agency, 27 Cornhill, Boston.

Salem St. Extension, Medford. Tel. Mal. 1000.

FARM—4 acres, good soil, 8-room house, electricity, water, barn, cellar, garage, 2 work horses, 3 cows, hens and coach cows; also wagons, harness, tools and coach cows; also wagons, harness, tools and household furniture. State road; price $5,000; part trade; owner going to California. Apply on premises, 1 mile from Boston. A home to be envied. Granby, Tel. 1100, Mr. Robie.

HAMPTON, N. H.—Ocean view, 32-acre South Shore farm, suitable for truck gardening or as poultry farm; house has 8 rooms, 2 baths, 2 fireplaces, 3 open and 2 closed fires, hot water heat, 2 toilets, 2 sinks, 2 tubs, 2 stoves, 3 coal and will rent 2 rooms of barn; 2 acres cranberries; 125 apple trees and plenty of shed room; 125 selected apple trees just coming into production. Will have farmed here for 1927. PROPERTY, Pleasant St., Norfolk, Mass., tel. 43-2 Norfolk.

EQUIPPED FARMS—Business chances; call or write for free list. Frank Gibb, 503 Boston Bldg., Boston, Mass.

GOOD LOCATIONS—Best locations, carriage, saddle, stb., tools George, 23 Hayward Place, next to Symphony. Tel. Back Bay 2000.

NEAR Boston—Attractive 8-room house, 2 acres, potato farm, stock, tools, $13,500. E. H. Hackett, 311 Washington st., Newton. Tel. Bigelow 0800.

Shore and Mountain for Sale 81

HYANNIS

12-room sun es.4-car garage, 14,000 ft. of land on Main St. Price $12,000. Will exchange for farm. James F Morris, 25 Main St., Hyannis, Mass.

FAIR cost; camp lots on beautiful lake $50 up; tel; easy terms Box H-184 Boston Post.

Suburban for Sale 82

WAKEFIELD

Attractive 8-room house all latest improvements, only 8 years old, fireplace, all hardwood floors, fine condition, price $17,000. This paper H-817.

DORCHESTER—Parkway Terrace, off Talbot ave., 7 rms and attic and sewer rooms, new 2 family house; owner will sell at a sacrifice; easy terms. W. H. Hardy, 716 Adams st. Tel. Dor. 0700.

DORCHESTER—5-fam. house for sale, at good income; price $9,000; terms. Apply Tel morn: H.7,300 6th; 2nd morng $6,000 Tel Hay. 1225, Boston Post.

DORCHESTER—8-rm single house, all improvements, garage, fine condition, $8,500.

DORCHESTER BARGAIN—39 Somersy St., Somerset, 14 rms, 3 baths, steam heat.

BYDE PARK BARGAIN—Single bungalow, 5 rms and lmps; owner leaves city. $4,500.

LEXINGTON—Single 8 rms., all imnts, 10,000 ft. land, 2-car garage; owner $9,000. Tel. Lexington 0782-M.

MEDFORD BARGAIN—$500 down, single, 6 rms., all improvements, 2-car garage; owner leads to everything. Revere 2519-W.

MEDFORD HILLSIDE—$500 down, balance as rent, takes 7½ brand new 5-room single house, all improvements, 2-car garage; owner rare, terms. Tel. owner, Mys. 3078.

SOMERVILLE—7 rms., bath, elec. wiring, hot water heat, 2 fireplaces, $8,500. 5 Park st., Somerville.

SOUTH SWANSEA—5-room house, imnts, garage, all small outbuildings, 1 acre of land. Reeves Money, Fall River 451-R.

Suburban for Rent 83

SPECIAL HOME VALUES—Wilmington, 9 room house with large lot, $5,200; 6 room house with large lot, all imnts, and garage $5,800; 6-room house and garage, $5,000 with large lot; owner leaving city, prefers to see those interested in person. Call 1 to 5 P.M. at 17 LINCOLN ST., WOBURN.

Woburn, Winchester, Stoneham

WOBURN—6 rm. single, all imnts, $6,000.

WAKEFIELD—Single, 6 rms., all imnts, $6,000.

WATERTOWN—$7,500 buys new 7-rm. single, all imnts, garage, fine location. Owner, 1055 W. Main st.

WATERTOWN—7-fam. house, all modern imps, 2 car garage, fine condition, $9,500 for quick sale. Inspected. N. N. 2631-M after 5 eves.

WEST ROXBURY—Desirable 1st Tas100, steel beams, 2 stores, 3 tenements, 6 rms. each. Reasonable. Hyde 2000.

WINTER HILL—Single, 6 rms., all imnts, garage, $5,700; terms. Asn. 4100.

WINTHROP—Sargent, good 7-room house for income, imnts., rent $40.50; price $5,500. Small cash. 25 Emmett Ave. Revere 1545-M.

WINTHROP—Sargent, 6-rm. sq. hse., all imnts., rent $35; price $5,500. Revere 1545-M.

WINTHROP—Sargent, 6-rm. sq. hse., all imnts., rent $35; price $5,500. Revere 1545-M.

WOBURN—Attractive 6-room single house, all imnts; cash $5,500. Call 1 to 5 P.M. at 17 LINCOLN ST., WOBURN.

WOBURN—Single, 6 rms., all imnts, garage, $6,000. Call 1 to 5 P.M. at 17 LINCOLN ST., WOBURN.

WOBURN—7-rm. house, all imnts, garage, $6,500

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON ~~EVENING~~ AMERICAN BOSTON APRIL 5, 1927

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the apportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the ering Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy, among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

May Be Queen Some Day

This Baby Is in Line to Inherit the British Throne

HER ROYAL HIGHNESS ELIZABETH, THIRD FROM THE BRITISH THRONE.

This royal baby may occupy the throne of Great Britain and be the head of the British Empire, sitting where her grandfather, King George, sits now, and where her great-great-grandmother, Queen Victoria, sat not long ago.

The throne is inherited in a straight line. If the Prince of Wales, oldest son, should die without children, this baby's father, the Duke of York, would be the next in line for the British throne, and she, the Duke's daughter, would come after.

She is a nice little baby, pleasant face and a pleasant place in life thus far.

Her chubby little hands need never do any hard work. And her cunning little feet may go where they please, within reasonable limits.

But no one would wish for her the duties, however formal, that fall upon the heir to the greatest remaining throne.

Nobody would want this charming little baby to run all the risks that may go with throne ownership in years to come.

This picture reminds you, in an interesting way, of the part that chance has played in the fate of nations. Once the character of a child like this, for good or evil, might have influenced, as a blessing or a curse, all the millions of Great Britain.

Once the fate of millions might have depended upon the particular man that happened to get control of this child's affections when grown up, using that control to govern in her name.

All that has gone by, so far as ENGLAND is concerned. The King "reigns," but does not govern. He is a puppet, obeying orders of those chosen to run the British government. And he earns his pay, which is considerable, in the opinion of the British.

They think it easier to have a royal family, useful, obedient, harmless figureheads, under whom parliamentary government can operate, without the disturbance of an election every four years.

They think they are right, we think we are right.

History will tell the story.

You can imagine that it must interest the mother of this little girl, the charming and earnest Duchess of York, when she thinks of the destiny that may await her child and the children of that child.

Also it must be interesting to the baby's other grandmother, the Countess of Strathmore and Kinghorne. Her "important" grandmother of course is Queen Mary of Great Britain.

The full name of this small baby is Elizabeth Alexandra Mary, her title is Royal Highness. If she ever ascends the throne she will be called "Your Majesty" and will be called Elizabeth Second of England. She will have to go rapidly to keep up with her predecessor, Elizabeth with the red hair, of the time of Raleigh, Drake, and Ivan the Terrible.

Ivan wanted to marry Elizabeth herself, and failing that one of her relatives. He didn't succeed. That Elizabeth never married anybody, but is supposed to have had attachment for several.

This little modern Princess of course will escape all those complications.

Just Lubrication

That's All

Count Salm, from foreign lands, came with his tennis racquet, and white flannel trousers, and married a young woman whose father has millions.

She had a baby, but became dissatisfied with Count Salm. He was inclined to free the young lady, but his honor must be protected. This, it is said, has been fully arranged, including payment of some hundreds of thousands of dollars. The cables told yesterday that Count Salm had filed suit in Paris asking for a legal separation. The Countess filed a counter suit demanding a divorce. She will probably keep her baby, and lose her count.

All perfectly satisfactory. The little people will wonder just how big people go about it to arrange things so quietly and smoothly.

It is, as with other machinery, all a matter of lubrication.

The Right of Way

Traffic Regulations in China

By T. E. Powers

MUST MAKE GOOD IN VAUDEVILLE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

PREACHERS, lecturers, grand opera singers and high-brow readers, it is supposed, do not go before vaudeville audiences because that audience is composed of groundlings. They are not choice enough to appreciate the elegant product of the favored few.

In the minds of some people nothing can be popular unless it is cheap, vulgar and flimsy.

I sometimes wonder what these people think about Jesus, of whom it was said that the common people heard Him gladly, while the scribes and the Pharisees rejected him.

Shakespeare is also under suspicion because he has so many readers.

This sort of argument of course is pure snobbery.

It is proved in the case of the vaudeville.

The average preacher or lecturer does not appear in the ten-twenty-thirty houses for the simple reason that they don't want him. He could not stay there.

With the vaudeville audience you have to make good. No credentials go. You may be the President of the United States or the King of England or foreman of the Grand Jury at the day of judgment. Just the same if your stuff is not interesting, out you go.

The vaudeville audience represents the quintessence of the common people. It is about the keenest, shrewdest and most honest congregation of folk there is.

The reason they will not listen to preaching is not because they do not like preaching, but because the preaching is not good enough.

They do like preaching. They are as much interested in moral problems as the next man, but they will not be bored.

So the tiresome lecturer on art or music or higher criticism must seek another audience. These people will not have him, unless he can condense what he has to say into a talk of fifteen minutes and make it snappy.

Many a man holds a high place in the Senate or on the bench or in the pulpit who could not maintain a place at all before a vaudeville audience.

If I am ever asked to appear in vaudeville, which I do not expect, I shall consider it the greatest compliment of my life.

(Copyright, 1927, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

SOMETIMES a lonely wanderer comes in to browse among the narrow, crowded shelves, and there, secure from all the city's din, into the world of fantasy he delves. Ah far into the lovely world of dreams, he treads green meadows under turquoise skies, sails seas whose waves with emerald splendor gleam, or views strange lands where fabled cities rise! Within the quiet room the hours pass unnoted as a falling Autumn leaf, unnoted, too, the woes that harass man's days, for here oblivion grants relief. Sometimes a lonely wanderer finds here a harbor from life's ever-restless sea; re-reads old tales, from childhood's hours dear, and gains sweet peace from happy memories. Caught in the thrall of fancy's bliss and pain, the page aglow with deathless loves and hates, the wanderer finds rest and home again with all the joys that lies within its gates.

BOSTON DAY BY DAY

BUSY.

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK S. WHITWELL are returning to Boston after a year abroad. Mrs. Whitwell was recently decorated by the French government for her work for French charities during and after the World War. Before her marriage she was prominent in the affairs of the VINCENT CLUB. She is one of the most energetic members of the CHILTON CLUB.

* * *

UNION.

Wouldn't it be nice if the Boston & Maine railroad, and the New Haven system had a union station in BOSTON? The funny part of that story is that they have. It is the PARK SQUARE bus terminal, opposite the STATLER. The mahogany colored New England Transportation Company buses of the New Haven, and the yellow and pea green buses of the B. & M. fraternize in the street there.

* * *

NOVEL.

JOHN ORTH, Boston's replica of Lissi, has a unique method of aiding his pet charities. He accepts engagements to play piano programs before clubs and organizations, stipulating that the fee be turned over to a certain charity. At the same time, Mr. Orth makes out his own check for a like amount in favor of the charity. Thus the worthy cause benefits doubly.

* * *

SPEED.

TRIPOLI is perhaps the only city in the world that retains horse cars in its streets, says ALBERT A. SCOTT of Boston and Fitchburg. The car wheels and tracks are of wood. The animals are driven at breakneck speed. The horses last about six months. The tramcar managers remain unspoiled and of true oriental flavor, due to the fact that the city is off the usual traffic lanes.

* * *

CLIMATE.

WILLARD ROGERS of the Bond Hotels, Hartford, prefers New England's climate, Winter and Summer, to Florida's, Winter OR Summer.

"I was down there last Summer," he tells. "I saw a dog chasing a cat, and both of them were walking.

"I tried to find out how hot it really was. Went into ten drug stores and couldn't buy a thermometer. In the eleventh, I was told they were not allowed to sell them."

What Do You Know?

BOSTON'S ORIGINAL KNOWLEDGE TEST

TRAIN yourself in giving quick and exact responses by timing your answers to these questions.

Fill each blank:

1. If you stand facing north, and turn right-face, you will then face ——.
2. Cement is made by heating together a mixture of limestone and ——.
3. Sunlight can be broken up into the spectrum by means of a ——.
4. The normal temperature of the human body is about —— degrees.
5. Roman numerals XVIII equal ——.

Which is:

6. Fish.
7. Herb.
8. Grain.
9. Dish of the Chinese.
10. Flower that grows from a bulb.
11. Something that follows.

(Rye—sequel—lobster—lily—parsley—chop suey.)

Where is:

12. Aberdeen.
13. Baltimore.
14. Mt. Mitchell.
15. Cairo.
16. Dalles.

See tomorrow's paper to verify your results.

Answers to yesterday's test:

1, orbit; 2, civil; 3, arteries; 4, from; 5, ride; 6, true; 7, false; 8, false; 9, Mediterranean Sea; 10, France; 11, Tennessee; 12, hotel; 13, veneration; 14, assemble; 15, ally; 16, triumphant.

Copyright, 1927, Boston American and King Features Syndicate, Inc.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

"IT isn't the work I mind," complains Elaine. "It's the unfairness in office life. The way the other workers try to impose on you and make you do their work. The suspicion and jealousy—always having to watch your step because someone is trying to get something on you—that's what I fear."

Elaine has a good position and she has won it fairly. She now superintends the work of six other girls in a large insurance office. She likes the responsibility and added work and she's making good. And yet—she's miserable. The girls who used to work with her are jealous of her. The other women supervisors try to get ahead of her. There are little cliques and feuds—schemings and tattlings.

"I hate it all," cried Elaine. "All I ask is a chance to do my work as well as possible. But instead I have to be on my guard half the time or other people will take advantage of me, or get ahead of me in some underhand way. It just makes me sick. Don't you think it is terribly unfair, Elsie?"

Loudly Indignant.

No, I don't, my dear.

I did once. When I first tackled this difficult game of life, I thought, as you do, that I should be allowed to work out my destiny without interferences or envious competition. And when the interference and competition started I was extremely wroth.

And, like you, I made loud indignant speeches against our fiendish social order which didn't allow an honest, hard working human to do his job in peace.

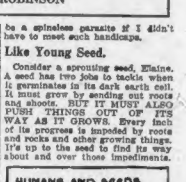
But I have changed my mind, Elaine.

I no longer consider myself abused because I have to watch my step. Nor do I feel that other workers should be boiled in oil or shot at sunrise because they envy me or try to upset my wheelbarrow.

Once I called such practices "rotten business methods." I now realize that they're simply part of the strenuous and necessary program of life, and that I'd probably be a spineless parasite if I didn't have to meet such handicaps.

Like Young Seed.

Consider a sprouting seed, Elaine. A seed has two jobs to tackle when it germinates in its dark earth cell. It must grow by sending out roots and shoots. BUT IT MUST ALSO PUSH THINGS OUT OF ITS WAY AS IT GROWS. Every inch of its progress is impeded by roots and rocks and other growing things. It's up to the seed to find its way about and over those impediments.



There's no unfairness in that—no sinister malice. It's simply part of the natural job of being a seed.

Life makes the same rule for the sprouting seed and the sprouting human, my dear. We all have two jobs to tackle—first to grow—second, to make our way against the competition of other growing things. That isn't a cruel nor an unjust law. Your spirit needs that competition as much as your body needs food. Your character needs a scrap to toughen it, as your bones need lime.

YOU WOULDN'T AMOUNT TO MUCH IN THIS WORLD OR THIS NEXT IF YOU DIDN'T HAVE TO WATCH YOUR STEP.

Copyright, 1927, King Feature Synd., Inc.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Love is a fire which the burnt child never dreads.
—La Rochefoucauld.

Health is the soul that animates all the enjoyments of life.
—Sir W. Temple.

He that will believe only what he can fully comprehend must have a very long head or a very short creed.
—Colton.

Every man's life is a plan of God.
—Bushnell.

A thing of beauty is a joy forever:
Its loveliness increases; it will never Pass into nothingness.
—Keats.

All minds quote.
—Emerson.

Malice has a keen scent for blemishes.
—Punchon.

Whatever is popular deserves attention.
—Thackeray.

Good and bad men are each less than they seem.
—Coleridge.